HOUSE RECEIVES SHARE WEALTH TAX BILL TODAY

Committee Ready to Submit Plan.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Congress is going to devote the dog days to legislation for the redistribution of wealth.

The New Dealers, Huey Long and his followers, young Bob La Follette and his followers, and the left wing Democrats and the left wing Republicans generally, are furiously figuring with stub pencils the amount of wealth there is to divide up, which is uncertain; how to divide it up, which is difficult; and how to keep it divided up, which is baffling.

President Roosevelt's share the wealth project is to emerge tomorrow from the house ways and means committee as a tax bill embodying an 87 per cent confiscation of large fortunes and increased levies on the rich which would produce from 200 to 250 millions of additional revenue annually, about $2 apiece for every man, woman, and child.

Only They Won't Get It.

Not that they would ever get it, except most indirectly, for the levy on the rich would go to Uncle Sam, and even for him it would be but a drop in the bucket of his treasury deficit, which was 3½ billion dollars last year and promises to be 4½ billions this year.

Senator La Follette regards Mr. Roosevelt the veriest piker when it comes to dividing up the wealth. When the bill reaches the senate Mr. La Follette intends to propose tax rates that would bring in at least 500 millions additional revenue, about $4 apiece per capita.

Then will rise up a real honest to goodness leveler, Senator Long, to offer his proposed "capital levy" tax designed to confiscate wealth with a vengeance and divide it up in such manner that every family would have a $5,000 home. The Louisiana kingfish says he could do the whole job inside of two months.

He'd Keep On Dividing.

How long the wealth would stay divided up is a question that will demand the summoning of the utmost mental power of which the statesmen are capable in Washington's dog days. Some one is always popping up and asking the levelers how long it would be after dividing up the wealth before it would all be back in the hands of persons of superior shrewdness. Huey Long has the answer to that. Divide up the wealth once every generation, says he, citing biblical authority therefor.

How much wealth is there to divide up? Well, the United States is the richest country in the world. In 1929 our national wealth, according to a compilation by Robert R. Doane entitled "The Measurement of American Wealth," was 44.8 per cent of the world total. The next wealthiest country was Great Britain with 6.44 per cent. The national industrial conference board estimated that in 1928 our wealth amounted to $3,004 per capita. Next came Switzerland with $2,787 per capita.

Peak of Riches in 1920.

According to the board's estimates we were richest in 1920, when the national wealth aggregated 488 billion 700 million. In the depression the next year it slumped to 317 billion 200 million, then started climbing again until it stood at 361 billion 800 million in 1929. Then it fell off again till 1932, when it was 247 billion 300 million, right back where we had been in 1916 in point of wealth. Presumably our national wealth at present is somewhat over 250 billion.

The levelers contend that our wealth is most inequitably distributed and therefore should be redistributed. How it is now distributed, however, is a question upon which there is little information and a great deal of misinformation. If you listen to the levelers you will hear it variously stated that 2 per cent of the people own 60 per cent or that 4 per cent of the people own 87 per cent of the wealth. Challenged for their authority, the levelers say that it is a government report.

The Real Lowdown.

I have been at some pains to run down the authority and this is what I find:

In 1912 congress created the commission on industrial relations, which made its report in 1916. The commission conducted no investigation of the distribution of national wealth, but in its report it said:

ETHIOPIANS KILL 40 ITALIANS IN CLASH AT NIGHT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 28.—An encounter between Italians and Ethiopians has taken place in the far northwestern part of this country. It resulted in a defeat for an Italian detachment.

Details that have been confirmed show the Italian force penetrated into what the Ethiopian commander in the district near Walkout considered to be his country's territory. They camped on a stream. The Ethiopians diverted the water, forcing them to retire at night.

The Ethiopians attacked in the darkness. Forty Italians and twenty Ethiopians were killed before the survivors of the Italian party were picked up by motor trucks and taken away.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 28.—Thirteen thousand soldiers of Ethiopia's peasant army marched through Addis Ababa today and gave the capital its first real indication that the African empire, despite its trust in the league of nations, considers war with Italy inevitable.

Soldiers fresh from their farms and pastures in the southern mountains of Kolo are bound for Tigre province to defend the northern frontier against the Italian invasion which is expected to start when the summer rains end in mid-September. They are soldiers of the feudal militia on which the Ethiopian government depends to resist the first shock of the invasion. Not until reinforcements are urgently needed will the peasant fighters get help from the regular army.

Boys March with Old Men.

The troops, ranging in age from boys in their teens almost to men who might have fought against the Italians at Adowa 39 years ago, were clad in dirty white cotton breeches, tunics and the togas worn by all Ethiopian peasants.

They had no uniforms. Their rifles, except for a handful, compared with Italian weapons, were as primitive as the plows they had left in the mountain fields. But there were some machine guns and even a few anti-aircraft guns. Every second man had a cartridge belt, the ammunition being mostly old and damp and more decorative than useful.

The soldiers' spirits were high as they passed between lines of well uniformed troops of the imperial army and trudged through mud to salute Emperor Haile Selassie. An enormous festival and banquet, at which every man ate and drank his fill, was given by the emperor, as centuries old custom requires, and Brig. Gen. Hapte Mikael, their commander, presented his chief officers to the emperor.

Crowds Stand in Mud.

Then, in the everlasting rain, the troops marched out of Addis Ababa for the north while the crowds of Sunday strollers, or inhabitants, standing in the mud at the edge of the roads and in doorways of the well thatched mud huts, watched them pass by.

Gen. Mikael sat astride a mule caparisoned in silver and gold and carried a gold tipped spear. The men marched in groups of five at intervals of four yards, and sometimes ran at a spanking pace. All along the column men fiercely sang war songs on the theme of pouring out one's own blood and the enemy's for the defense of the country.

In the middle were the lesser commanders, carrying spears and wearing lion's mane capes. It is a tribute to the Ethiopian's quietness of movement that no one knew of the arrival of the force until today. It is expected the contingent will reach the frontier in 17 days, rapid marching. The baggage train was sent a day ahead.

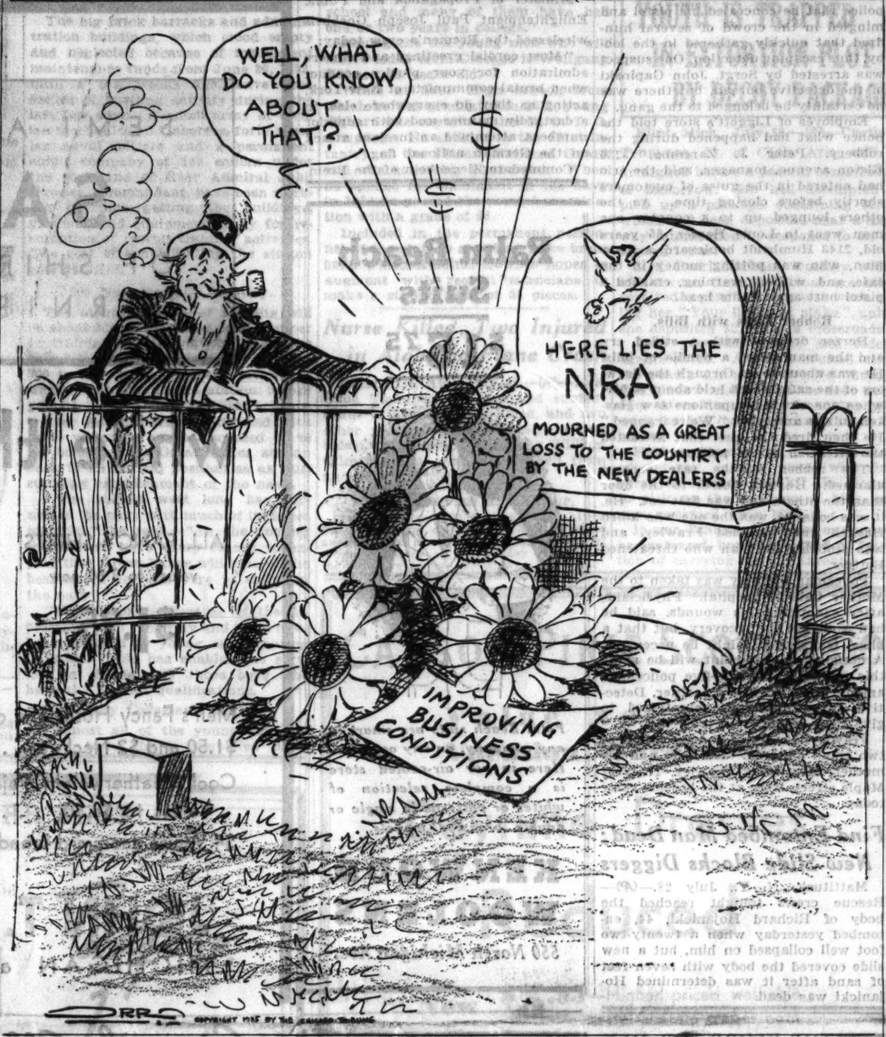

Women Urged to War Duty.

The fact that the soldiers were bound north is not so indicative that the Ethiopian government considers the Eritrea frontier the chief point of danger as it is that the Ethiopian mountaineers make poor soldiers in the steaming desert near the border of Italian Somaliland.

Another indication that war appears near was the gathering of thousands of women of the newly formed Women's League of Patriots in Addis Ababa this afternoon. The crowd, overflowing into the street, heard women speakers declare that women

Current reports of a mysterious creature swimming along the shores of Lake Michigan were authenticated yesterday by Harold Keyes, a civilian employé of the United States' engineer's office. Keyes not only saw a sea lion dozing on a float one and a half miles off Gary, but, aware of the cynicism that has met other such reports, he took a picture of the animal.

That it was a sea lion was revealed by its large size and the presence of two external ears. True seals lack external ears. The fur seal is a small relative of the sea lion, but the hairy pelt of the sea lion has no value as fur.

Consider Beaches Safe.

Bathers do not need to feel alarmed, according to authorities. The sea lion is not considered dangerous except to some one who corners the animal and is looking for a personal fight.

Whence came this particular sea lion still is a mystery. The creatures inhabit the northern Pacific ocean and are numerous on rocky islands off the west coast of the United States. Another species is found on both the coasts of South America.

No sea lions have been reported lost by the Shedd aquarium. Attendants at the Lincoln park zoo were noncommittal. It isn't likely that one walked in from the Brookfield zoo or swam the waterway course from the Atlantic. The best guesses are that in one way or another the Lake Michigan sea lion absconded from a zoo or a menagerie.

First Reported a Week Ago.

The first report of this sea lion came a week ago from Henry Gausman, 1570 Clybourn avenue, who said he saw it swimming off North avenue.

Keyes and other engineers constructing a government breakwater at Gary discovered the sea lion on a float built of 12 inch timbers used as a marker. The sea lion, Keyes said, posed willingly for the first snapshot, but snarled temperamentally at the second.

When the engineer rowed away the sea lion resumed its nap. Yesterday morning it looked up when sightseers came close, slipped into the water and swam away.

The presence of the sea lion recalled last summer's episode with a seal. That was a sick baby seal that an aquarium attendant with a kind heart had placed in the lake instead of obeying his orders to destroy it.

The "clothes line" was a "live" high tension wire.

ARICA, Chile, July 28.—We left Lima, Peru, this morning as local society in full dress rolled homeward dripping with confetti and full of patriotism after celebrating the eve of the 124th anniversary of Peruvian independence.

Every seat in the Douglas plane was filled. We stopped at Pisco, Peru, and then climbed through a dense coastal cloud ceiling to 12,000 feet, crossing 350 miles of mountains of all sizes with white peaks rising as we reached Arequipa, Peru.

Arequipa has been famed for its beauty since the day Francisco Pizarro, conqueror of Peru, first beheld it and said: "Here I rest." If he had rested he would have lived to a much riper age. An inspired author, probably observing independence day, called it a place of breathless beauty.

From our plane at Pisco we waved Burton Holmes off to Cuzco, another Peruvian town, in another plane.

We are spending the night here.

LARGEST LAND PLANE IN U. S. ON TEST FLIGHT

Seattle, Wash., July 28.—(AP)—Like a giant eagle, Boeing 229, huge bomber and largest land plane in America, swept down Boeing field here today and into the air for a successful initial test flight.

After an hour and a half in the sky Leslie R. Tower, test pilot, and his co-pilot, Louis Wait, grinning broadly, pronounced the great war weapon an unqualified success.

The 15 ton ship with a 105 foot wing span, and 70 feet long, lifted into the air with its four motors roaring ten seconds after it started.

At a reputed cost of $500,000 the Boeing Airplane company built the bomber for army use. It will be demonstrated to high officials of the air corps at Dayton, O., Aug. 22.

The plane has a total of 3,000 horse power. Five machine gun turrets, protected by a new formula unbreakable glass, jut from the aluminum body.

Dionne Quints 14 Months Old; 4,000 Help Celebrate

CALLANDER, Ont., July 28.—(AP)—Fourteen months old today, the Dionne quintuplets drew a crowd of 4,000 sightseers, more than half of them from the United States. The sisters were wheeled out onto the front porch of their specially constructed home and a nurse held them up in turn to the view of the crowd, pressed against a six foot fence. Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the quintuplets' physician, said his charges were in excellent health.

Claims Britain Plans to Build 130 Warships

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 29 [Monday].—The details of the British admiralty's famous "hush, hush" seven year naval construction program was revealed this morning by the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Herald.

The program, which already has been communicated to the American, French, German, Italian, and Japanese admiralties, provides for an expenditure over seven years of more than $750,000,000. According to the Daily Herald, the program provides 130 new warships.

Allowing for ships which become "outdated" under the Washington and London treaty rules during the seven year period, the paper says the comparative strength of the British fleet in "in date" ships between 1935 and 1942 will be as follows:

In 1935, 15 capital ships, 50 cruisers, 84 flotilla leaders and destroyers, 39 submarines, 8 aircraft carriers; in 1942, 14 capital ships, 72 cruisers, 142 flotilla leaders and destroyers, 57 submarines, and 10 aircraft carriers.

Hood Still Serviceable.

The battle cruiser H. M. S. Hood, although technically outdated in 1940, still will be serviceable in 1942.

The program, it is reported, calls for the building of 3 cruisers, 9 flotilla leaders and destroyers, and 3 submarines in 1936, with 5 capital ships, 5 cruisers, 9 destroyers, 3 submarines, and 1 aircraft carrier in 1938.

Taking the figures as an average over the whole period, this means double the present annual expenditure on new naval construction.

Fear World Naval Race.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—Declaring they were reluctant to believe reports that Great Britain plans to spend $750,000,000 on a new building program, navy officials here said tonight such a development would mean a world-wide building race.

Reminding that the Washington and London limitation treaties do not expire until Dec. 31, 1936, officials said that if construction was begun before that date it would mean the scrapping of the treaties.

Noting building plans followed the recent announcement by Commander Bolton M. Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, that Great Britain would no longer support the ratio method of determining naval strength, officials said it "might" bring an alteration in American plans to build to treaty strength by 1942.

Officials here expressed particular interest in British plans for the 12 new capital ships, which, they said, would be the largest single item in the $750,000,000 program. The only part of the program which they said they had any knowledge of was that involving seventy cruisers.

Robbers Raid Station; Routed in Gun Battle

An elevator operator was killed, a robber fatally shot, and a policeman seriously wounded late last night in a sensational pistol battle that followed a holdup of Liggett's drug store in the Chicago and North Western station. The wounded robber was captured and died early today in the Bridewell hospital. His two companions escaped with the money, about $125, they had taken from the store.

All the shooting, in which two policemen and the trio of bandits took part, occurred in the broad lobby of the station and was witnessed by dozens of passengers passing through to board late trains. These witnesses first paused in astonishment and then scurried hastily for cover as the bullets spattered against the walls or crashed through the windows of the stores around the lobby.

Policeman Shot in Head.

Daniel Haskell, 30 years old, was the man slain on the spot. The wounded policeman, who was struck in the neck and the right side of the jaw, is James H. Frawley, 39 years old, 3851 North Kedvale avenue, of the homicide squad. The slain bandit was identified as Samuel Manno, 25 years old, 824 South Marshfield avenue.

He was shot down by Policeman Franklin Smith, 38 years old, 4259 North Hamlin avenue, of the bureau of identification, after he and his companions had wounded Frawley and had separated in their effort to escape. Possessor of a long police record, Manno remained tough in the hospital. He declined the rites for the dying and refused to tell who his companions were.

Shot Warns Policemen.

Policemen Frawley and Smith, released only a short time before from their duties at the detective bureau, were in the lobby awaiting a suburban train when they heard a shot fired in the drug store, which is near the southwest corner of the lobby. This shot, supposedly was intended for Haskell, who had just stepped from an elevator beside the only one of the three store entrances that was open.

Its significance was recognized by the policemen, who were spending their waiting time playing a marble machine near the staircase at the north side of the lobby that leads to the train shed.

"It's a stickup," said Frawley to Smith. "You take the Clinton street entrance. I'll keep them from getting out on the Madison street side."

Elevator Operator Slain.

As Smith hurried over to take his place Frawley moved toward the drug store door. At this moment the robbers pushed through the store door. Haskell, who had stood rooted with astonishment and fear when he was fired on first, was directly in their path still. Two bullets were poured into his body and he fell.

Frawley promptly began shooting and the three bandits turned their guns against him. One bullet struck him and the others plunked into a post behind him. As he dropped, the gunmen ran in different directions. Manno, pistol in hand, darted toward the Clinton street entrance. He fired at Smith, but the policeman was the better shot and his bullets struck the bandit twice

EVELYN TO FACE SWAMP MURDER ACCUSER TODAY

Authorities here last night expected that Mrs. Evelyn Smith, alleged slayer of Ervin J. Lang, 28 year old grocery clerk, whose legless body was found in a swamp near Hammond on July 9, would be returned to Chicago this afternoon or tonight to confront her accuser, Mrs. Blanche Dunkel.

The meeting of the two women—erstwhile friends—each accusing the other, is expected to provide a scene packed with drama and bring to a climax the investigation of the murder which has been under way for more than two weeks.

Lieut. Otto Erianson, head of the homicide bureau, and Roy Arnold of the state's attorney's office, who flew to New York after the arrest of Mrs. Smith Saturday night, said last night that they expected to return to Chicago with her by plane today, leaving either at noon or at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Technicality Delays Return.

The Chicago officers had expected to bring her back by air last night, but a technicality in New York law made it necessary that Mrs. Smith make a formal appearance in court on a fugitive warant today.

However, it was considered certain the former burlesque dancer will reiterate her willingness to sign an extradition waiver after today's hearing, and she will immediately be turned over to Lieut Erianson and Arnold, placed in a plane, and brought back here to face Mrs. Dunkel.

American Airline officials here said last night that the Chicago officers had made reservations in Newark to take a Chicago bound plane—to arrive either at 4:15 p. m. or 10:20 p. m.

Mrs. Smith, seized in a Manhattan rooming house on information disclosed by an unnamed informant, has been positively identified as the fugitive woman in the "swamp murder case." She has admitted her identity, but denies any knowledge of the murder, in turn accusing Mrs. Dunkel.

Anxious to Face Accuser.

She told New York police that she "welcomes the opportunity" to return and clear her name, and said that until her arrest she did not know that Lang had been murdered. She endeavored to provide an alibi for her Chinese husband, Harry Jung, accused of having helped her dispose of Lang's body, saying that she had not seen Jung "for several years." Jung, who has not been found, and Mrs. Smith were hunted in a score of cities where police raided Chinese districts in the hope of finding their trail.

As the preparations were being made in New York to bring back Mrs. Smith, Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who is in charge of the murder investigation, spent the day here setting the stage, so to speak, for the accused woman's arrival and her dramatic meeting with Mrs. Dunkel. He requestioned Mrs. Dunkel, mother-in-law of the slain man, who confessed complicity in the crime and said she paid Mrs. Smith $100 of an agreed price of $500 to murder Lang. The slain clerk, husband of Mrs. Dunkel's daughter, Mallie, now dead, lived with her at 1212 Waveland avenue.

Shifts Blame to Mrs. Dunkel.

In New York, meantime, Mrs. Smith was seeking to throw the full blame on Mrs. Dunkel and adding that she believed Mallie Lang, who died last December, was poisoned.

"Mrs. Dunkel did not change her story one bit," Mr. Dougherty said last night after he had completed his questioning. "She insists that she agreed to pay Mrs. Smith $500 for the murder, and that Mrs. Smith told her Ervin was killed in her apartment at 731 Barry avenue early in the morning of July 6. Mrs. Dunkel insists that her daughter, Mallie, died from some form of heart disease."

Coroner Frank J. Walsh, who said he would open the inquest into Lang's death as soon as Mrs. Smith arrives here from New York, announced also that he would investigate the death of Mallie Lang and would seek a court order to have the body exhumed if any corroboration of Mrs. Smith's statement is found.

Jealousy Motivates Murder.

Mrs. Dunkel, who is 43 years old and a grandmother, has admitted being in love with her son-in-law after—but not before—the death of her daughter. This love turned to hatred, she said, and she arranged for the murder of Lang because of his approaching marriage to Miss Josephine McKinley. When first arrested and before her complete confession was made, she went as far as to intimate that she believed Lang had killed her daughter because he was in love with Miss McKinley, 21 years old, 1333 Roscoe street.

Mrs. Dunkel now denies having expressed any such belief, according to Prosecutor Dougherty, and says she resented Lang's desire and intention to remarry so soon after the death of his wife.

Mr. Dougherty is anxious to have Mrs. Dunkel and Mrs. Smith confront each other. As matters stand now the authorities have only Mrs. Dunkel's statement to incriminate Mrs. Smith—although Mrs. Smith's flight might be considered as strong evidence against her. If Mrs. Smith maintains her denials, on what evidence so far is available, the state could not even present legal proof of where the murder was committed, it was explained, as there is no real evidence indicating whether the murder was committed in Illinois or Indiana.

The trunk, containing Lang's legs, found near Munster, Ind., eight miles from the Hammond swamp, is considered an important bit of evidence, but so far ownership of the trunk has not been traced to Mrs. Smith, according to the authorities. Mrs. Dunkel, who was taken to the county morgue to view it, said she had not seen it in the apartment where, according to her confession, the murder occurred.

Mrs. Dunkel's Murder Story.

Mrs. Dunkel said she lured Lang to Mrs. Smith's apartment, where he was given three or four drinks of whisky, after which he fell asleep. She then left the apartment, and is reported to have said she afterward went to the laundry owned by Jung, who sometimes used the name of Jung Moy Gee, and told him his wife was sick and wanted him to go to her immediately. Next day, according to Mrs. Dunkel, she met Mrs. Smith, who told her "the job was done," whereupon Mrs. Dunkel paid Mrs. Smith $100.

Mrs. Dunkel has been a voluntary prisoner since her arrest July 11. Her sister sought a writ of habeas corpus to force the state's attorney to file a charge against her or to release her, but Mrs. Dunkel told the court she wished to stay in the state's attorney's custody.

Her statement was that she last saw Mrs. Smith on July 10, the day Mrs. Dunkel had her tonsils removed in the Passavant hospital, where she was employed. She said Mrs. Smith visited her in the hospital that day. This statement conflicts with Mrs. Smith's statement in New York as to the day she left Chicago.

By getting the two women together and matching their stories Mr. Dougherty hopes to be able to break down any alibi or defense Mrs. Smith might offer, or cause Mrs. Dunkel to change her story. The delay in getting Mrs. Smith out of New York, he understood, was occasioned partly by efforts of the police there to locate the missing Chinese.

Continue Hunt for Jung.

Mrs. Smith told New York police Jung was her foster-brother. When she fled from Chicago she left behind a trunk in which police found a marriage certificate issued in Crown Point in 1932. It certified that Evelyn Smith and Jung Moy Gee had been married there. To New York police Mrs. Smith declared she had not seen Jung for "a long time" and this she interpreted as meaning "several years." They believed, however, that Jung would be found close to the rooming house where she was arrested.

Mrs. Smith called herself Pearl Johnson when arrested. She is described as appearing to be younger than the 46 years she admits—tall, slim, with "muddy" blonde hair and dark eyes, shaded by the silver-rimmed glasses she wears.

GIVE FREEDOM TO CHURCH, GERMAN CATHOLICS PRAY

Plea to Be Offered After All Services.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 28.—A special prayer "for the restoration of the freedom of the Roman Catholic church" henceforth will be offered after all services, it was announced from the pulpits of Catholic churches throughout Germany today.

The announcement pointed out:

"The church went through eras of persecution in the past. It is undergoing hardships now. The faithful must pray for the return of the freedom of the church."

The prayer was then offered for the first time.

Catholics at Munich disown any knowledge of communist circulars which the Munich police reported they had seized. The police state the circulars show that communists are offering to coöperate with the Catholics.

Aim Decrees at Jews.

Declaring "Jews are mainly responsible for the misfortunes of the fatherland and the greatness of our leader Hitler," the town council at Breunigweiler in the lower Palatinate, announced drastic anti-Jewish decrees.

In the future no Jew may reside in Breunigweiler or purchase a house or land there. No artisan, merchant, farmer, or other German may receive an official contract or work or be supplied with public services who maintains any contact with a Jew which in any way aids Jewish trade.

The decree concludes with the usual pronouncement:

"A purchase from Jews means treason to the people and the country."

Several Jews and Aryan girls were taken into protective arrest for racial defilement, police announced. A former Jewish doctor, Arthur Fels, was placed in the Dachau concentration camp. Police allege that Fels disgraced 150 Aryan girls.

A total of 1,023 men and women have been sterilized in Nuremberg since the enforcement of the law for abolition of hereditary diseases at the beginning of last year, it was revealed.

Priest Is Jailed.

BERLIN, July 28.—(AP)—The jailing and suppression of Jews and Catholics continued throughout the reich today.

At Hanau a village priest was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment for having "abused his pulpit" by making adverse observations on the Nazi régime, notably by comparing its actions to religious persecution in Russia.

At Nuremberg the newspaper Stuermer, directed by the notorious Jew-baiter, Julius Streicher, launched a violent attack on Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria for his alleged passive resistance to the Nazi régime. Rupprecht is charged with flying on occasion the old blue and white Bavarian colors from his palace and otherwise showing "complete indifference" to the present government. He advised the prince to "accustom himself to the third Reich" without much delay.

At Bad Harzburg Karl Mueller, member of a Bible research sect, was sent to jail for a trimester (about three months), another man for one month, and a third was fined. The accused admitted their belief that the present order of things would in time pass away and the kingdom of God would then be established. The court held this constituted a slight of the National Socialist state.

2 SLAIN, 1 SHOT IN ROBBER RAID ON N. W. STATION

Employe, Bandit Dead, Policeman Wounded.

in the abdomen. Manno plunged forward on his face directly in the entrance.

Two Bandits Escape.

Another of the bandits ran past the stricken Frawley and up the stairs to the train shed. On the way he threatened Otto Bottger, a railroad telegrapher from Crystal Falls, Mich., with his gun. Then he ran out on the platform and disappeared among the cars standing on the tracks.

What became of the third bandit was not learned. It was believed by the police that he concealed his pistol and mingled in the crowd of several hundred that quickly gathered in the lobby, thus escaping detection. One suspect was arrested by Sergt. John Gapinski of the detective bureau, but there was no certainty he belonged to the gang.

Employés of Liggett's store told the police what had happened during the robbery. Peter J. Zaremba, 3236 Elston avenue, manager, said the trio had entered in the guise of customers shortly before closing time. As the others lounged up to a counter one man went to Louis Herzer, 65 years old, 2143 Humboldt boulevard, a floorman, who was putting money in the safe, and, without warning, crashed a pistol butt against his head.

Robber Flees with Bills.

Herzer dropped with a stifled cry and the man seized a bundle of bills. He was about to go through the drawers of the safe, which held about $3,000, when one of his companions saw Haskell outside and cried: "We're trapped." He then fired the shot that attracted the attention of the policemen.

The robber at the safe became alarmed. He was nearer to the door than the others and was first out. He, it was believed, was the one who killed Haskell and wounded Frawley, and was probably the man who threatened Bottger.

Policeman Frawley was taken to the Mother Cabrini hospital. Physicians, after examining his wounds, said he had a chance for recovery, but that a blood transfusion might be necessary. A decision on this point will be made this morning. Twenty-five policemen, among them Frawley's partner, Detective James Sullivan, volunteered to give their blood.

Frawley is married and the father of two small children. His wife and his mother, Mrs. Mary Frawley, 17 West Maple street, were at the bedside early today.

Find Entombed Man Dead; New Slide Blocks Diggers

Mattituck, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—Rescue crews tonight reached the body of Richard Hojanicki, 44, entombed yesterday when a twenty-two foot well collapsed on him, but a new slide covered the body with seven feet of sand after it was determined Hojanicki was dead.

RIOT ON LINER LAID TO MOSCOW BY ANGRY NAZIS

BERLIN, July 28.—(AP)—The reich press, commenting wrathfully today on the ripping of the Nazi flag from the German liner Bremen in New York Friday, attributed the outbreak to the pronouncements of the present communists' council in Moscow.

Minister of Propaganda and Public Enlightenment Paul Joseph Goebbels wirelessed the Bremen's crew today:

"Most cordial greetings and sincere admiration for your plucky conduct when brutal communists of New York, acting as they do everywhere else, in a dastardly manner and with superior numbers, attempted an insolent attack on the German national flag."

Commodore Ziegenbein of the Bremen replied with thanks, affirming "our unanimous determination to observe our duty to protect the flag anywhere, at any time."

Editorials Bitter.

While due notice was taken of the report from Washington, D. C., that the United States government has expressed regret over the incident through Assistant Secretary of State Wilbur J. Carr, the editorials are still filled with resentment over what they consider an affront to the German flag.

Kreuz Zeitung characterized the Bremen incident as "the first fruits of the seventh communist internationale.

Antikomintern, the association of German anti-bolshevist societies' manifesto, says, "Germany is the only hope of the civilized world. Bolshevism considers that it holds the key position and that once Germany is conquered victory for bolshevism is certain."

Plan New Demonstrations.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Further demonstrations against German boats were planned today by an organization calling itself the Anti-Nazi federation.

The organization announced that a meeting had been called of "378 affiliated organizations" for Monday night to lay plans to "prevent the flying of the swastika" and "to cause the boycott of Nazi ships."

Nine persons are under arrest as the result of Friday night's disorders at the Bremen's pier. Two are in hospitals, one with a bullet wound.

The new demonstrations, said a statement from the federation will "serve to highlight the fact that prominent American citizens are patronizing the Nazi shipping lines despite the violation of the rights of American citizens in Germany and the outrageous attack upon their religious brethren."

"Mr. K." Identified.

The mysterious "Mr. K." whose rejected application for a masseur's license here evoked protests in Germany, today was revealed as Paul Kleas, an alien who had his first United States citizen's papers and had applied for his second.

His address and other personal details remained undisclosed, but he stated his case in a letter to the New York Staats-Zeitung und Herold, a German language newspaper here. Victor F. Ridder, publisher of the paper, said he will call on Mayor La Guardia tomorrow to plead for a reversal of the ruling.

The mayor recently upheld his license commissioner, Paul Moss, in refusing to grant a masseur's license to the applicant, overruling the corporation counsel who cited a 1925 reciprocal treaty between the United States and Germany. The mayor said it was "well known" that American citizens had been discriminated against in Germany.

Labor Chief Hits Nazis.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called on the federal government tonight to take "appropriate action" against the Hitler government in Germany to stop "brutal, inhuman treatment" of the laboring class.

"In behalf of the American Federation of Labor," Mr. Green said in a statement, "I repeat its official protest against the most recent action of the Hitler government."

PASSES A STOP: HELD TO JURY TO TEST NEW LAW

Autoist Signs $1,000 Bond in Des Plaines.

BY HAL FOUST.

In a case to test the new Illinois traffic code, Justice of the Peace Albert Sengstock of Des Plaines held Otto A. Peterson, 43 years old, 3310 Wilson avenue, to the grand jury yesterday in a $1,000 personal recognizance bond. Peterson was charged with having failed to pause for a stop sign at Greenwood avenue and the Evanston-Elgin highway.

The arrest, ordered by Chief Herbert Burns of the county highway police, was the first to be made in the metropolitan area under the traffic code that became effective with Gov. Horner's signature on July 9. The Chicago police still are operating under traffic laws that were repealed on July 9. The state highway police have orders not to make arrests but to direct offenders to appear at the state's attorney's office.

Just a Little Delay Possible.

Mr. Peterson, when stopped by Chief Burn's car, didn't appreciate that he was victim No. 1 of a judicial procedure complicated by a hasty general assembly in passing the new traffic code as drafted by the Horner administration.

"I guess I was just too lazy to shift gears," he said. "Let's go before a judge and dispose of the case so I won't lose any time from my office."

Judge Sengstock left a chicken dinner at his home and convened court in the Morton Grove station. Policemen Arthur Sherwin and William Kreutz testified as to the offense.

"Under the law," the justice told the defendant, "I can't assess a fine and dispose of the case. Because the new code provides an alternative penalty of a jail sentence for these misdemeanors, my only jurisdiction is that of an examining magistrate. I am forced to hold you to the grand jury."

Rather Unpopular Procedure.

"I don't like to be treated like a criminal," Mr. Peterson protested.

"Frankly, I, too, disapprove of the new procedure," the justice replied. "But unless the statute is amended by the legislature or held invalid by a higher court it is the law. Because I'd like to see this code vigorously contested, with your permission I'll appoint Joseph Braun as your attorney."

Joseph H. Braun is general counsel for the Chicago Motor club.

Chief Burns ordered his patrolmen to avoid any more arrests, except in aggravated offenses, until State's Attorney Courtney can decide on a procedure that will not flood the grand jury and the Criminal courts with so many petty traffic cases that it would block all regular business.

Chicago police will not have to send their traffic arrests to the grand jury or to the Criminal court. The Municipal and city courts of Chicago, Evanston, and Chicago Heights have jurisdiction of cases with a jail penalty.

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 28.—Dr. German Olano, civilian chief of military aviation and former consul general in New York City, was killed with three aviation mechanics, a civilian engineer, and one other person when the plane he was piloting crashed today at El Retiro, near Neiva, capital of the state of Huila.

TRUCK CRASHES INTO POLE; TWO BURN TO DEATH

Two persons were burned to death early today when a large truck left the road 4 miles east of Elgin and a half mile west of the W-G-N radio towers on U. S. 20, crashed into an electric light pole, and was destroyed by flames. The truck, bearing the license number X—2983, was west bound. The bodies of the occupants were burned beyond recognition. State highway police and firemen from Bertlett who went to the scene said it was possible one of the dead persons was a woman.

The crash was heard by Otto Brennemann, a nearby farmer. He rushed out to the scene but by the time he arrived the truck was in flames and he could not get near it to render help to the trapped couple.

Police said that the truck as it left the road on a curve hit a pole of the Public Service company of Northern Illinois line and that the pole crashed down on the cab of the truck pinning the occupants on the inside. The truck was loaded with beverages.

Peter Barsi, 35 years old, 1243 Clybourn avenue, an undertaker, was killed and three other persons were injured last evening in a collision of two automobiles at Augusta boulevard and Cicero avenue.

Barsi and Louis Carrara, 40 years old, 2345 West Superior street, were passengers in a car driven by Carrara's wife, Emma, 34 years old. This car was overturned when it was struck by one driven by Hugh J. Cooper, 41 years old, 6748 Indiana avenue. Barsi's neck was broken and he died as he was being taken to a hospital.

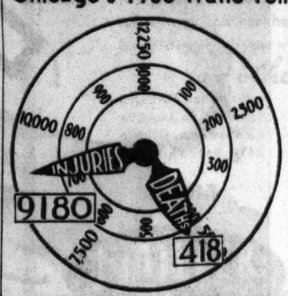

The deaths in the truck crash, that of Barsi, and one other increased the 1935 traffic toll in Cook county to 531. Until 4 p. m. yesterday 418 persons had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 9,180 persons injured. The other death:

Charles Andrejunas, 50 years old, 4936 West 14th street, Cicero. Fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Ernest Streckic, 30, of 1250 West 81st street, at Cicero avenue and 14th street, Cicero. He died a few hours later.

Mary Ann Beran, 3 years old, daughter of Joseph Beran, 3416 Elaine place, was killed in St. Joseph, Mich., yesterday when she ran into the path of an automobile. Joseph E. Miars of St. Joseph, was backing out of his driveway.

RECRUITS TACKLE NAVAL LIFE TODAY AT GREAT LAKES

Training Station Reopens After Two Years.

BY JOSEPH DUGAN.

Today, for the first time in two years, the traditional navy greeting from "old salts" to green recruits, "You'll like it!" will be heard at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. About 100 recruits, the first group assigned to the navy's reopened midwest training school, will arrive in the morning from Chicago, Indianapolis, and Louisville.

The big brick barracks and administration buildings, which stood empty and neglected because of insufficient maintenance funds from June 30, 1933, until a few weeks ago, have been scenes of bustling activity during the last few days. A small army of civilian mechanics and laborers, forty regular naval officers and a permanent ship's company of 180 sailors under the command of Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant, have been working overtime getting the buildings, grounds, and equipment ready for resumption of recruit training activities. The cost of rehabilitating the station was $394,882.

300 New Recruits Monthly.

The monthly quota of recruits will be about 300 men and the total number in training at the station, when the schedule is in full swing, will be from 900 to 1,000 men. Recruits receive 12 weeks' training at the station before going to ships or to specialized schools.

Rear Admiral Downes beamed with pride yesterday as he discussed plans for bringing the Great Lakes station back to its normal position as an outstanding establishment of the navy.

"The middle west long has furnished the navy with much of its finest material," he said. "In the coming months we have every reason to expect that Great Lakes will receive the best lot of recruits vere to enlist in the navy.

"The reason is, because of the depression, both the army and navy have been besieged by young men wanting to enlist. This has enabled the services to choose only those boys who have the highest qualifications.

Many Collegians Enlist.

"Almost all of the young men enlisting today have completed high school and many of them have had one or two years in college."

Among the ten young men who will arrive today from Chicago is Wolfgang Ekhart, 22 years old.

While at Senn High school, from which he was graduated in 1931, young Ekhart was captain of his R. O. T. C. company. He enlisted in the 131st infantry of the Illinois National Guard and was honorably discharged. When he applied for enlistment in the navy in 1934 he passed the mental examination with a grade of 96.

Included in the permanent personnel of the state is a sixteen piece brass band which Admiral Downes hopes to augment with recruit musicians to make a station band of 35 pieces.

YOUTH IS TRAPPED IN EXTORTION PLOT BY DECOY PACKAGE

Flint, Mich., July 28.—(AP)—Curtis J. Tennyson, 18, of Cash, Ark., will be arraigned before a federal commissioner tomorrow. He had attempted to pick up a package containing $2,000 which had been deposited near a highway intersection in response to an extortion letter.

Mrs. Pearl Durham, wealthy widow of a former General Motors executive, received a pencilled note last week telling her "Your life is at stake" unless she deposited $2,000 at a crossroads.

Late yesterday police and federal agents acted. A sedan cruised along the road. An arm extended through the window and dropped a neat package. More than a dozen machine guns were trained on the package from the brush.

Half an hour later, down the road, officers say, came a youth who staggered as though drunk. He stopped to pick up the package of bills, and men swarmed upon him.

It was Tennyson. Police announced he confessed, but said he had no intention of carrying out his threats.

ROOSEVELT TAX BILL HELD HOAX BY VANDENBERG

Program Termed Sterile Political Gesture.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—The administration tax bill, put forward to redistribute wealth, but raising an infinitesimal proportion of the funds needed to balance the budget was pronounced a "grim hoax" today by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.]. The senator believes it would be far better for congress to go home now and write a tax bill at the next session when the budget needs for the fiscal year are known.

"The pending tax bill, as it is being developed," said Senator Vandenberg, "will not produce appreciable revenue for Uncle Sam. Relatively speaking, it will produce only a little extra pocket change. It will not pay the President's deficit even for the period while the bill is under consideration. As a contribution to the public credit, it is as grim a hoax as was ever perpetrated on the country.

"Sterile Political Gesture."

"As a 'distributor of wealth' it is a mere vagrant flirtation with this left wing idea. It is a sterile political gesture which warants neither the pretense with which it is clothed nor the extension of this congressional session which most citizens pray shall suspend promptly.

"Under any circumstances and at any time, a tax bill unrelated to budget legislation is bad legislation and wasted resources. Taxes should be assessed not only in proportion to the ability to pay, but also in proportion to the bills to be paid. Our bills for the next fiscal year should be courageously reduced to the minimum permitted by our unavoidable necessities. Then our taxes should, if possible, balance this budget.

Pay Day to Be Painful.

Painful though it is going to be for all of us when pay day comes and we confront the stark reality that there is no Santa Claus, we cannot indefinitly postpone the preservation of the national solvency. Therefore, there is a clear call for tax legislation in conjunction with the budget next winter.

"Since we cannot anticipate the budget, we cannot anticipate the needed tax. Therefore we cannot intelligently legislate on taxes today—and this is self-confessed when we chatter of taxes in millions to offset known deficits in billions.

"To do an inadequate and inefficient job today would invite another pretense next January that the job already has been finished."

ROOSEVELT CONTROLED BY BRITISH, TINKHAM ASSERTS; FEARS A WAR

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—A charge that the President and state department are dominated by the British foreign office was coupled today by Representative Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] with a demand for neutrality legislation.

"Both the President and the department of state, dominated and controled by the British foreign office," he said, "are opposed to legislation providing for strict neutrality of the United States in the next war, a war which is already beginning to loom on the European horizon.

"Such legislation would prevent Great Britain from using the United States as an arsenal for her war supplies, as was the case in 1914-'18, and also would tend to prevent Great Britain from again involving the United States in war for her purposes."

Promising introduction of such arms effort legislation tomorrow, Tinkham said it should be enacted "if the interests of the United States are to be given first consideration instead of the desires of the British foreign office."

NEEDY STUDENTS AND TEACHERS TO GET U. S. AID

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—Federal help for needy students and teachers was planned today by the Works Progress administration.

The twofold program includes:

1. Establishment of summer schools for 1,200 teachers who were among those who taught reading and writing to 500,000 illiterates last year.

2. Jobs to be provided for 125,000 college students during the coming school year.

Dr. L. R. Alderman, who is serving with both the relief and the youth administrations, said 25 summer schools would be conducted. The sessions will last six weeks and teachers attending will be paid from $15 to $18 a week in work relief wages. They will be trained to teach grownups this fall.

Alderman added he already had sent out field agents to aid in setting up courses at New York university, Ohio State university, Purdue university, Olivet college [Mich.], University of Wisconsin, University of Chicago, University of California. The other training schools have not been selected.

Mr. Roosevelt also allotted an additional $6,000,000 to the Fort Peck dam in Montana, $2,500,000 to the agriculture department for control of the Dutch elm disease in 14 states, $200,000 for a flood control survey by army engineers of the Willamette river valley in Oregon, $707,591 for New Jersey and $308,089 to Florida for Works Progress administration projects, and $140,000 to the navy department for administrative expenses.

HOUSE RECEIVES SHARE WEALTH TAX BILL TODAY

Committee Ends Task; Radicals Unsatisfied.

have shown that as nearly as can be estimated the distribution of wealth in the United States is as follows:

"The 'rich,' 2 per cent of the people, own 60 per cent of the wealth.

"The 'middle class,' 33 per cent of the people, own 35 per cent of the wealth.

"The 'poor,' 65 per cent of the people, own 5 per cent of the wealth."

Based on Estate Study.

Now carrying the inquiry a step farther back I find that the statistician cited as the industrial commission's authority was Dr. Williford I. King, who in 1915 published a book entitled "The Wealth and Income of the People of the United States." Dr. King's conclusions were based on studies of estates probated in Massachusetts between 1829 and 1931, between 1859 and 1861, between 1879 and 1881, and between 1889 and 1891, and in Wisconsin in 1900. The figures he gathered pertained to the wealth not of living persons but of decedents.

In 1926 the federal trade commission made a report on "National Wealth and Income" based on figures on 43,512 estates obtained from county Probate court records in a dozen states. The commission came to the conclusion that 1 per cent of the decedents owned 59 per cent of the total wealth of the estates involved.

Calls All "Estimate."

Now along comes Mr. Doane with a new survey in which he says that all these calculations are estimates and bear no actual relationship to the facts. His conclusion is that about 6 per cent of the people hold property concurrently valued at 50 billion dollars. The 7½ million persons constituting this 6 per cent embrace all of the wealthy and a substantial portion of the middle class. In this class, those receiving $5,000 annual incomes and over, are found, says Mr. Doane, "large numbers of our duly elected public officials, various trade, civic, and farm organization executives, a sprinkling of college professors, doctors, dentists, lawyers, actors, clergymen, and, last but not least, a considerable number of labor union officials."

Now if these 50 billions of property were taken away from their owners and distributed to the remaining population each person, Mr. Doane calculates, would be enriched to the extent of $1.41 in bank deposits and cash, $1.72 worth of old clothing, $4.27 worth of second hand furniture, $43.05 worth of indivisible bricks, mortar, and widely scattered real estate, and an additional block of securities to an amount equivalent to an income of five cents a day.

"Richest" Get 12 Per Cent.

According to statistics assembled by the "business bulletin" of the Cleveland Trust company, the richest 1 per cent received about 12 per cent of the national income in the period from 1916 to 1933. In 1933 the richest 1 per cent had incomes of more than $3,390, while the average of the other 99 per cent was below that figure.

"If the government in 1933" says the bulletin, "had taken the entire income of the richest 1 per cent, in excess of $3,390 per person, that additional amount taken would have paid hardly half the federal deficit of that year, and if it had distributed that excess among the remaining 99 per cent of income receivers—those below $3,390—each one of them would have had his income increased by less than $5 a month."

TOURISTS FAVOR CANADA ABOVE EUROPE NATIONS

More than Half Go Northward in Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—American tourists spent 314 million dollars abroad during 1934, an increase of 22 million dollars over the year before. The department of commerce announced that today.

Money spent by tourists was the second largest item in America's international balance of payment, the department said. Altogether, the United States spent 2 billion 511 million dollars abroad during 1934 and collected 2 billion 977 million dollars from other countries, leaving Uncle Sam 466 million dollars ahead on the year's transactions.

Except for the 1 billion 655 million dollars which Americans spent buying foreign goods, the 314 million dollars which tourists spent abroad was the largest bill this country had to pay last year.

Tourists Favor Canada.

Canada received more than half of all the money which tourists of this country spent in other nations, while Americans showed a marked tendency to stay away from Europe during 1934, according to the department. European tourist trade fell off 6 per cent, world cruises jumped 69 per cent, South American increased 32 per cent, trips to the Orient increased 21 per cent, and West Indian cruises gained 19 per cent.

A total of 3,261,848 American automobiles entered Canada last year, carrying approximately 9,000,000 tourists, the commerce department reported. An average of $72 was spent by the average carload of Americans touring Canada.

The department also estimated that American travelers spent 50 million dollars in France, 41 millions in Mexico, 20 millions in Great Britain, 13 millions in Bermuda and the British West Indies, 8½ millions in Italy, and 7 millions in Japan.

Motives for Visiting Europe.

Forty-two per cent of the Americans going abroad last year said they were going for "family affairs," and 37 per cent said they were going for travel. One per cent went in search of employment, while others went on business, in search of education or health, or to do missionary work.

Other items beside tourist expenditures which put Uncle Sam in debt to foreigners included purchase of foreign merchandise, 1 billion 655 million dollars; freight and shipping charges, 96 millions.

NEW DEAL AIDS ADD 20 MILLION TO U. S. PAY ROLL

One Out of Every Five Gets Federal Help.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—[Special.]—Approximately 22 million people are still being supported in whole or in part by the federal government despite the summer decline in relief cases, a review of the latest official figures showed today.

New Dealers continue to keep one out of every five persons in the country on the taxpayers' cash pay roll by spending money for relief, public works, conservation camps, farm benefits, and an enormous burocracy, the figures reveal. The cost of doling out money to this huge list of dependents and beneficiaries runs close to 5½ billion dollars a year, some of which comes from taxes, but most of which is borrowed for future generations to repay.

Millions Are Added.

Since 20 million of the 22 million persons now receiving federal cash have been added since the New Dealers took command, some of them feel the Roosevelt administration will be impregnable in the next election; a candidate with 23 million votes could feel pretty sure of victory.

New Deal opponents point out, however, that the continuance of the titanic list of government dependents, especially during the summer season, is ample proof that the Roosevelt Brain Trust has failed to solve the country's fundamental problems. Existing stop-gap devices, moreover, are so expensive that the most drastic income and inheritance taxes suggested by the Brain Trust could not meet a third of their cost; therefore, they cannot be continued long.

Supported by Government.

Here is the list of persons, comprising one-fifth of the population, whom the federal government is supporting this summer:

Relief	15,723,500
Citizens' conservation corps	388,000
Public works projects	291,000
Executive departments	712,112
Judicial and court employes	3,600
Senate, house, and capitol employes	3,520
Army	118,750
Navy	90,904
Farmers receiving AAA benefits	3,699,000
Veterans and dependents receiving benefits	844,002
Total	21,874,388

Besides this list of direct cash beneficiaries, there are thousands of farmers, bankers, exporters, ship operators, home owners, and business men who are mortgaged to the government through the operations of the Farm Credit administration, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Home Owners' Loan corporation, and other government credit agencies.

Out of the 21,874,388 recipients of cash all but 4,500,000 farmers and veterans may be said to be wholly dependent on the federal government for their living. This is obviously true of the CCC, the army, the navy, and the executive, judicial, and legislative employés who are paid solely with federal funds. Some relief money and a still smaller share of public works money comes from states and municipalities, but both the relief and public works systems would collapse without New Deal easy money.

Added by New Dealers.

Except for veterans, the army and navy, and the executive, judicial, and legislative employés, all the others on the list of beneficiaries, numbering more than 20 million individuals, have been added by the New Dealers. Although there was federal relief aid before the Roosevelt administration, it was not one-tenth of the present total. Even the burocracy and the army and navy have enjoyed increases for which the New Deal is responsible. Only the veterans have not enjoyed their treatment by the administration.

The New Deal has thus created a situation new in the American political system by amassing on the cash pay roll of the government more than seven-eighths of the number of persons usually necessary to win a presidential election.

Spending Mounts Apace.

Thus, cost of the various categories of dependents and beneficiaries listed above during the fiscal year which ended June 30 was:

Relief	$1,895,132,000
Citizens' conservation corps	435,509,000
Public works	1,061,142,000
Executive, judicial, legislative staffs	355,993,000
Army	212,187,000
Navy	321,411,000
Farmers receiving AAA benefits	711,955,000
Veterans' costs	555,573,000
Total	$5,548,902,000

Meanwhile the public debt is steadily mounting.

BUFFALO HERD IS CORRALLED AFTER TOURISTS AID

Game Lodge, Custer State Park, S. D., July 28.—(AP)—More than 150 wild buffalo came pounding into a high board corral today. They were brought in for the annual park roundup, and the remaining 150 are to be gathered out of a 1,500 acre pasture tomorrow.

The roundup was directed by Clyde Jones and his wife, Martella. Eight "buffalo punchers" and twenty-two tourist riders gathered today's 150 after the riders had chased them through thick underbrush. Tourist riders came back minus hats and gloves and with scratched hands and faces.

The purpose of the roundup is to sterilize the young bull calves. Buffalo steers are sometimes killed at the age of about three years. Their meat is considered a delicacy.

GEN. CALLES' SON LOSES RACE FOR STATE GOVERNOR

Power of Mexico 'Strong Man' Fades.

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—(AP)—Gen. Fortunato Zuazua won the governorship of the state of Nuevo Leon today by an estimated ten to one margin over Plutarco Elias Calles Jr., son of the former president, and observers said it meant the loss of nominal control over another state for the former "Iron Man" of Mexico. Young Calles is at present mayor of Monterey.

Some believed it was the final blow to the prestige and power which the former president wielded over Mexico for more than eight years. The election was reported quietly carried out, but in several other Mexican states political disturbances continued to hold interest.

Ousted Governor Flees.

From Villa Hermosa, state of Tabasco, where recent political rioting has cost the lives of several student demonstrators, reports reached the capital today that Manuel Lastra, ousted governor of the state, had fled in a private plane belonging to his friend, Tomas Garrido Canabal, former federal secretary of agriculture and political dictator of Tabasco.

It was rumored Lastra was fleeing to Argentina by way of Porto Rico, apparently in an effort to avoid charges of participating in the recent shooting of students at Villa Hermosa. The plane was reported last at Vera Cruz.

Gen. Saturnino Osornio, governor of Queretaro, who is facing trial on a charge of homicide in the mysterious death of a Spaniard, Enrique Rio, was reported tonight to be preparing to flee the state.

Lack Forceful Charge.

Solution of the political situation in the state of Tamaulipas, where the removal of Gov. Rafael Villarreal has been demanded by agrarians because of administrative methods, seemed more difficult today political veterans pointed out Villareal had been legally elected and formal proof that he had lost the right to hold office was lacking.

Threats of a nation-wide general strike were still heard as a result of demonstrations in the northern territory of Baja [Lower] California, where workers and peasants protested the administrative methods of Gov. Augustino Olachea.

FORMER CZARIST SENTENCED TO DIE FOR POISONING 55

Fed Bad Cheese to Farm Workers.

ROSTOV-ON-DON, U. S. S. R., July 28.—(AP)—N. Ivanoff, former member of the czar's bodyguard, was sentenced to death today for distributing poisoned cheese among the workers at the Alexandrofsky collective farm near here.

Fifty-five men and women were rushed to a Rostov hospital after breakfasting on cheese early this month. Many hovered between life and death for days. Ivonoff was manager of the collective farm's commissary, which distributed the cheese. It came from a dairy operating without a government permit.

Business Manager Gets 7 Years.

I. Varonye, business manager of the farm, who permitted Ivanoff to remain on the job, although allegedly aware the latter belonged to the czar's bodyguard of 1916, was sentenced to seven years in prison.

A ten year sentence was imposed on B. Chelenko, operator of the illegal dairy. His wife, who, although unskilled, was allowed to help in the manufacture of cheese, was ordered imprisoned for three years. The cheese was made of goats' milk.

MOSCOW, July 28.—Orders from communist internationale to the communist parties of capitalist countries, including the United States, were published here today. They were included in the report of the executive committee of communist internationale delivered by William Pieck, German delegate to the seventh congress now convening here.

The American communist party was directed to extend its influence in regular labor unions by boring from within and to take advantage of discontent among industrial workers and farmers to create a united proletarian front. It was suggested that American church property be confiscated to aid the unemployed.

Pieck said the communist party had grown in size and influence among American workers, farmers, and intelligentsia, but that it must strengthen its position in a number of trade union movements in the United States.

Sweden Permits Shipments of Arms for Ethiopians

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 28.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Richard Sandler today announced Sweden would permit shipments of war materials to Ethiopia. At the same time the government was informed its representative charged with the conclusion of a commercial treaty with the African empire has arrived in Addis Ababa, culminating negotiations started in March. The treaty assures Sweden of a most favored nation treatment.

DECISION UP TO LEAGUE

GENEVA, July 28.—(AP)—The government of Ethiopia today rejected Italy's contention that the arbitration commission on the Italo-Ethiopian dispute be restricted to discussion of frontier incidents without considering the question of border sovereignty.

A telegram received by the league of nations council from Bellatengueta Herouy, Ethiopian foreign minister, threw the whole question of the interpretation of the commission's powers into the council's hands and indicated that Ethiopia would abide by that body's judgment. The council meets Wednesday.

"The Ethiopian government denies it ever agreed to a limitation of the arbitrator's powers," the telegram said. "The Ethiopian note of July 17 stated that it rests with the council of the league of nations to decide between the respective contentions of two groups of arbitrators."

The Ethiopian conciliators declared a decision was necessary as to whether Ualual belonged to Ethiopia or to Italy. Premier Mussolini of Italy holds that the examination of this territorial question is outside of the scope of the commission. The clash of Ethiopian and Italian troops took place Dec. 5.

"Italy's Hour Has Come."

ROME, July 28.—(AP)—Italy's historic hour has come, bringing with it "life or death, now or never" for the nation, Premier Mussolini's newspaper "Popolo d'Italia" of Milan proclaimed today.

Fascist Italy, says the newspaper, "under a prodigious superhuman tension, feels its historic hour. The Italian people have but one peremptory duty and that is to obey and march on—if necessary, against everything and against every one."

The newspaper came out a few hours before Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary for foreign affairs, received Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador, to talk of the forthcoming league of nations' council meeting. After their conversations Suvich flew to Rocca Delle Carminate, where he saw Mussolini.

A government spokesman said Ethiopia's negative reply to Italy's demand on whether Ethiopia would resume the meetings of the conciliation commission was the death sentence of that commission.

The steamship Ravenna, laden with war materials, and the steamers Principessa Giovanna with 1,300 soldiers and the Urania with 300 soldiers sailed today from Naples.

Pope Speaks for Peace.

VATICAN CITY, July 28.—(AP)—The pope expressed the hope today that peace would prevail in east Africa. His reference to the Italo-Ethiopian controversy was made in the course of a pronouncement commemorating "the historic virtues" of Justin de Jacobis, apostolic vicar of Ethiopia, who died in 1860.

TAVERN SLAYING VICTIM LEFT ON HOSPITAL LAWN

With a bullet hole under the heart, the body of Jack Holbrook, 29 years old, 425 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, was found early yesterday on the lawn of the County hospital at Harrison and Wood streets. Holbrook was a circulation truck driver for the Chicago Daily Times.

Several hours later the Marquette police arrested Thomas Ketcham, 27 years old, 5562 Quincy street, an erstwhile friend of the slain man. Ketcham admitted that he had taken Holbrook to the hospital after he had been wounded in a saloon at 1136 West Grand avenue, but declared he did not know who did the shooting.

"I was there, and when he got hit I took him to the hospital," said Ketcham. "All I know is that I heard shots and saw Jack fall. He was my friend and I wouldn't hurt him. After I got to the hospital, though, he was dead, and I ran away because I was scared."

Tavern Men Implicate Ketcham.

Skeptical of this story of the shooting, the police took into custody James Allegretti, owner of the saloon, and his bartender, Louis Truppa, who is also his nephew. Their statements tended to show that Ketcham had fired the shot that caused Holbrook's death.

Truppa said that he was tending bar when he heard the report of a shot and that when he looked toward Ketcham and Holbrook he saw the latter fall to the floor. Ketcham, he averred, was holding a pistol in his hand.

According to Allegretti, Ketcham went into the saloon brandishing the weapon a considerable time before the shooting.

"I was afraid he might hurt somebody," asserted the saloonkeeper, "and I made him hand over the gun. It was unloaded and placed in a drawer behind the bar. After the shooting I looked in the drawer and found the gun was gone."

Admits Holding Pistol.

After long questioning Ketcham, who is the son of a produce merchant in the South Water street market, admitted that he was holding the pistol a little before the killing of his friend, but maintained that he had not fired it.

Holbrook's widow, Eleonora, 21 years old, told the police the two men had been close friends and that her husband had helped Ketcham discourage suitors who sought the favors of his former wife, Mrs. Elsie Ketcham, 220 South Loomis street. Mrs. Ketcham was questioned and asserted she had not seen her ex-husband for two months.

Holbrook was a nephew of Frank X. Holbrook, loop circulation manager of the Daily Times, who was shot and killed in front of a café at 3108 West Madison street on April 22, 1933, while trying to prevent the kidnaping of Miss Lillian Nance, then 17 years old, of 4209 School street.

Shot as He Stands with Other Youths in Street

Michael Hernon, 21 years old, 6541 Harvard avenue, was shot in the neck last night by one of three colored men who fired three bullets into a group of of three other youths standing with Hernon at 55th street and Wentworth avenue. The Negroes fled after the shooting, which the other youths said was without provocation. Hernon was taken to the St. Bernard's hospital. His condition was said to be not serious.

Woman to Observe 101st Birthday Here Tomorrow

Mrs. Wilhelmina Stroebel will celebrate her 101st birthday tomorrow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Groth, 5723 North Campbell avenue. Missing from the family observance this year is her son, Charles Stroebel, who died since her last birthday, when, at the age of 75, he traveled here from Dayton, O., for the celebration. Mrs. Stroebel was born in Germany, came to this country when 17 years old and lived in Milwaukee until 11 years ago.

EX-POLICEMAN AND 3 HELD IN FAKE BILL RING

U. S. Says Phil Denman Gang Passed $25,000.

Philip Denman, former Chicago policeman, was one of four prisoners being held last night by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the federal secret service as members of a counterfeiting ring which, it is charged, has passed $25,000 in bogus $20 bills recently.

When arrested Saturday Denman gave his name as Philip Denmore and said he was 50 years old.

An attempt to pass one of the bills Friday in Gary caused the first of four captures. Denman was seized Saturday night in his room at the Cedar hotel, 1118 North State street. He possessed no spurious notes, but Capt. Callaghan said there was evidence connecting Denman with the counterfeiters.

Conceal Identities of 2 Captives.

One of the prisoners is Leo Trant, 2810 Hillock avenue, who has served a federal penitentiary sentence for counterfeiting and who now is under similar charges in Peoria and is out on $25,000 bail. Capt. Callaghan refused to name the other two prisoners.

Agents found $5,000 in bogus $20 bills in the possession of two of the captives, the captain said. The fake notes, good imitations have been passed on the north side and at the Arlington race track, where on Thursday the cages took six of them.

Brother of Ex-Official.

Denman is a brother of Col. Albert Denman, former Chicago and Cook county police official. Philip Denman was once discharged for using abusive language toward a relative of a former Republican mayor.

Philip is the uncle of Harold A. Denman, who was once a Chicago police sergeant and later a member of the county highway force. Harold Denman was arrested several times in investigations of bootlegging. He was questioned several years ago in connection with his purchase of machine guns later found in the possession of gangsters.

SEEK 3 IN $15,000 D. E. SULLIVAN JR. JEWEL ROBBERY

Police were looking yesterday for three robbers who earlier in the day held up Mr. and Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., 3500 Lake Shore drive, taking $75 in money and jewelry valued at $15,000. The search was complicated by the fact the gunmen all wore handkerchief masks and indistinguishable clothing. The pawn shop detail was ordered to begin a close watch of all places this morning where the jewelry, of which an accurate description was given the police, might be sold.

Mr. Sullivan is a son of Judge Denis E. Sullivan, who recently resigned as chief justice of the Criminal court to accept a place on the Appellate court, and Mrs. Sullivan, the former Betty Offield, is a granddaughter of the late William Wrigley Jr.

The holdup took place in an automobile driveway at 3740 Lake Shore drive. The Sullivans, after attending a theater and a supper, were passing through to place their automobile in a garage behind the building.

18 MONTH BRIDE SLAYS HUSBAND DURING QUARREL

Laurel, Md., July 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Wade L. Smith, 23, a bride of 18 months, shot and killed her husband today during a family quarrel.

Although the slaying occurred at 2 a. m. this morning, it was not until 5 a. m. that police were informed of it. The young woman, who married Smith, a former policeman, the day after divorcing her first husband, fled to the home of a relative after the shooting. Three hours later she surrendered.

Police quoted Mrs. Smith as saying the slaying was in self defense, but did not explain the nature of the quarrel. Smith resigned from the police force a year ago.

JARECKI TO HOLD PARLEY ON BILLS TO AID TAXPAYER

Homeowners Mark Time Pending Decision.

County Judge Jarecki announced yesterday that he would consult with county taxing officials today on House bills 783 and 209, which were enacted at the recent session of the legislature to aid delinquent taxpayers. Both bills provide for the waiving of tax penalties.

In House bill 783, delinquent taxpayers may pay their tax bills for 1932 and prior years in seven annual instalments at the interest rate of 6 per cent a year. Tax penalties which have accrued up until the time of payment of the first instalment are then waived.

House bill 209 provides that the County court can waive all past penalties for delinquent homeowners who pay their taxes in full. On other forms of real estate the bill permits setting aside 50 per cent of accrued penalties.

Affidavit Required.

This bill affects delinquent taxes for 1932 and prior years and provides that the delinquent taxpayer must file an affidavit with the County court that the reason he did not pay his tax bill promptly was because of his financial inability to do so. To benefit by this plan, the taxpayer must make full payment of his taxes by Feb. 1, 1936.

The county treasurer's office has delayed action as the result of an opinion by the attorney general's office that both bills are unconstitutional. In the meantime, payment of delinquent taxes has slackened at the treasurer's office pending action the treasurer may decide to take.

In an opinion made public yesterday, County Attorney Hayden N. Bell recommended to the treasurer's office that House bill 209 be put into practice. Mr. Bell held that House bill 783 was unconstitutional and that the treasurer would be liable under its use.

Bell Points Out Difference.

In regard to bill 209, Mr. Bell declared: "A fundamentally different situation is presented in this case. The provisions of this measure are effectuated entirely through the judicial powers of the county court, upon justifiable grounds to be determined by the court.

Judge Jarecki declared yesterday that it was his belief that the waiving of full penalties for homeowners was in discrimination against other classes of real estate. He declared that when cases are brought before him, he will make no such discrimination but will waive only 50 per cent penalties for both classes.

Members of the Chicago Real Estate board, which sponsored bill 783, have indicated they may bring court action to compel the treasurer's office to act under their bill.

TAX RATE REDUCTIONS BELIEVED AT BOTTOM; SEE BOOST FOR 1936

An expressed belief that the bottom has been reached in tax rate reductions for Chicago taxpayers is contained in the bulletin of the civic federation and bureau of public efficiency, made public yesterday.

"The 1934 rates, to be officially determined early this fall, will in all probability be appreciably higher than those of 1933," the bulletin reads. "The 1935 rates will, in all likelihood, be lower than those of 1934, but not as low as most of the present 1933 rates, and unless all current indications fail, 1936 will see a rate sharply increased over those of the years just preceding."

Actual 1933 rates per $100 assessed value and estimated rates for 1934, 1935, and 1936 as listed in the bulletin for six towns are as follows:

Town—	1933 Actual.	1934. Est'd.	1935. Est'd.	1936. Est'd.
South Chicago, Hyde Park, and Lake	$6.49	$6.94	$6.60	$7.30
West Chicago	6.22	6.72	6.69	7.30
North Chicago	6.72	6.94	6.69	7.30
Lake View	6.73	6.95	6.69	7.30

In making estimates on rates for 1935 and 1936 the federation has assumed one rate for the entire city. This would be effected by the Chicago park district plans to refund the bonds of the various superseded districts and issue new bonds against the valuation of the consolidated park district, making one park rate for the entire city.

SIX CCC WORKERS CITED AS HEROES IN RIVER RESCUE

Six Civilian Conservation corps workers of the Skokie camp were cited for heroism yesterday in letters from Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work in Washington, according to word received here.

Those honored are Lawrence C. Harlan of Neponset, Ill., and Paul J. Casper, William H. Eckhart, Ernest J. Gast, Emil W. Neimiec, and F. S. Wichman, all of Chicago. Wichman is a foreman.

The six were riding past Dam No. 1 in the Des Plaines river in the forest preserve south of Wheeling on June 26 as two boys and a girl tried to ride across the dam on their bicycles and were swept into the swift stream. The CCC workers formed a human chain and rescued the children.

STATE NEAR END OF CASE AGAINST RAPIST-SLAYER

Battle to Save Thompson's Life Begins Soon.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., July 28.—[Special.]—The trial of Gerald Thompson, 26 years old, confessed rapist and murderer, for the slaying of Mildred Hallmark will be resumed here tomorrow with the state expected to complete its case by nightfall. By the middle of the week, it is indicated, the fate of young Thompson will be placed in the hands of the jury.

With the admission by Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily of Thompson's confession yesterday State's Attorney E. V. Champion had virtually completed the state's case. A handful of corroborating witnesses remain to be called and then Ren Thurman, court appointed counsel for Thompson, will begin his fight to save the young slayer from the electric chair.

Jurors Locked Up.

Tonight the jurors, locked up for the week-end in a downtown hotel, had fresh in their minds the sordid story of the brutal ravishment of Mildred Hallmark—the story that Thompson told police in a statement, the details of which had been carefully guarded until yesterday.

Through the days of the trial in Peoria county's stuffy, 60 year old courthouse, Thompson has apparently been unmoved. Today he curtly told his jailers to "leave me alone" and alternately paced the floor of his cell or pored over newspaper accounts of his trial.

Insanity to Be Defense.

When the defense begins its case Tuesday, Attorney Thurman will seek to prove that Thompson is criminally insane. The youth's mother, Mrs. Florence Whiteside, will be a witness.

Victor Thompson, the defendant's younger brother, also may be called as a witness. The latter is a prisoner in the county jail awaiting indictment on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a child.

Delay Search for Body Till Shaky Building Is Wrecked

Search for the body of Roman Wagner, 38 years old, a laborer, who disappeared when several floors of the Herrmann warehouse at 1101 Cherry street on Goose Island collapsed Saturday, will be deferred until the upper floors of the old seven story structure are dismantled, it was announced yesterday by Chief Charles Heaney of the fire department. Chief Heaney said that it would be too dangerous for any one to enter the building in its present condition.

ARMY DIRIGIBLE IS NEARING TEST AT SCOTT FIELD

Nonrigid TC-14 to Cost Some $200,000.

Belleville, Ill., July 28.—(AP)—Construction of the TC-14, believed to be the largest non-rigid dirigible in the world, neared completion today in its hangar at Scott field here, the army's lighter than air flying base.

The initial test flight of the new craft, largest of four of its type stationed at the airport, is scheduled for early in August.

The TC-14, being built at an estimated $200,000 cost, will have a capacity of 348,000 cubic feet of helium gas. It will be 285 feet long.

"Cloud" Car Is Feature.

A "cloud" car, attached to the supporting bag, can be lowered by 2,500 feet of cable. It holds an observer, who can be dropped to a clear space while the dirigible rides hidden above the clouds. A telephone line keeps the operator in direct communication with the ship. The cloud car is detachable and could be discarded in an emergency.

The giant dirigible has a climbing power of 2,100 feet a minute and a diving speed of 1,800 feet. Its radio has a range of 1,000 miles by code and about half that distance by voice. Standard army bomb releases, handling bombs ranging from 25 to 50 pounds, are part of the equipment.

Congressmen Fly East.

Dayton, O., July 28.—(AP)—Two army transport ships bearing ten congressmen, nine of them members of the house military affairs committee, and Assistant War Secretary Harry Woodring, left here this afternoon for Washington.

The congressional delegation paused in Dayton for lunch, en route from Scott field at Belleville, Ill., where they inspected the air base. They had previously inspected the mechanized cavalry units at Fort Knox, Ky.

ROUND THE GLOBE IN 15 DAYS PLAN OF UNITED LINES

Globe trotters and travelers, who like to journey far and fast, will soon be able to circle the world in fifteen days, United Air Lines officials announced yesterday. The new service will go into effect when the projected trans-Pacific air service becomes a reality.

According to a schedule now being arranged, airplanes will be used to carry the traveler on the largest part of the trip. Trains will be used on the leg between Paris and Le Havre, France, and steamers on the leg between Le Havre and New York City.

The proposed schedule calls for the following itinerary: Chicago to California by air, overnight; California to Manila by air, three days; Manila to Singapore by air, one day; Singapore to Amsterdam by air, five days; Amsterdam to Paris by air, two hours; Paris to Le Havre by train, three hours; Le Havre to New York by steamer, four and one-half days; New York to Chicago by United Air Lines, five hours.

Held for Inquest Today in Parked Car Killing

Nicholas Sobol, 24 years old, 5205 South Kolmar avenue, who admitted that he fatally wounded Joseph Kotulic, 25 years old, 5118 South Talman avenue, while the latter sat in a parked automobile with Miss Mary Koscielniak, 22 years old, 4634 South Winchester avenue, Saturday morning, was being held by the New City police last night for the inquest today. Kotulic died Saturday night. Sobol informed the police that he fired a shotgun accidentally when he approached the car to investigate.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

Sees End of Rush.

July 28, 1935.

CLARENCE THUROW, manager of the Tribune experimental farm near Yorkville and Plano, announced to his men today that, with the "ox almost out of the ditch," he expected soon to discontinue working on Sundays. Plowmen and harvesters at the farm worked for six Sundays during May, June, and July to save a big corn crop from weeds and to harvest bumper yields of hay and oats.

By quitting time tomorrow night the harvesters expected to complete the harvesting of the farm's crop of approximately 160 acres of oats, which the manager estimates, will yield about 45 bushels to the acre. The yield has been cut by many acres of oats being down, tangled and choked by morning glories on rich ground and by smut and rust. All but about 40 acres of the 160 acres of oats was cut one way. It has required eight long workdays to cut the crop with two binders running early and late, or three times longer than is usually required to cut the same acreage.

Mr. Thurow plans to thresh the oats about the middle of August, using the farm's small threshing machine. It may be necessary to call in an outside threshing outfit to get the work done on schedule time.

The straw will be stacked in the open and used in bedding live stock next winter.

This week, soon after the oats have been cut, the harvesters will begin haying in a 60 acre timothy meadow north of Fox river. Some of the hay will be hauled two and a half miles and stored loosely in barns.

The second cutting of alfalfa will be harvested the latter part of August on the Yorkville place.

Manager Thurow already is beginning to plan his feeding schedule for early fall. With a big forage crop in sight he will start his cattle feeding schedule rather early. He expects to begin early in August the feeding of lower grades of this season's hay and silage stored last fall. Mr. Thurow has from 85 to 90 tons of silage which he will feed to the 144 white faced steers. He expects this to last until the green corn is ready to be cut and fed to the steers about the first part of September.

"It has been my experience in fattening cattle," said Mr. Thurow, "that nothing starts a steer off more rapidly than green corn."

High yielding strains of hybrid corn, which are being tested on a field basis this year at the Tribune Yorkville farm, began sending out tassels a few days ago. Most of these are grain producing strains, which means men at the farm are hoping for a late frost to give the ears a chance to mature. Established northern Illinois corn varieties began tasselling a week ago.

The outlook is extremely favorable for a big crop of both ear and silage corn at the farm this year, according to Mr. Thurow. He says the corn is developing rapidly. The fields all have that rich dark green color. The corn has not suffered from lack of moisture, as often is the case at this time of the year. With an average amount of rainfall and a normal frost killing date, the farm manager expects to produce a good crop of corn.

In about five weeks Mr. Thurow says the corn will be mature enough to feed. He will follow the plan that proved to be so valuable in tests made last fall where the green corn was run through a silage cutter and fed to steers running in bluegrass pastures.

3 PLANES REACH FORT WORTH ON FLIGHT TO CHILE

Fort Worth, Tex., July 28.—(AP)—The first stretch of a 7,500 mile flight of passenger transport planes ended here at 4:45 p. m. today when three airplanes, purchased by the National Air Lines of Chile from American Air Lines, Inc., arrived at the Municipal airport.

Hailed in aviation circles as one of the longest flights ever undertaken by land transport planes, the planes left Municipal airport at Chicago at 7 a. m. and stopped in St. Louis and Tulsa before coming here.

Aboard one of the planes were Señor and Señora Charles Lucas, representing the National Air Lines of Chile, and two Chilean pilots, Adelberto Fernandez and Julio Tapiao. The planes will be used on passenger and mail service operated by the National Air Lines of Chile.

Robert W. Cantrell, Riverside, Ill., chief pilot of American Air lines is in command of the mass flight which is expected to take two weeks.

U. S. FLYERS LAND IN GREENLAND ON HOP TO NORWAY

Favored by fine weather the flyers completed the 600 mile flight eight hours and fifteen minutes after taking off from Cartwright at 10:30 a. m.

The pair said they would refuel and await fair weather for a hop to Iceland, whence they plan to fly directly to Norway, probably landing at Bergen.

IN DEFENSE OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Westinghouse, General Motors, and many other large corporations have called their stockholders' attention to the unfairness of the President's proposal to tax the earnings of large businesses at a higher rate than he would tax smaller businesses.

The President has pretended that high taxation on the earnings of big corporations is a means of soaking the rich. That would be true only if the stock of big corporations were owned exclusively by the rich. As a matter of fact, the number of small stockholders in most of the largest corporations far exceeds the number of large stockholders. In Westinghouse, for example, there are 48,000 share owners, of whom 41,000 own less than 100 shares. About the same proportion of small owners is found in General Motors. General Electric, American Telephone, U. S. Steel, and most of the other largest corporations of the country.

The graduated income tax on corporations should not prove very difficult to defeat. The majority members of the house ways and means committee with characteristic lack of self-respect tried to carry out Mr. Roosevelt's orders exactly as he gave them, but the proposal was so unjust on the face of it that the committee did not dare follow him. The tax bill as drafted provides for a graduation of only 1 per cent, ranging from 13¼ per cent on earnings of $15,000 or less to 14¼ per cent on earnings of more than $15,000. The committee, in short, has preserved the principle of injustice without applying it in a manner to raise enough revenue to count. The committee has thus placed itself in a highly vulnerable position. The bill as it stands is morally and economically indefensible and no one knows that better than the men who wrote it. Pressure from the millions of stockholders who will be injured by the discrimination against them should bring about its defeat. The pressure will be applied if corporations take the trouble to inform their shareholders of the President's intentions.

REPORT FROM THE DUMBBELL FRONT.

The authorized relation of how the third party conference in Chicago recently didn't get out of embryo and under way pictures a rainbow chasing itself. It had all the colors, from Senator Nye to Comrade Wagenknecht. The trouble with this particular kind of a third party is chiefly thirty others. The various congressmen thought the time was wrong. It would be wrong for them to cut loose from their own parties and be left sitting at home when a newly elected congress convened. They'd rather be left on the right than right on the left and left at the post—a complicated statement of their position—but their positions always are complicated, simplified only by the understanding that it is better to be in congress than in bug house square, where soaking the rich is only socking the air. The pay is better.

The congressmen were less of a puzzle to the conferees than the Socialists and communists. The congressmen gave the conference a kiss which if it were not of Judas was at least good-by. It was not the time to strike. The Washington, D. C., contingent disposed of itself. The Comrades were more perplexing. The paler shades never know quite what to do with the Reds. Little Red Riding Hood suspects there is a lot of wolf under the nightcap and the bedclothes. She's quite right. There is also a broad understanding grin under the nightcap. The Comrades could quote you many remarks of Dr. Marx about Lassalle, the sectarians, the state Socialists, and the pinks as he knew them, and many remarks of Lenin about the united front compromisers. The quotations bode no good.

The conferees who wanted to throw the Socialists and Red brethern out did not put their case on its real feet. They did not say they saw the wolf and were afraid of him. The brethren must have had a very amusing time. The objection to them was that they would give the third party a bad name. It had to consider its reputation and think of its respectability. People would talk. Comrade Wagenknecht for the communists said people would talk anyway. It was as if Diamond Lil and her friends had appeared to help organize the Women's Soak the Rich Progressive party. One doesn't know what to do with them. The old time suffragets had that trouble with Virginia Woodhull and Tennessee Claflin, who adopted the movement. The cause almost swooned. Susan B. Anthony didn't, but Susan was a rare character.

The decision on the dumbbell front was to engage the support of any groups or political associations opposed to the profit system. The grin is still under the nightcap; so also is the wolf.

PURGE THE UNIONS OF GANGSTERS.

Public assassinations have ceased to be a Chicago commonplace since the repeal of prohibition. What crimes of that type still occur are most frequently connected with labor unions. Louie Alterie, whose recent removal seems to have been regarded as the public improvement of the week, held control of a union as one of his muscling perquisites. Tom Maloy was blown to glory in similar fashion a few months ago, after a reign of terror of years' duration over the motion picture operators' union.

The Alteries and the Maloys have been the cause of a common criticism which many honest union members resent as unfair, because they misunderstand its basis. No sane man will contend that the thousands of trade unionists in Chicago are other than average decent citizens, yet because a minority of their leaders are shown to be gangsters many a unionist considers the demonstration of that fact an attack upon organized labor.

He directs his resentment in the wrong direction. He should turn it against the men who besmirch trade unionism by using it as a vehicle for extortion and a shield for murder and violence.

The labor leader who uses violence as a tool is infinitely more dangerous to the members of the union which he rules than to any one else. He has his apologists, but the apologies are woefully weak. It is contended that violence is the only type of argument which a certain type of employer understands and respects. But disregard for a moment the imponderable question of the loss of public sympathy which the union suffers through use of violence, and turn to a question more open to concrete proof. Against whom is the violence most often exerted?

Who have been the victims of labor shootings in Chicago? How many of them have been employers of labor, or nonunion workers, or strikebreakers? What greater number have been gangsters contending for union control, honest labor leaders slain by such gangsters, or working unionists who protested against misrule? Who have suffered most from sluggings and minor violence, employers and nonunion workers, or union members who displeased or antagonized their hoodlum bosses? The prime concern of such banditti is not the welfare of the members but their continued contributions of dues to the gang controled union treasury.

Such men are a tiny fraction of Chicago trade unionists and a minority among their leaders. They can be driven out, but any effective purge must come from within the unions. The public and the authorities can support the members in their fight, but attacks initiated from the outside can do little. It is too easy for the gangster leader to represent the assault upon him as a blow at unionism itself.

Unfortunately, the Chicago labor community has not been as vigilant as it might have been in guarding the character of its leadership. Alterie was a killer, and ran with killers for years, yet his control of a union went unchallenged in labor circles. Maloy's vicious acts were common public knowledge for years. It is true that the members of their individual unions were probably powerless to oust them, but the unions of the city, acting as a unit, would not have been.

LITTERED PARKS.

The littering of the parks grows more intolerable from year to year. There seem to be more men at work picking up papers this year than last, but the parks are never neat.

Apparently no considerable effort is made to require picnic parties to dispose of their papers in a civilized fashion. The park board has hundreds of policemen. It might spare a few from trafic duty to patrol the lawns. The vast majority of picnickers do not litter the parks and would welcome an insistence on standards of decency.

Editorial of the Day

LIFE BEGINS ANY TIME.

[Cedar Rapids Gazette.]

"When we get right down to brass tacks," says a University of Iowa professor, "we have to admit that the real reason that most of us do not learn more is not that we cannot but that we do not desire to. The old dog can learn a good many new tricks—if he wants to. The trouble is that he is content to remain as he is."

"If the students in American high schools and universities had the same willing enthusiasm and candid curiosity that our adults show," says a teacher in one of the New York adult education schools, "they would learn a lot more."

Vote for one. As a matter of fact, the two statements are not as contradictory as they may seem. The Iowa teacher is referring to adults as a whole; the New York teacher is speaking of a special class of adults—those exceptional persons who show enough interest in improving their education to enroll in adult classes for that purpose. Both statements, taking into consideration the ground they were intended to cover, probably are true.

At any rate, both statements were made in support of the same conclusion—that human beings do not grow too old to learn new things. And both are based on the thought that it is desire rather than ability which is the controling factor in learning.

There are exceptions to that general conclusion, of course. For instance, the Iowa professor suggests, there is a knack of learning languages which apparently has little relationship to either age or desire. Studies made a few years ago by Prof. E. L. Thorndike also indicate that ability to learn increases up to about age twenty-five and gradually declines thereafter. Even so, "adults of twenty-five to forty-five can be expected to learn as well as young people of fifteen." And there are some things adults can learn better than children, "Whenever experience is needed for interpretation," says the Iowa man, "the adult has the advantage of the child."

All this takes point from the fact that this is a time when the future happiness of a great many middle-aged men and women depends on their learning new things—new trades, new ways of living, new ways of occupying their leisure time, and the like. Many such men and women have faced the prospect with despair and discouragement, overimpressed by largely imaginary difficulties and unnerved by loss of confidence in themselves. For these people there is distinct encouragement in the more or less authoritative support the above statements give to the old saw, "Never too old to learn."

LETTERS FROM A LOUNGING CHAIR.

I.

Neighbor, I bid you take your pen in hand—
After a mode of speaking, with sincere
Apologies to Remington and Rand—
This is a day to don with lusty cheer
The scarlet coat, muster the baying pack,
Set spur to horse, and gallop down the lea,
Steepling the fences twenty miles and back,
Shouting a hoarse trochaic Tantivy
After the red-tailed syllable, a flash
Of flying fur—look where it disappears!
Likely we'll have our trouble for our dash
And set a hundred rabbits by the ears.
None the less, friend, 'twill be a day well run;
The fox may live, but we'll have had our fun.

II.

Say, if you like, that Pegasus for hire
And hire alone, stops stirrup to your heel,
That you are lured by no diviner fire
Than that which fricassees your evening meal—
Frankly, I don't believe it. Let it pass
Current with fools and blind men, if it will;
Even one gazing through distorted glass,
Seeing the world wrung wry, seeing a hill
Where no hill is, can scarce mistake the height
Of mountains rising past the window's bound,
Or look across a meadow deep and white
With asphodel, and call it barren ground.
The winds that drift above the wares you sell
Have all a curiously Olympic smell.

III.

I have not been deceived. Your words are light,
A running fire, quicksilver in the mind,
Sparks in the wind across a moonless night,
Meteor-flares that leave no trail behind,
Arrows and stars of rocket-fire, and flying
Will-o'-the-wisps of pale phosphoric gold.
Radiance too swift for loving or denying,
And past all power to capture or to hold.
Let it be so. I have no wish to bind you,
No wish to love you, save as the heart loves,
Without its will, the sunrise. I, who find you
Daily alone in deep and secret groves,
Am not deceived by sparks struck out of steel;

IV.

Waly and woe! A long farewell to rhyme!
How shall you build imperishable lays
While thieving Love from out the cask of time
Siphons the golden fluid of your days?
Well knowing the extensive cosmos holds
No defter liar than the female heart,
And love, well classed with gnats and common colds,
Is death, damnation, and despair to art,
You would go back to blushing at the moon?
Odsbodikins, a strange conceit enough!
As for myself, I'll read, and sleep till noon,
And rake my memory to improve my stuff.
Lady of light, the precipice is steep;
This is Parnassus; look before you leap.

V.

Come, let us pause and contemplate awhile
That flickering flame misdesignated love—
You, who would barter for a moment's smile
From this your pet, your darling and your dove
An hour of jeweled solitude, a phrase
Sweeter than amber honey in the mouth,
Words born of sunlight out of April days,
And spiced with all the odors of the south,
And I, who look with dead and jaundiced eyes
On every sweet the light of love can show,
Thinking I may be taken by surprise
But not before forgetting what I know. . . .
Ah, well, no two reactions are the same,
And some burnt children merely thrive on flame.

VI.

Old grinning Life, weighed down beneath his pack,
And fattened every year a little more,
Since every year the customers come back.
Load up your goods for barter, bring them in
To pass before his estimating eye—
Jewels and plate, books piled from arm to chin,
Fabrics of cunning weave and splendid dye. . . .
Variety to him is little known;
The things you want he's very seldom got.
But one he always has, and that alone,
He says, is worth a dozen times the lot—
An hour of love beneath exploding stars,
And seven years in plaster, scratching scars.

VII.

Let us make friends with leisure; let us rather Lessen our harvest than arise too soon.
Little of all the busiest hands can gather
Will last beyond the waning of a moon.
Experience and wise imagination,
Passing the piebald values in review,
Commend a life of sleep and contemplation.
Its pleasures calm, its worries sweetly few.
Love is a fretsaw scalloping the brain;
Hate's an emetic emptying the heart;
Out with them both, and listen to the rain,
And carve the good roast duckling well apart,

DOROTHY KISSLING.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES that Herr Hitler is about to enjoy another blood purge. Ah, Mussolini must have had two more photographs in the papers last week than Herr Hitler.

THE FUNNY THING about this administration is that when it is doing things it makes noise enough to be heard to the stars or awaken the Seven Sleepers of Ephesus, and when it's quiet it's so very quiet that policemen and tourists and pedestrians generally, down there, take off their shoes and sneak along with catlike tread so as not to disturb the deathlike silence. TESTING THE HEART POWER.

HOW much work should the heart be called upon to perform? Strenuous athletic contests have repeatedly demonstrated that the muscles of the body, including the heart muscle, can function to an unprecedented degree. As long as the heart can secure an adequate supply of oxygen and nourishment huge overloads may be borne by this powerful organ. It appears to be a question of available oxygen and food. If either is slow in reaching the muscle fibers fatigue symptoms will quickly develop and collapse may occur.

For a considerable period physicians have been searching for a simple method of measuring the work efficiency of the heart, and A. M. Master has described recently a revision of his two-step test.

With the assistance of a colleague, a set of tables was prepared, indicating the number of steps which the normal individual could ascend in a given time without increasing the heart rate more than ten beats per minute. For example, he found that a man between the ages of 20 and 24, weighing between 130 and 139 pounds, was able to make 25 ascents without appreciable increase of the heart rate or blood pressure. Calculations have been made for all ages and weights for both men and women, so that by using the table one can quickly determine the number of steps that are considered a normal climb.

A man, aged 45, weighing between 150 and 159 pounds, should make 21 ascents. A man of the same age weighing 190 pounds should make 19. A woman 40 years old, weighing 130 pounds, should make 20, etc.

Master devised a double stepladder with two steps on each side. Two nine-inch steps provided a total climb of 18 inches. The patient walks up one side of the steps and down the other, turning toward the same side of the room to avoid dizziness. The individual is asked to make the required number of ascents in one and one-half minutes.

Heart efficiency was determined as follows: A woman, aged 53, weighing 156 pounds, should make 17 ascents, according to the table. Inasmuch as some heart disease was known to be present, the patient was first asked to mount the steps but 14 times. When at rest the heart was beating 82 per minute. After the 14 ascents the rate was 96, which exceeded the allowed increase of ten beats per minute. Hence it was concluded that 14 ascents were too many. Later in the day 12 climbs were attempted. In this test the increase in the heart rate was within the prescribed limits. It was concluded that her heart power was midway between 12 and 14, namely, 13, and the heart efficiency was determined to be the ratio between 13 ascents which she made and the 17 ascents which she should have made (13-17ths of normal), or 77 per cent.

Another case was that of a man aged 52, weighing 149 pounds, who had previously suffered a coronary occlusion (blocking of one of the blood vessels to the heart). In his case it was found that he could make 14 ascents as contrasted with a normal of 21, hence his work efficiency was 14-21sts of normal, or 67 per cent.

Without attempting to detail all of Master's experiments, it is obvious that apprehension and general nervousness may decidedly influence the test. Probably no single determination should be considered as conclusive, but an average taken of several performed on different days.

The test need not place the slightest strain upon the heart muscle; in fact, if heart disease is known or suspected, it may be well to start the subject climbing fewer steps, increasing the number at succeeding tests.

If we would save and not overstrain the heart muscle we must avoid overload, and if this principle can be driven home to heart sufferers forcibly enough countless cases of sudden death will be prevented, as well as many distressing instances of heart failure that lead to prolonged invalidism.

LUMPS IN TONSILS.

E. T. T. A. writes:

1. For some time I have been troubled with corelike lumps which seem to root themselves in my tonsils. They finally work to the outside of the tonsils, and, after a great deal of effort I get them out. What are these lumps?

2. I am always tired, and feel that my tonsils are diseased. Do these lumps usually mean diseased tonsils?

REPLY.

1. The crypts of the tonsils may become filled with a whitish or yellowish cheeselike material that can be squeezed out. This substance has a very foul odor and is composed largely of cell débris and bacteria. A suction syringe has been devised that will remove the plugs with no damage to the tissues.

2. Yes. The tonsils should be removed, as absorption of this material can take place.

PROBABLY HARMLESS.

Mrs. D. writes: In my last annual examination a small polypus at the mouth of the uterus was found. The physician said it did not mean a thing, but if it worried me he could remove it without trouble. I am 59 years old. Do polypi ever become malignant?

REPLY.

A small polypus protruding from the cervix of the uterus is, in all probability, entirely benign and innocuous. Occasionally, however, these structures undergo degeneration. These growths come from the mucous membrane and sometimes occur as a result of catarrhal inflammation. The only objection to leaving the polypus is that it may cause bleeding. These growths are readily removed with electrocautery.

SENNA TEA.

A. B. R. writes: I have been drinking a cup of senna tea every night for constipation. I read that this is a powerful purgative and should be avoided.

REPLY.

Tea made from senna leaves is an excellent laxative. The amount must be gauged so as not to produce a purgative effect, i. e., profuse, watery stools associated with severe intestinal cramps.

EXECUTOR'S SERVICES.

Chicago, July 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Father left an estate to two sons and a grandson. Grandson's share of estate is in realty only. One son was appointed executor. Mother died after 15 years. 1. Will does not state executor is to charge for services. 2. During the 15 years after the death of father and since the mother died four years ago the estate has not met expenses, but resulted in a deficit of $1,200. 3. Can executor charge for services and if so, how much? 4. Estate is in Indiana. Will states no report to court. Personal estate is divided and signed off. Have been told executor can only charge during last five years and then only on income. A note of $1,200, with a bank now in receivership, exists. Would it prevent a suit of partition and sale if advertised?

G. O. S.

1. Such wording would not be necessary. An Illinois statute specifies that the executor's fees shall not exceed 6% of the personal property and this by implication authorizes a charge within the limit.

2. The probate estate should have been closed shortly after the expiration of one year. It seems possible that this was done and that your brother is in fact acting as trustee rather than as executor.

3. We cannot advise to advantage without having the facts and the wording of the will more accurately before us.

4. The foregoing answers relate to Illinois law, but see 3. We advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LEGAL DESCRIPTION.

Chicago, July 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been told that a party who owes me some money purchased a brick bungalow within the last two months. I have the address of this property, but I do not have a legal description of it. If I could find out definitly whether he owns it and the amount he invested in it I could probably collect the money he owes me. I think he owns a car, too. Please tell me how I could find out regarding his ownership of the property and car. A. W.

By taking the address to the city map department you could ascertain the legal description. By taking this description to the tract index in the recorder's office you could ascertain the present record owner. It is possible, however, that your debtor is purchasing under an unrecorded contract, or even in some other party's name, in which case you would get no valuable information from the records.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, July 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died last December leaving a small estate. He left no will. There are seven children. A sister, with whom he lived before his death, was appointed administrator of the estate. I have written to her, but she will not answer my letters. We are all named in the petition filed last January. 1. Must I file a claim on a legal form? 2. Is there a time limit as to filing of such a claim? 3. What fees is an attorney for the administrator allowed by law in such cases? A. J. C.

1. No.
2. See 1.
3. The Illinois statute says not over 6% of the personal property. The actual average allowance would be closer to 4%.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FIREMEN'S EXAMINATION.

Chicago, July 24.—[Friend of the People.]—Can you tell me if the results of the examination completed some time ago for the city fire department are to be posted prior to the proposed additions, or if the old list is to be used? F. M.

The commission expects to post the results of the last examination for fireman [fire department] in the near future. The old eligible list has been canceled and any future vacancies will be filled from the new list. JAMES S. OSBORNE, Sec'y.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

According to tests made by the Carnegie institution, Washington, D. C., a person walking a mile consumes more energy than he would by running the same mile. The saving in energy by running, rather than walking, is about 15 per cent, according to these tests.

ROCKY LEDGE PARK.

Chicago, July 23.—Whether in response to a very good letter in your column July 19 or not, Rocky Ledge park has improved in cleanliness miraculously since its appearance.

Now a word of commendation: The same park has during the current season, for the first time in several years, and upon the repeated requests of respectable residents on its border, been given splendid police protection all night and every night. The police have also made it their business to safeguard the shrubbery which has been planted and cared for by the park board at great expense and takes months to raise, but which can be torn up and broken through in a moment of carelessness, destructiveness, or recklessness.

It seems to us that if most of our Chicago policemen are given to understand clearly what is expected of them they are only too glad to coöperate. We inquired and found out that those responsible for this new and dependable improvement were Capt. Russell and Officer Cassidy and his squad. And besides doing a big and disagreeable job they have done it regularly and cheerfully. MRS. P. E. B.

CAUTIONARY VERSES FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Don't go out with boys you don't know.
Beware of the pitfalls of some lonely street, for there you may many a trouble meet. Disaster may stalk you in some dire way, for ever the moron is seeking his prey. Daily you read of the ride through the night taken by girls who were seeking delight. How often the escort they trusted has proved a most sordid creature, by vicious thoughts moved, who never intends to acquire a wife, but joys in the wrecking of feminine life.

So please, to your mother's advice listen well. She speaks for your good, and no falsehoods will tell: Beware of the fellows you're likely to meet when strolling along on some lone city street.

ESTHER ALICE DAVIS.

SCANDALOUS CONDUCT.

Chicago, July 25.—The scandalous conduct of Attorney General Cummings in ousting Dr. Amy Stannard, a civil service employé of twelve years' standing, in order to provide a soft bunk for T. Webber Wilson, ousted federal appointee in the Virgin Islands, is regrettable. The man can fill her highly technical post as a psychiatrist about as well as an African bushman.

Every civil service employé should take this as a personal insult.

FAITHFUL TO AL.

Chicago, July 24.—It has been three years since I last contributed to this column. At that time Al Smith was seeking the Democratic nomination for President. Three years have passed and I am still convinced that he is the only man in sight that can bring the country back to prosperity. W. B.

PARKING NEAR INTERSECTIONS.

Chicago, July 24.—There is being so much said about the cause of automobile fatalities I should like to set down one fact which does not lessen the hazard. I know that a person waiting for a bus, say, as I have to, is obliged to walk into the middle of the street, or nearly there, in order to see whether a bus is coming. Why? Because the automobiles are parked too near the street intersection. I do not know what the ruling is as to the distance a car should be parked from a street intersection, but from observation my opinion is that 50 feet should be the cleared distance from street to a parked car. If I, an adult, cannot see an approaching vehicle, how is a child able to?

In a late magazine I notice the following: "Oklahoma City installs parking meters along its streets and charges motorists for parking, the charges being rated according to zones." Is the plan feasible in Chicago? And, too, the idea might extend to the vacant lots scattered about. Surely there must be some way out of the trafic hazard we face today. If an owner had to pay for street parking he might rent space in a lot, or find the money to rent a garage.

JENNIE ELIDA HANFORD.

CONCERNING HOUSING.

Menasha, Wis., July 24.—I would like to ask Frances H. Gregor, who wrote about government housing, a few questions:

1. Has she ever owned any low rent apartments or houses?
2. If so, how were rent collections?
3. Were these tenants willing workers?
4. When the tenant moved or was ejected was the place as clean as when rented to the tenant?
5. What proportion of the rent collected was required to pay for damage done by the tenant?
6. Did the tenant use the baths provided and were many of the tenants wearing clean rags?
7. Has Frances Gregor ever worked side by side with the people from these low-rent places?
8. Has Frances Gregor ever visited Paris, London, Shanghai, Moscow, Sydney or Calcutta and seen the whole town?
9. In other words, by what qualifications can Frances Gregor pass judgment on the subject which seems to interest her? R. A. STOUGH.

THE RADIO STATION.

Chicago, July 25.—I congratulate you on your beautiful radio station and may I not commend you also for your recognition of those who have so ably carried your enterprise to completion by acting as their host at the opening of the station?

May I suggest as a station designation the following: "W-G-N, CHICAGO TRIBUNE station at the peak of Michigan avenue"? Considering that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is actually on the highest point of Michigan avenue the designation is apt.

"Paris in Spring" Is Bright Comedy With Music.

"PARIS IN SPRING."

THE CAST.

Good Morning!

Delicate and bright as a butterfly's wing is this little comedy, "Paris in Spring." [Poetry. Unintentional.]

The slight story is of an Italian nobleman and a night club entertainer who love one another madly, but don't come to the point of marriage till each has wielded the whip of jealousy.

The picture's one serious sequence occurs when the stately grandmother of a young thing who has been a pawn in their game of love talks sprouts to them. She has something to say—and she says it well.

Direction proves one of the most important factors in "Paris in Spring." It is unusually adept. Mr. Milestone has brought out to the greatest effect the lights and shades of both plot and playing.

Mary Ellis is a beatiful Simone. Her figure runs a bit to the Mae West influence and her face is delightfully expressive. She sings charmingly, and has an exquisite comedy touch and a provocative flair for pantomime. Tullio Carminati is deft and handsome.

Now that, at last, the picture featuring the two has been released, I suppose those fevered rumors of their romance and impending marriage will creep back to a fertile press agent brain, there to take to themselves new names and decking ere they emerge again to confound an ever credulous world. If I'm all wrong and the rumors prove true, pardon, please, from whom it may concern.

The young people used as cats' paws are neatly portrayed by Ida Lupino and James Blakeley. Jessie Ralph is magnificent as the grandmother.

Dialog sparkles and there are captivating tunes to set you humming. But, as I think back over the film, I am sure it is the wizardry of Mr. Milestone's direction that makes "Paris in Spring" something to talk about.

See you tomorrow!

1830 Northwest Territory Church Marks Anniversary

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 28.—[Special.]—Marking the 105th anniversary of the construction of the Old Mission church, annual community services were held in the ancient structure here this afternoon. The Old Mission church, constructed in 1830, is asserted to be the oldest Protestant church standing in what was the old North West Territory. In this historic church worshiped Indians converted by the Rev. William M. Ferry, missionary here from 1823 to 1837.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Bound for their second world convention at Leicester, England, 437 members of the Disciples of Christ from all parts of the United States assembled here today. They will sail tomorrow on the Britannic, the largest single party leaving for Europe this season. Another hundred American delegates already have sailed.

Mrs. Walter H. Filor of the Carlyle left today to pass three weeks at Elk Lodge, Colo.

Mrs. William T. Stanton sailed on the Champlain with her son, J. B. Fearon. She will leave Venice on Sept. 11 for Hongkong.

Crosby Movie to Co-Feature Frank Morgan

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 28.—[Special.]—Frank Morgan will be co-featured with Bing Crosby in the crooner's next, "Anything Goes." Dixie Lee, Bing's wife, probably will play the feminine part Ethel Merman made famous on the stage. It is the first time Bing has consented to have his wife in the same picture with him.

DIXIE LEE.

Mae West, who says she never was on a boat, is planning a voyage to Europe as soon as she finishes her Klondike picture. She's taking her new male social secretary, Marcel Ventura, with her to interpret; Marcel is a linguist.

Richard Arlen is back by plane from St. Paul, Minn., where he competed in a golf tournament.

After ten days in bed with scarlet fever, Arlene Judge (Mrs. Wesley Ruggles) is up and about the house, but has to wait another week before the city's quarantine is lifted.

As soon as Ben Lyon completes a rôle in "Beauty's Daughter" and Bebe Daniels finishes in "Ball of Fire," this husband and wife combination will leave for New York, where they go on the stage together again in "Hollywood Holiday."

Robert Greig, whose ponderous frame has buttled more trays than any other actor in Hollywood, has been put under long term contract at M. G. M. studio, where they are making so many films with British tea table sequences that a permanent servitor seems needed.

Mrs. Pat O'Brien's (Eloise Taylor) employés in her gown shop are rough and ready enough to excite the admiration of any of Pat's old friends of Jesu grade school and Marquette High school in Milwaukee. Yesterday a woman shoplifter, accompanied by a male escort, entered the gown shop in Beverly Hills and when the male crook ducked out the front door in a hurry, chased by the porter, his feminine companion ran the other way, wearing one of Mrs. O'Brien's swell dresses. Elsie Webb, a vigorous sales girl, outran the lady crook, chased her into an alley, and forced her to take the dress off then and there. As what the lady wore under the repossessed dress was very limited, the police who came along later were slightly embarrassed.

June Travis (Grabiner) is taking tap dancing lessons. She says they improve grace as well as promote health.

Want to Join Sally's Circus Party? Last Day Is Thursday

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Dear Boys and Girls:

How would you like to go out to a great big tent erected on the lake front and see Ringling Brothers' latest and biggest circus? There are 800 talented persons performing in it, seven herds of elephants, 700 horses, and hundreds of lions and tigers and dogs and bears and seals and other interesting animals.

The management of the circus has invited me to come to see the show on Thursday, Aug. 8, and to bring with me fifty boys and fifty girls who'll most enjoy such a treat.

If you'd like to go write me a letter telling me why. You must also tell me your full name, your address and your age. If you forget any one of these things, your letter is out.

All mail must be in my hands by next Thursday. That day I'll read all the mail and select 100 letters and the lucky boys and girls will find their names in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Address your letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Lake Geneva Garden Club Show Aug. 16

Mrs. William N. Pelouze General Chairman.

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM Jerseyhurst, the Lake Geneva house of Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, comes word of one of the most delightful events of the whole summer season. It's the 31st annual flower show of the Lake Geneva Garden club, to be held Aug. 16 and 17 in Horticultural hall at the lake.

The very idea is pleasantly refreshing. Boxes, pots, and vases of the loveliest flowers produced on Lake Geneva's finest estates. Vegetables scrubbed until they shine. Long, cool drinks on the green terraces that slope down from the exhibition hall.

It's no wonder that the show always attracts an overflow crowd. Then, too, all of the proceeds go to the support of Holiday home, which has been the favorite charity of most of the lake's prominent summer residents ever since it was founded away back in 1867. The object of the home is to provide an outing for boys and girls from Chicago's congested districts. Every two weeks during the summer 77 children are sent to Lake Geneva

Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay Is Finance Chairman.

Mrs. Maxwell is announcing the plans for the flower show, for she is the chairman of publicity. The general chairman is Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, assisted by Mrs. Edwin B. Frost, Mrs. Frank Porter, and Mrs. William F. Peterson. Direction of the finances is the duty of Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay.

The youngest garden club members heading a committee are Miss Medora Pelouze, whose mother is the general chairman, and Miss Mildred Starck. Both Miss Pelouze and Miss Starck were debutantes last year and they have been asked to arrange a display of flowers in miniature vases.

Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson is chairman of a committee that will arrange wild flowers for exhibit and garden accessories will be shown off to good advantage by a committee that has Mrs. John Reilly for its chairman.

Numerous Members Preparing Displays.

Table settings, fruit and cake displays, and exhibits of vegetables and dairy products all are being arranged by other garden club members, including Mrs. Robert Tarrant, Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin, Mrs. Harry Macdonald, Mrs. E. H. McCarty, Miss Edith Kohlsaat, Mrs. Robert Whitaker, Mrs. W. H. Emery, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, Mrs. Storrs Barrett, and Mrs. Charles Frank.

One booth, however, is being kept a deep, dark secret. This is in charge of Mrs. Clara Grommes Rehm and Mrs. Armin Brand and they're not dropping the least hint of what it's to be.

Speaking of Lake Geneva reminds us that the Daniel Peterkins entertained last Friday evening at their home, Oak Lodge, for Baron and Baroness Ruprecht von Boecklin. The baron and baroness [Jane Brand] have been spending a fortnight here with her parents, the Armin Brands.

Marjorie Mae Spiegel's Wedding to Be Aug. 22.

When Miss Marjorie Mae Spiegel, daughter of Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel of Highland Park, returned from Westchester, N. Y., Saturday, she brought with her the news that her wedding to Richard W. Dammann will take place on Aug. 22 in the gardens of her mother's estate. The ceremony will be read at 6 o'clock in the evening and will be followed by a supper party at home.

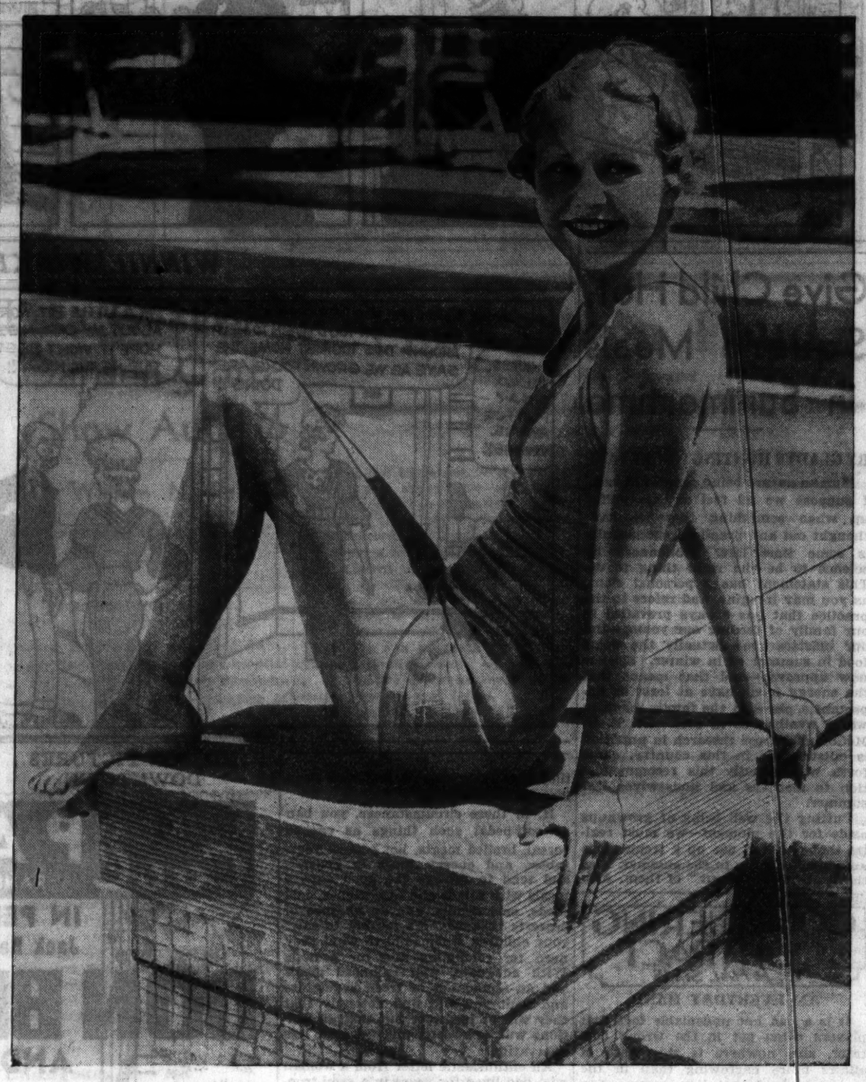

Miss Spiegel, who has been visiting her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dammann of Bedford Hills, N. Y., is going to have just two attendants, Miss Janet Welt of Detroit and Miss Margaret Dammann, the bridegroom's sister. The bride and bridegroom plan to honeymoon in Bermuda and on their return will make their home in New York.

Just as soon as young Mr. and Mrs. John Milton Trainer Jr. [the former Barbro Gyllenkrok of Sweden] decide upon a house in Glencoe, they are going to be fêted with a series of postnuptial parties. Due to the fact that the couple were married in Stockholm, the bride and bridegroom's Chicago friends have had to postpone their entertaining until after the wedding. Among the hostesses who are awaiting permission to set a day for their parties are Mrs. Henry Pope Jr., Mrs. Perry Dunlap Smith, Miss Helen Dawes, and Mrs. John Dern.

It is no wonder if Mrs. Harry L. Drake (Alice Bremner) is rather perplexed, for her immediate plans are very conflicting. Besides being en-

One of the prettiest as well as one of the best young swimmers at the Glen View club is Miss Frances McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles McDaniel of Evanston. Miss McDaniel is a platinum blonde with deep blue eyes and she's tanned a dark brown. In another week she will be leaving for a holiday in and about Eagle River, Wis. In September she will start her senior year at Northwestern university.

Italy Provides Ideas for New Chicago Styles

BY KAY HALL.

Italy's limelight is influencing the imagination of the stylists, according to advance showings of the autumn mode yesterday in a preview of the fall show of the style creators of the Chicago wholesale market district at the Stevens hotel. The exhibitors represent Chicago manufacturers and designers exclusively and their three shows will be held tomorrow evening and the evenings of Aug. 1 and Aug. 6 in the Stevens.

Not modern Italy, but the Renaissance provides the designers with the elaborate patterns and extravagant combinations of the fall ensembles. Florentine collars, page boy jacket effects, higher waistlines for balance with flowing skirt draperies, large sleeves, slim shoulders, and scarfs that trail into trains are some of the items borrowed from the exuberant Renaissance period.

For evening wear the Italian influence sometimes competes with, sometimes streamlines harmoniously into stylings from Grecian and Hindu inspiration. The latter two account for slinky figure line effects down to the point below the hips where the skirt draping begins with goring or flares. The aim of fall clothes is to scintillate and this carries over from the shimmering metal cloths for formal and semi-formal wear into daytime woolen suits which have their surface naps shot with metal, angora hair, or cellophane threads.

The costume suit for afternoon and dinner occasions may be of diagonal, ribbed, nubbed, or metal shot woolens. It is luxuriously furred. The coat has a tight bodice, is belted, and the three-quarter length skirt is copied from the full Russian Cossack swagger silhouette.

Street length cocktail and dinner dresses have fitted jackets with full sleeves and the skirts are individually draped. Metal cloth monopolizes these also.

Coats follow the dress mode, being shorter and following the full sleeve and full skirt lines. Fur collars may be remote from the face or, if they are of short haired furs, they are tailored and tight fitting. Those who can afford the luxury will wear swagger coats of mink for formal occasions.

One evening dress at the Chicago exhibitors' showing is of silver brocaded lamé with silver cords draped to form a cascade effect. Another of lamé is extremely low cut, has a heart of rhinestones at the throat, must be "zippered" on, and relaxes its sinuous lines in a modified Grecian skirt.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

INSTALMENT I.

A MISS NOBODY.

It seemed to Nancy Heritage that, materially speaking, she had brought her young husband nothing but bad luck, although Dick would be the last person in the world to say so. In fact, such an idea would never occur to him.

They had been married now nearly two years and were still rapturously in love.

But as Edith Heritage, Dick's handsome, imperious mother, had said in the beginning—and said it with dark emphasis—"Love isn't everything." Perhaps it wasn't, but so far it had seemed to suffice.

From almost the moment they were married worldly matters began to go wrong. According to Edith Heritage, it had started even before that, when her spoiled and charming boy had fallen in love with a Miss Nobody from Nowhere whom he happened to see on top of a bus and boldly tracked down to her place of business in a city office.

Dick had been badly snubbed by Nancy Akers at first, but that didn't last long.

She was a year older than he, and although it did not show in her face she had had a more varied and bitter experience of life than her ardent young lover. As scarcely more than a child she had come to grips with the world and been worsted.

Nancy was incomparably beautiful. Her features were perfect, she had lovely hair and eyes and teeth and a slender, graceful body. Men fell in love with her right and left, and for that reason she had changed her situation frequently. Beauty is not always an asset to a working girl.

It was a relief to be safely married to Dick Heritage and—as she believed—out of the way of other men.

Most of the women who came into contact with Nancy loved her or at least were fascinated by her into a state of slavish submission. But she had had her enemies, too, and there was one woman in the world who would always hate her. That woman was her husband's mother.

"If your mother doesn't mind," Nancy said with sheer heroism, "we could have her here."

Shortly after their marriage Dick's father had died and the golden spoon which seemed to have been in Dick's mouth at birth turned to something less than silver gilt.

His father's estate worked out almost to nothing compared with what every one had believed it would be. True, a small income was fixed up for the widow, and Dick inherited a couple of thousand pounds which Nancy coaxed him to put into their little house in Primrose Dene in the Borough of Hempstead, London. He wanted to gamble on the stock exchange with it, but her common sense prevailed in the end.

Edith Heritage did gamble with her capital and was at first successful. Lately, however, she had been caught very badly in the financial crisis. In fact, her income as such was gone, perhaps forever, unless seemingly worthless securities picked up again some day, and this sad state of affairs practically coincided with the announcement of a 15 per cent all round cut in the salaries in Dick's office.

Dick was employed by a firm of architects and doing well, but the general depression had affected them, too, and everybody for the time being would have to manage with a little less.

The greatest problem just now to Dick and Nancy was his mother. He was not in a position to make her an allowance, although she had suggested it.

Edith Heritage was a terrifying person to Nancy, but she had always chosen to live in hotels, mostly in the south of France, and had not troubled the little household in Primrose Dene very much.

Was this the right moment—thought Nancy—to tell Dick that before the year was out he was likely to become a father? No, she could keep that news to herself a little longer. Anyway, it might not be true.

In her mind's eye Nancy reviewed the whole of her dear little house. The second best bedroom was a guest room, though seldom occupied. It had been her secret intention to turn it into a nursery—should it be true that a nursery would be needed.

Dick was a high-handed young man, but he did not intend to ask Nancy to let his mother come to live with them. That invitation must appear to originate with her.

It was the obvious, the only way out of their difficulty.

"If your mother doesn't mind," Nancy said with sheer heroism, "we could have her here, couldn't we?"

"You perfect angel!"

Dick caught her in his arms and whirled her round. He was so pleased and excited that he failed to notice the shadow in her eyes.

"She can have the spare room."

"Of course."

"I'll send her off a wire at once. Begin to break the news gently. Poor mother! It won't be easy for her to give up her way of living."

"I'm sure she'll feel it very much," said Nancy.

"Still—we'll hope for her sake that it won't be forever."

"I do hope she'll be happy," Nancy said valiantly. "Anyway, I shall do all I can to make her so."

"She'll see how happy you've made me, sweetheart, and love you for it."

He squeezed Nancy's arm and kissed the curls at the nape of her neck.

Edith Heritage was neither cruel nor malicious by nature, but her husband had spoiled her just as both of them had spoiled Dick, and Dick's marriage had disappointed his mother almost beyond reason.

She did not want him to get married at all, but, if marry he must, why could he not have chosen a girl of his own class? Above all, a girl with a decent background, even if she had no money.

Nancy Akers possessed no background worth mentioning. All Mrs. Heritage knew was what Nancy chose to tell her and that appeared to be precious little. Indeed, Mrs. Heritage was positive that her daughter-in-law's life held some element of mystery which no amount of probing thus far had fathomed.

Briefly, as Nancy sketched it out, her father had been a not very successful country doctor and he and her mother had both died when she was very young. She had an aunt married to a missionary in China, who was her only near relative.

Nancy had been to a business college and looked after herself from the age of 17. But there was a gap of four years in her life which was not accounted for to Mrs. Heritage's satisfaction.

Pushed into a corner about it, Nancy said that during that period she had been the secretary of a lady named Miss Satchell, who was engaged on some sort of philanthropic work. Miss Satchell had been very kind to her and they had got on famously together, but it became obvious that Nancy had never seen her since they parted nor been in communication with her. Miss Satchell did not come to the wedding and, as far as Mrs. Heritage knew, no card of announcement was sent to her.

A little tug-of-war on the subject of this mysterious Miss Satchell was always inevitable when Nancy and her mother-in-law came into contact. It was as though Edith Heritage, by some purely feminine instinct, had fastened upon the one period of Nancy's life which might be open to question.

Edith's private opinion was that Miss Satchell had a different sex from that implied by the spinsterish title and no doubt a different name altogether.

It was Nancy's determined manner of self-defense which bred this dark suspicion in the older woman's mind. Not without reason perhaps, as we shall see.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE WALLOP IS GONE

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Air Minded

Give Child Hot, Square Meals in Summertime

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Human nature being somewhat vain, I suppose we all feel a little puffed up when something that we have thought out and practiced successfully is some time later pronounced by science to be the right thing to do. This statement has a personal slant, as you may imagine, and refers to the practice that has always prevailed in our family of feeding our young—and our oldsters too—virtually the same food in summer as in winter. Science now approves—and that means that the energy foods have at least as important a place on the family menu in warm weather as in cold. Dr. E. V. McCollum, whose research in nutrition is outstanding in this country, came forth with exactly this recommendation to mothers and housewives last summer.

Putting the well being of grownups aside for the moment—we must realize that children use up a tremendous amount of energy in the summer. Also the heat "takes it out" of them. Also they are likely to rest less and sleep less than in winter.

If, in these circumstances, you ban or soft-pedal such things as cooked cereal, broiled meats, hot cooked vegetables, and energy foods in general, and tend to replace the good square meals with salads and sandwiches, cold foods, cold drinks, and an absence of desserts because "it's too hot to eat," your children will not have what they need for rebuilding and for growth. With adequate, well balanced meals and an abundance of fresh vegetables and fruit you will find not only that they will be healthier but that dispositions will be sweeter and the heat less enervating.

An enthusiastic letter from a woman who had lived for years in a semi-tropical country reached me after an article to this effect had appeared in this column last year. All those who had followed the advice of the doctor who recommended this hot weather eating procedure had kept outstandingly well under difficult conditions.

To provide sufficient energy for small dynamos—and large ones too—is an important health measure in summer as well as in winter.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

AN EVERYDAY HAND.

It is a sad but undeniable fact that players often get in the wrong contract, and nowhere is this state of affairs more harrowing than in the no man's land that lies between five in a minor and three no-trumps. You bid one diamond, let us say, and your partner bids three diamonds. Assuming that you have no other biddable suit, you must either bid the no-trump game then and there or inferentially indicate a willingness to play five odd by bidding four diamonds. So, holding three clubs to a queen, you bid no-trumps, and lo! it transpires that your partner has a singleton club and duplicates your stoppers in the other suits. Naturally, five diamonds is the spot. The next time you bid five diamonds, go off one trick, and try to conceal from your quick tempered partner the fact that you had nine tricks back to back.

NORTH.
♥ A J 9 6 4
♦ 5-3

WEST.	EAST.
♠ 5-3-2	♠ J-10-9-8-7
♥ K-8-7-5	♥ Q-10-3
♦ 9-8	♦ Q-10-4-2

SOUTH.
♠ A-K-Q
♣ K-Q-J-2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 Dia.	Pass	1 Ht.	Pass
3 Cl. [1]	Pass	4 Cl. [2]	Pass
5 Cl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. South had had partners who soared into four hearts after a two no-trumps response.

2. North cannot bid no-trumps. Where is his spade stopper?

Five clubs can always be beaten with a heart opening, and it can always be made without a heart opening. West opened a spade. South purposely won the trick with the queen and laid down the king of clubs. West took and shifted to a heart. His shift would have made no difference except for the fact that South was a player who had seen doubleton queens and diamonds make on first round finesses. South cashed the ace and king of diamonds and trumped a third round in the dummy. West properly refused to trump before the board. He discarded a spade—and here is where West's discontinuation of the spade suit came in handy for the declarer. South reentered his hand with the king of spades and trumped yet another diamond, setting up his lone jack at last. After that West could make no more than his nine of clubs.

Some players might have cashed three rounds of spades, discarding a diamond from the board, and gone down. Some players might have continued spades, realizing that South was not a finesser, and set the contract. And some players might have held up the ace of clubs, embarrassing the declarer no end.

It is just such hands as these that make some players wonder whether they shouldn't have kept to poker, after all.

"Let's Have a Picnic," a booklet of picnic plans and recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

The neatest trick in food protection that we've seen lately is an assortment of tidy cellophane bags. If you're interested in any of these things, keeping your food in topnotch condition, each flavor as individual and unblurred as it comes from the market, preserving leftovers for successful future reference, or keeping your refrigerator and pantry shelves in trim order —then you'll want to look up these bags pronto.

For refrigerator use these transparent bags come in two different assortments. One includes a dozen in various sizes to accommodate different sizes of vegetables, fruits, and oddments. Another is made in lots of ten, also in assorted sizes, but smaller. Not only do these fit snugly around melons [bane of the refrigerator!], cheeses, and such, but they're beautifully adapted for fitting over the small bowls and jars of sandwich spreads, salad dressings, leftover cooked vegetables, and similar stuffs of which the normal refrigerator is full.

Speaking of sandwiches, if your family has frequent tendencies to picnic, you'll be interested in the third assortment. It includes seven trig cellophane bags, just the right size to accommodate a healthy sandwich. No more cutting of paper and irritating looseness of wrapping! All you have to do is to slip the ready made sandwich into its sack, fold over the open edge, and it's ready to pack.

These handy containers, which keep moisture in and foreign flavors out in such satisfactory manner, are just as economical as they are convenient. With a little care they may be used over several times—and even their initial price is small!

Another food wrapping medium for which we're rooting is aluminum foil. It's been on the market much longer than the aforementioned cellophane bags, but the fact that it isn't exactly hot news doesn't dim our enthusiasm for it.

The strong foil comes in a roll just as does waxed paper, and it has, like waxed paper, a myriad of uses. Not only does it protect fruits, vegetables, leftovers, butter, and cheese in excellent fashion, but it's frequently a godsend in various cooking processes. Under baked fish, for instance, it can't be equaled, for it eliminates a boresome task of dishwashing after the delightful fish is consumed.

While we're on the subject of food preservation, a word about the versatility of cooking parchment. You're familiar, of course, with the delights [and economy] of cooking several vegetables in one pot, each retaining its identity by the use of separate parchment wrappings, but have you tried the same parchment as a refrigerator wrapping? It, too, most successfully prevents an exchange of odors. Since string is an elusive article in most kitchens and the scissors are always out of sight, we find it handy to keep a box of ordinary rubber bands around for neatly wrapping the parchment sheets, sack fashion, around the food.

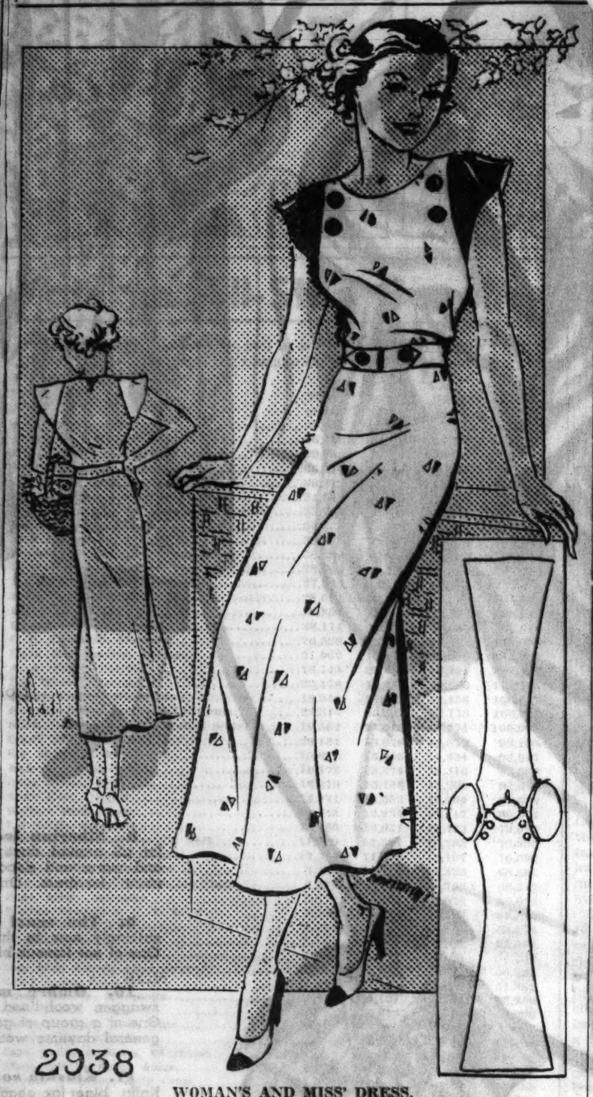

And, incidentally, although it's a bit off the subject, have you tried the same parchment for a dish cloth? Moistened, it's soft, pliable, and strong, and it makes a fine sanitary cloth for washing dishes. It may be used over and over, too, for it rinses clean in half a second and dries with surprising rapidity.

HAROLD TEEN—SHADOW IRKS THE TWERPS

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This smart one piece dress is ideally suited to washable materials. The small diagram illustrates how easy the frock is to cut and to make. No plaits to bother with in ironing, only the plain dress and tiny sleeves. The dress is slashed down in the back at the neck and the opening finished with a narrow, one piece strip, one side turned under for the faced hem and the opposite side allowed to extend. White piqué, with a nautical shade of blue for contrast, is suggested, and there are almost endless weaves from which to choose.

The pattern, No. 2938, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Dad's Objections Often Drive Youngsters to Wed Too Soon

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Dads, here's a letter that illustrates how a father should not act in face of a daughter's romantic entanglement.

"My boy friend and I had been going out together for a long time when my dad suddenly insisted that I see him no more. The only reasons that my father can offer for his objections are that the fellow is not making enough money to support a wife now, and the fact that my sweetheart courted another girl and got over it. My dad says he will do the same thing to me. The boy's father came to my home and told my dad that his boy loved me and wanted to know why he was objected to. My father gave the boy's father the same reasons he gives me.

"Now, this sweetheart of mine loves me. I know he does. There isn't a thing against his character that my dad can bring up, or anybody else, either. We can't marry yet. I know that. So does the boy. But he's doing everything he can to make progress on his job so we can marry early. If my father would let us keep company we would be perfectly willing to wait a couple of years to get married, but if he is going to hold us down the way he plans we will run away. Anyway, we'll see each other somehow.

"Can you suggest a way out, for I don't want to bring down parental wrath. My mother is reasonable, but she's afraid of dad's bad temper, and he threatens to walk out on her if she gives us young people any encouragement. MIRA."

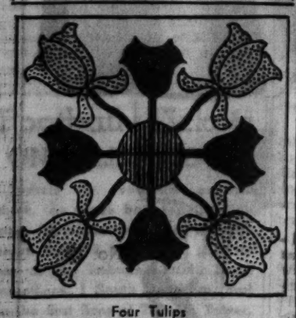

A perfect picture of a dad who is going to drive two young people to commit a folly, matrimony, before they're financially prepared for it, or perhaps get mixed up in something else.

Some of you male parents haven't the sense with which you were born. You go along for some eighteen, twenty, or more years practically ignoring your girls. Then let a young man cross the threshold and what a big bad paternal act you do put on! All of those years, when you might have been making a companion and confidante of that girl of yours, when you might have been giving her the benefit of a little first hand knowledge about what it means to marry and maintain a home and choose a good mate, you let escape. But you're right there with the big disapproving act when the girl acts on her own judgment.

There's nothing against a young man just because he had a previous romance with a girl before he met your daughter. There's nothing against him for his present income, either. Get in, you big spoil sport, and give that pair of youngsters a hand. Let them see each other. Get in and guide them. Don't put all your parental authority into blocking them

Colorful Tulips Lend Beauty to Applique Quilt

Four Tulips

BY NANCY CABOT.

Tulips are among the most colorful flowers in any garden or quilt. They come in such a wide color range that a coverlet may be as brilliant or as delicate as desired. The "Four Tulips" block is a simple applique pattern which originated in Virginia. It was one of the more recent designs produced in that state.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

grossed in her six week old baby, Nancy, born at the Passavant hospital on the same day as Nancy Dennehy and Nancy Fetzer, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Dennehy, and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Fetzer Jr., respectively. Mrs. Drake is trying also to get the question of moving settled before her English cousins, Elna and Tom Crawford, arrive to visit the Bremner clan for the rest of the summer and autumn.

Miss Crawford and her brother, who live in Newcastle, England, have many friends in Chicago, and since this is not their first visit here they will doubtless be given a big welcome in the way of parties. They will divide their time visiting various members of Alice's family, the David F. Bremners.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake, who are living at 70 Cedar street this summer, are apartment hunting, and expect to take a lease somewhere on the near north side. They expect the Crawfords about the middle of August.

Chicagoans to Visit Jasper National Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Kelley of Lake Forest are vacationing at the Jasper National park in Alberta, Can.

Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie of Winnetka is another Chicagoland resident who will visit Jasper park this summer, although it will be late in the season when she does so, for she will stop there on her way home from the west coast, for which she leaves next Tuesday. She will visit her sister in Seattle first and then will go to San Mateo, Cal., to be with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds, former Chicagoans. Mrs. Ritchie's beautiful house on the Indian Hill grounds is rented until Nov. 1 to the former Elizabeth Beidler and her husband, Robert Carton of Belgium, who came to this country for the summer to be near her mother, Mrs. Francis Beidler of Lake Forest.

Since the Cartons moved into her house, Mrs. Ritchie has been with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Gordon, who live next door to Mrs. Ritchie. For the first time in several years the Gordons are remaining at home in the warm weather instead of going to the seashore.

The R. Douglas Stuarts left last night for their Wyoming ranch, accompanied by their son, R. Douglas Stuart Jr., a junior at Princeton, and daughter, Ann, who will enter Dobbs Ferry this fall; Harriet, and Margaret, Miss Nancy Poole, the Ralph H. Pooles' younger daughter, is going west on Aug. 11 to spend a few weeks with the Stuarts.

Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Waller are leaving today by motor for New Hampshire to spend a delightful two months in the east. After a visit in New Hampshire they will go to Greenwich, Conn., and from there to Cape Cod.

George A. Richardsons Going to California.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Morse [Margaret McLennan] returned recently from a visit with his sister and brother-in-law, the Rodman Lent Hookers [Barbara Morse] in San Mateo, Cal., and Mrs. George A. Richardson, Mr. Morse's and Mrs. Hooker's mother, is going out to San Mateo next Monday. Mr. Richardson will follow her to remain as long as possible. Mrs. Richardson will stay six weeks with the Hookers.

The Herbert E. Bradleys lingered longer than they had planned with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Davey, in Santa Fe, so they just have gone to California, where the San Diego fair is their main objective. The former Alice Bradley and her husband are summering on the New Mexico ranch of his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, who are on a North Cape cruise with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick. The McCormicks will return home the middle of August. The date for the Bradleys' return is not definite.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence and his son, John B. Lawrence, left their home in Winnetka Friday to spend the rest of the summer on the Upper St. Regis lake in the Adirondacks. Mrs. Lawrence's daughter, Miss Nancy Blaine, is on a ranch in Arizona for the season.

Chicagoans to Sail for Europe Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hyman are going to complete the summer with a European trip, on which they will embark Wednesday on the S. S. Washington. They are going over with their good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoppenheimer.

When the Normandie sails out past the Statue of Liberty the same day it will have on board several Chicagoans vacation bound. Miss Mary Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner of Lake Forest, will be on her way to Europe. Others who have chosen this sailing include Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Smith [Louise Dewey], the Chauncey McCormicks, with their three sons, Charles, Brooks, and Roger; the George Woodruffs, and Mrs. James M. Hopkins and her daughter, Kay Goodman.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

INSTALMENT XLIII.
WHITHER THOU GOEST.

Singling Chris out in the flickering light, Ysabel ran across to him. He put his arm around her with a proud, protective air that explained better than any words how matters stood between them.

"Tell them what you were about to say when the earthquake came," he whispered.

With a long, quivering breath, Ysabel faced Señor Alvado.

"I want to tell you that I will relinquish all claim to the Alvado ranch on one condition."

There was dead silence as Señor Alvado fixed his eyes on Ysabel.

"What is that condition?"

"That we will be friends and that the feud shall cease."

There was a breathless silence as Señor Alvado leaned down and took Ysabel's hand in his.

"You are generous, my little cousin," the liquid Spanish held a caressing note, "we will not forget."

An hysterical "Brava!" from some one broke the spell and the next minute the room rang with cheers as Guido and José followed their father's example.

Through the excitement Francesca made her way over to Ysabel and Chris and, with tears glistening in her eyes, held a hand out to each.

"Forgive me! I was a shallow fool! But tonight has taught me not to play with love!"

A glance brought Roberto to her side and four handclasps sealed the pact of future friendship.

"And now," Señor Alvado looked ten years younger as his voice rang out with all his old assurance, "we will spread the news that the Alvado-Ortega feud is ended."

He gazed searchingly for a moment at Chris. "You have no other official duties here, Señor Sheriff?"

Chris hesitated. Should he push his authority further and arrest the vaqueros whom he knew were guilty? After all they were the victims of the passions of the families they served. If the feud was to end, why not give them another chance?

"None, Señor," he answered finally. "When Ramon Ortega has paid the penalty, the past shall be a closed book."

With excited volubility the guests crowded up with ejaculations and congratulations before dispersing to carry the glad news of the end of the feud.

Pietro Sanchez was one of the last to leave. He stood a moment before Chris, a half smile on his round, swarthy face.

"So, amigo! You win! I salute you! And also, I eat my words!" The smile broke out in earnest as he glanced at Ysabel, then back to Chris and his beady black eyes twinkled above the rolls of fat. "After all, you will be present at the wedding of the beautiful Ysabel!"

With a knowing nod he picked up the lantern that Señor Alvado had set beside one of the pillars and ponderously made his way out, leaving Ysabel and Chris alone in the darkness and silence of the court.

Above them the stars shone with a serenity that made the terrors of the last hour seem an impossible nightmare, while the reality of this moment when they were at last alone together was supreme.

Chris put his two hands on Ysabel's shoulders and scanned her face in the starlight.

"Sweetheart!" he gently drew her closer, and his lips caressed her hair, then sought her lips for confirmation of the love he read in her luminous eyes.

With a quivering sigh Ysabel leaned against him and the blissful moment mingled with the sighing of the waves and the shining of the stars.

A shout from outside snatched Chris rudely back to the present.

"I must get Ramon Ortega to Monterey at once," his voice was strained with the undercurrent of emotion that still held him, "Will you follow with Rocky?"

Ysabel slipped her hand in his.

"To the end of the world," she whispered as they passed out of the court, leaving it to the song of the sea and the stars.

Mothers Must Train Daughters Early in Beauty Development

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's a safe guess that the youngsters 6, 7, and 8 years old, ten years hence will be gorgeous looking young women. And I don't mean only the society youngsters, either. These last named always have had the advantage of early care in such matters as having their hair brushed and looked after, teeth straightened and looked after, dancing lessons early for grace, and the countless other things that go to make an attractive young woman.

One used to hear people say: "Well, with all that money, why shouldn't she look well?" But the tune is changing to "Without all that money why shouldn't she look well?" There's a certain little shaver of 3, known to me through a domestic service job her mother holds. That mother said to me, not long ago: "My mother thought it was enough to bring me up to be a good girl. My girl, in so far as I'm able, is going to be good, and good looking!"

Yesterday's mothers didn't have the advantage that today's mother of a 6, 7, or even 1, 2, 3 year old has. These little ones get off to a good start at the nursery clinics; free service for the asking. This domestic service parent of whom I speak already knows as much about teeth care and bone and body building requirements as is necessary to put her youngster on the way to adult beauty as any woman I know.

And, what's more, she puts her knowledge into practice on her little Louise. Vanity isn't the obsession, either. That mother wisely has determined that the handicap she herself suffered over her physical disabilities shall not be part of her girl's life. She'll equip the child, she promises, with good straight limbs and feet, good teeth, good skin, good health, so that she can go straight ahead from there.

This mother reminded me of the importance of early care of the hair. What she has done with her little girl's hair by brushing it daily is unbelievable. The child's hair is gorgeous and it started out as an unpromising head of stringy looking hair.

You mothers endow your youngsters with toothbrushes. And see that they use them! Now, I urge you to present them with their own hairbrushes and see that they brush the hair just as conscientiously, daily. They're making excellent brushes now for child use, and just as surely as early teeth care will present them grown up with a lovely row of pearls, so will their hair respond with equal glory to this childhood brushing habit.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Hollywood, Cal.—[Special.]—One of the most lovable characters to be met in all of movieland [and if you think this is a compact place we invite you to travel the dizzy distances from one studio to another] is a tiny little woman known as Mother Coulter, who is boss of the woman's wardrobe ranch at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. She's within bowing distance of 70, but if you saw her in her realm you'd know the rocking chair hasn't got her.

Years and years ago she was in what now seems quaintly termed as comic opera. She always had a flair with the scissors. When it was necessary to contrive a costume out of practically nothing, she could visualize it and cut it. She always knew what she wanted in costumes and could outline their execution, though she is no seamstress herself.

She's been helping movies meet their costume problems for twenty years. Right now, at M-G-M, where period pictures are rampant, she has 58 seamstresses doing her bidding in the matter of gowns and hats. She does all the ordering of fabrics and you can't trip her on a matter of period detail. She knows to the last stitch what sort of gown a lady of the "Tale of Two Cities" might have worn and she knows to the last gasp what a chorus girl of "Broadway Melody of 1936" might be expected to wear, or at least to wear in a manner of keeping wisps on.

She's just a honey—something sweet and sane and unique in Hollywood. Looking like something out of a period picture herself, she showed us through her large and important department. She doesn't know—or doesn't recognize—the hectic. As she does her rounds the telephone buzzes. The publicity department wants a witch's hat; a certain director wants a Chinese kimono; there is a crying need for a pair of brown suede gloves in the portrait gallery, where they make fashion photographs. She knows where everything is. She issues orders, answers questions, and plays the hostess with the greatest of ease.

Does she have any ideas about the prettiest period? You bet she does. To her way of thinking there is nothing like the '60s. You can't beat femininity, the lavender and old lace touch for appeal, she thinks. She doesn't put it in so many words, but you definitly have the impression that she would like to see ladies dress like ladies, with modesty the keynote.

Her weakness on the lot is Norma Shearer. Norma, it seems, is a gentle, sweet person who takes fittings without fidgeting—and besides she looked marvelous in the costumes for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." In the eyes of Lucia Coulter, who has seen fashions and femmes come and go, there's a great deal to be said for both attributes. ELEANOR NANGLE.

SOUTH'S VOTES GIVE THOMAS LEAD IN POLL

BY ARCH WARD.

Frank Thomas of Alabama yesterday was swept into first place in the national football coaches' poll by a flurry of voting activity in Birmingham that boosted his total nearly 35,000 points overnight. He now leads Elmer Layden of Notre Dame by more than 11,000 points for the position of head coach of the College All-Americans who will meet the Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 29 in the second annual All-Star charity game.

Among those who cast ballots last week-end in the poll conducted by the Birmingham News and Age Herald was Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, who had this to say:

"I do not know the formalities that are involved, but I want to register my vote for Frank Thomas. I feel strongly that he is worthy of the honor of leading the team that will represent the colleges of America against the Bears in the Chicago contest."

Mill Cities for Thomas.

Thomas, whose Alabama team shared national championship honors with Minnesota last season, is being supported stoutly in Atlanta, Ga., and other southern cities. He is a top-heavy favorite in the populous steel mill district of Hammond, Indiana Harbor, East Chicago, and Gary.

Twelve thousand employés of the Inland Steel company tomorrow will cast a solid vote for Thomas, who used to work in the plant during summer vacations while he was attending East Chicago High school. Thomas' father was a roller there for years.

Nine votes for Thomas already have been recorded from Merthatydbal, Wales, sent by relatives. Six votes from London, cast by former East Chicago friends, also have been received for the Alabama coach. Thomas' father was born in Wales.

Dr. Spears Right Up There.

There is little doubt but that Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin will be up front the rest of the way until the poll closes next Sunday at midnight. He is getting the undivided support of Wisconsin fans and is running far ahead in two or three Illinois cities, notably Bloomington and Kewanee. Spears also is getting a good vote in Minneapolis, where he used to coach the University of Minnesota eleven, but Bernie Bierman naturally is the front runner there. The Wisconsin leader is second choice on most of the ballots marked for Thomas in the steel mill district.

The drives to elect Bierman, Charles Bachman of Michigan State, Bo McMillin of Indiana, Slip Madigan of St. Mary's, and Francis Schmidt of Ohio State have gathered so much momentum that it is impossible to predict with anything approaching certainty the ultimate winners. The first three in the final standings will be invited to handle the squad. If one or more are unable to accept, the men next in line will be asked to serve. The head coach will have the right to bring along an assistant from his own school.

Heavy Vote for Madigan.

San Francisco, one of the hottest football centers in America, is rolling up an overwhelming vote for Madigan. One day's returns from there gave him 14,485, as compared to 1,912 for Tiny Thornhill of Stanford, second choice. Spud Lewis of San Francisco university had 1,576, Clipper Smith of Santa Clara, 1,336; Stub Allison of California, 1,136, and Howard Jones of Southern California, 1,128.

Jock Sutherland is picking up a good vote in the east, particularly in Pittsburgh. Jimmy Conzelman of Washington university is the favorite in St. Louis and Robert Zuppke of Illinois is running second. Charles Bachman is far ahead in Kansas City. Bo McMillin is leading Chet Wynne of Kentucky, 3 to 1, in Louisville, and is scoring heavily throughout Indiana. Layden, Thomas, and Madigan are running in that order at Freeport, Ill.

Loop Sale Opens Today.

Ticket orders have been received from points as remote as California and Texas. The loop sale opens this morning at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn, and they also will be available in the service office of Tribune Tower. All price sections, $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10, still are available, but the supply of $2.20 seats is expected to be exhausted within 48 hours.

Football Tickets ON SALE IN LOOP

Tickets for football's greatest show, the game between the College All-Americans and Chicago Bears Aug. 29, will be on sale today at The Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn, and on the first floor of Tribune Tower.

Thousands already have ordered by mail, but there still are 65,000 available. The prices are $2.20, $1.65, and $1.10. All are reserved. If you can't get to a ticket office, make out a check or money order to The Chicago Tribune and mail your application to Football Ticket Manager, Chicago Tribune.

CATHOLIC YOUTH BOUTS.

AMATEUR boxers of Chicago will match their skill and stamina against amateur boxers of New York at Wrigley field Wednesday night in the Catholic Youth organization intercity events, an event patterned in many respects after THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves contests.

BISHOP SHEIL.

While other writers tell of the respective chances of the opposing teams, The Wake chooses to survey this C. Y. O. movement because of our long-standing belief that sportsmanship and a sporting regard for the right of others should be the foundation of amateur competition.

The C. Y. O. was founded in 1930 by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago. It sought to provide Chicago youth with recreation, education and religion under the egis of the church, therefore under supervision and regulation.

Within five years C. Y. O. has attained an active membership of 30,000 boys and girls and an estimated indirect following of 200,000 young boys and girls within the archdiocese, embracing Chicago and closely adjacent territory.

Already the founder's idea has spread to New York, Cincinnati, Detroit, Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Dubuque, Fort Wayne, Salt Lake City, Louisville, San Francisco, Spokane, and other cities, with new branches being constantly formed. It is the most significant movement of its kind in the sports world.

At the risk of digressing from a strictly sports angle one may cite the aims:

To provide boys with safe means of athletic recreation, properly supervised and directed.

To inculcate in contestants self-mastery and discipline.

To bring within the church those boys and young men not reached by any other form of recreation.

To bring possibly wayward boys closer to parish priest and the church.

To instill a sense of solidarity and unity which finds expression in fellowship and the forming of new friends and spiritual ties.

To offer ambitious boys a specific goal in trying for the Bishop Sheil high school or college awards made annually.

An athletic league of 30,000 boys and girls taking part in its local program.

A social service furnishing 1,350,000 meals a year to homeless boys and young men.

The C. Y. O. hotels, 29th and Michigan, accommodating 300 young men under 25 years.

An educational program which provides 574 Bishop Sheil scholarships to leading Catholic high schools, colleges, art schools and business colleges.

Catholic Boy Scouts to the number of 8,000.

C. Y. O. Center gymnasium at 31 East Congress street, where approximately 2,000 boys receive boxing instruction.

That's a pretty extended development within five years. It's one reason why we regard further expansion of Bishop Sheil's idea with such interest.

WHITE SOX BEAT BROWNS, 14 TO 6; LOSE SECOND, 4-3

St. Louis Rally Chases Whitehead in Ninth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 28.—The humble Browns turned on the White Sox at the last minute this afternoon and ruined what the latter had reason to expect was going to be a highly satisfactory day despite the heat. The third place Chicagoans captured the first half of a double-header by the easy margin of 14 to 6, and then led down the stretch into the ninth inning of the second game. At this point the tail-enders asserted themselves, knocked John Whitehead from the mound, scored two runs and earned an even break, 4 to 3.

The initial game brought victory No. 12 into Ted Lyons' bag, but the 34 year old youngster was a long way from being his usual self, probably because of the temperature. Ted was in peril from start to finish, but was comfortably fixed against adversity because of what his pals had done to a trio of Browns pitchers in the second inning. They hung up a cluster of ten runs, exceeding by one their best previous rally of the year.

14 Bat in Big Inning.

The ten run second inning was such an extensive affair that three pitchers—Ivy Andrews, Russ Van Atta and Elton Walkup—weren't able to bring about a halt until fourteen batters had appeared at the plate. Nine of them hit safely and two walked. Lyons had a hand in the rumpus to the extent of two doubles, driving in four runs. Sewell contributed a single and a two-bagger, and Dykes a pair of singles. Prior to this elaborate display of hits Zeke Bonura had knocked homer No. 19 in the first inning after one run had already been scored.

Whitehead's dismissal in the ninth inning of the second game climaxed the most hectic afternoon of his brief major league career. He yielded one or more hits in every inning, but despite this carried into the sixth before letting the Browns nibble at a lead his mates had taken over Jack Knott. They scored once in that inning, mainly because of a bad bit of fielding. They scored again in the eighth on clean drives, and then, before anybody was out in the ninth, tied the score when Julius Solters hit the first pitch for a homer into the distant center field bleachers.

Wyatt Goes In.

Mainly because Whitehead had been unusually artistic about dodging serious damage, Manager Dykes didn't regard the homer as a tipoff on the weakening of the big Texan. But when Coleman singled to center and West singled to right there was a hurried change, Whitlow Wyatt was rushed into the breach. He threw out Coleman at third on Hemsley's bunt. He walked Clift, filling the bases, and then, with the infield drawn in, Carey singled past Piet to score West with the winning run.

It was Whitehead's ninth defeat.

FIRST GAME

The scoring of two runs by the Sox in the opening inning of the first game was quite simple. Piet tripled into

LOOK FOR MILE RECORD TODAY AT ARLINGTON

BY FRENCH LANE.

There may be some goings-on at the Arlington Park race course this afternoon that will make good reading when chronicled on page 1935 of the turf history book.

Should perfect track and weather conditions prevail and the wind be blowing in the proper direction—it should be wafting in from the southwest—then the world's record for a mile made at Arlington by Equipoise three years ago may be in jeopardy when the Mohawk purse is run.

It engages such widely known flyers as St. Bernard, Paradisical, Pantoufle, Chief Cherokee and Gallaclay. All carry light imposts and as the rail-birds and clockers gathered at Arlington during the training hour yesterday morning a number of wagers were made that Equipoise's record of 1:34 2-5 is going to fall.

St. Bernard May Do It.

St. Bernard, the 3 year old son of Bull Dog-Eager Cissy owned by Dale Shaffer of Chicago, was the colt the experts on speed expected to see shatter the record.

They have based their findings on the dazzling speed St. Bernard has shown in his last two races. In one of them he won by five lengths eased up in a mile in 1:36. In the other he outran Omaha for the first mile in the Classic stakes. That one was around two turns. In the Mohawk, which is over the Hertz mile course, the field will make but one turn after the long straight run down the back stretch. When he ran his mile in 1:36 and finished eased up, St. Bernard carried 117 pounds. In the Classic he packed 121 pounds. In the Mohawk this afternoon his weight impost will be but 111 pounds.

Victory Will Be Enough.

Alex Gordon, who has conditioned St. Bernard since the colt came to the races, believes St. Bernard is one of the fastest horses in the world, but he doesn't know whether he can break the world's record today.

"I'll be satisfied if he wins the race for there are some other very fast horses in there, too," he said, and he's right about that, for Paradisical, the Kentucky Oaks winner, and Pantoufle, C. V. Whitney's 3 year old, both turned in miles last week in 1:35 4-5. Chief Cherokee and Gallaclay are no slow pokes, either.

Lake Shore A. C. Girls Win Tribune Swim Championship

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Hail the swimming champions of Chicagoland! Ten boys and girls earned gold medals yesterday afternoon in the finals of the 100 yard races which featured the sixth annual tournament sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at the Lincoln park lagoon. These ten champions undoubtedly form the greatest group of champions in the history of the races.

Not only were the times of the champions exceptional, but the competition was exceedingly keen. Less than a yard separated the first three finishers in several of the finals and the same furious competition marked the semi-finals which preceded the championships.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the first of the semi-final races for class A boys started from the float in the lagoon opposite the Lincoln Park Boat club. One hundred yards to the south were the finish barges. Along both banks of the lagoon, on the edge of the outer drive and on the stone bridge north of the starting line a crowd of 40,000 stood for nearly two hours to see the climax of the races.

Lake Shore Wins.

More might have attended, but they were unable to find vantage points. Few left before the championships were decided, and the places of these were eagerly sought by hundreds of people who milled around the blanketing groups along the banks of the lagoon.

The Lake Shore Athletic club girls won the team trophy in their division when Betty Betz led an assault which swept all three scoring positions in class D. These points were not enough, however, to earn the silver cup, but when Irene Kolman of Lake Shore came in second in class E, victory was assured by one point over the girls of the Community Recreation center.

Peggy Connelly of Comunity Recreation center captured the class A title with Lorraine Johnsen second. Patsy Heekin was second in class B for a total of 11 points as compared to 12 points for the Lake Shore A. C. Miss Heekin was beaten in the last ten yards of the title race by Betty Wyle of the Lake Shore Country club.

An Olympic Candidate.

Her stirring finish which rang up the remarkable time of 1:11.3 for 100 yards not only brought her a gold medal but this 14 year old girl swam 100 yards faster than any other of the finalists regardless of age. Wally Colbath, her coach, predicts Miss Wyle will have an excellent chance next year to win a berth on the United States Olympic team.

Harriet Vance of the Peoria Country club, last year's class B champion, won the title in class C for girls 15 and 16 years of age, although she is only 14 years of age. Miss Betz, class D winner, also was in an advanced age group because of the rule which prohibits a champion from competing twice in the same age classification.

Catherine Ribovich of Whiting Community Service was the best of the class E girls, and added another gold medal to her collection.

Two University of Chicago swimmers, Chuck Wilson and Jay Brown, finished first and second in class E. Their point score defeated the Lawson Y. M. C. A. team. Irving McCaffery of Lawson won the class D title, while Bruce Van Euren took third for Lawson in class C.

Peoria Entries Strong.

Richard Anderson of Peoria Country club won the class B title. Thus the Peoria swimmers scored more points in all ten finals than any other organization, but failed to win a trophy

Root Goes Route to Score No. 9.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The brutal and effervescent Cubs yesterday boosted their winning streak to nine straight when they swept their four game series with the Cincinnati Reds by winning easily, 11 to 7, before 11,500. Despite the triumph the Cubs lost half a game to the New York Giants, who shut out Brooklyn twice. The day's activity left the Chicagoans one and a half games out of first place.

Charles Root, the boyish patriarch, went all the way to register his sixth straight victory in the home stand, which ended with yesterday's game. It was Pappy Root's ninth favorable verdict, as contrasted with a grand total of four which he accumulated last year.

The decision over the Reds was their 11th in 15 games against the Rhinelanders. And while all Cub accomplishments inspire statistics these days it may as well be added here that the Cubs won 20 out of 23 games played in the home stand just closed and 22 out of 25 since they opened their pennant drive in Pittsburgh on July 6. And if you want to make the record more imposing, set down that the Cubs have won 14 of their last 15 starts, and scored 13 runs and made 20 hits in the one game they lost in that span.

They're Getting Tough.

While at Wrigley field in their first stand against eastern clubs the Cubs did not take a series from invaders, unless you count as a series one game they played and won from the Dodgers. This stand they won five straight from the Braves, two out of four from the Phillies, four straight from the Giants, five straight after dropping the opener with the Dodgers, and four straight from the Reds.

The game yesterday held fewer thrills, perhaps, than any of the dozen games the Cubs had played since 1:30 o'clock on the Sabbath a week ago. Seven errors, four by the Cubs and three by the visitors, took some of the sparkle from the engagement. Root, though good enough to win, was not spectacular and the pitching of the five Red hurlers was nothing to please lovers of the national pastime.

It was a good day for the Cavarretta and Jurges marching and pleasure clubs, however. Cavarretta drove in the Cubs' first two runs with a triple in the first inning and he sent home his team's fourth and fifth runs with a single in the second inning. Jurges had four hits, one a double, and a walk, in five trips to the plate.

Schott Gets Lacing.

After Byrd had fanned to start the afternoon's show Goodman knocked his No. 11 homer. It was his second in two games. Babe Herman popped to Bill Herman, then Bottomley singled to right. The inning was over when Root threw out Riggs.

Cavarretta drove in two more runs in the second inning. Jurges beat out a bunt and Galan walked. The two pulled a double steal while Bill Herman was fanning for the second out of the inning. They came home when Cavarretta singled to right center. Cavarretta stole second, but Myers threw out Hartnett.

Jurges Shows Off.

A touch of exhibitionism got Jurges in the third inning and Bill's desire to show the customers something fancy

2 C. Y. O. BOXING TEAMS GUESTS AT BANQUET TONIGHT

Former World Champions Among Guests.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Boxing champions of the past and present, together with civic leaders and prominent business men, will gather at the Midwest Athletic club tonight for a banquet sponsored by the Catholic Youth organization. The assemblage will include those who are coöperating most actively in the presentation of the intercity boxing bouts between the Chicago Catholic Youth organization and the New York Catholic Boys' clubs, which are to be held Wednesday evening at Wrigley field.

Prominent among the guests will be Gene Tunney, who retired undefeated from the heavyweight boxing throne. Tunney will arrive today and will officiate at the intercity bouts. Tony Canzoneri and Bennie Leonard, present and former lightweight champions respectively, and Barney Ross, welterweight titleholder, will be present tonight and also will referee some of the fights. Jimmy Braddock, present heavyweight champion, will be unable to get to the banquet, but has promised to be here Wednesday in time to help with the officiating.

Horner to Speak.

The Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and director of the C. Y. O., will welcome the visitors. The gathering will be addressed by Gov. Henry Horner, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. Among the business leaders who have promised to attend are Stuyvesant Peabody, Bernard J. Fallon, D. F. Kelly, John S. Gleason, Matthew J. Hickey, and Byron V. Kanaley.

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, and Joseph Triner, chairman of the Illinois Boxing commission, will be present.

Boxers Wind Up Drill.

Meanwhile, secluded from banquets and other social activities, the two boxing teams around which all this excitement centers, are putting the finishing touches on their training. Packy McFarland, who is in charge of the Chicago squad of 60 boxers in training at a Lockport camp, is expected to announce his selections for the team today. Each city will be represented by sixteen fighters—two in each division. The New Yorkers have been training at the Midwest Athletic club since their arrival Wednesday, but their work has been comparatively light inasmuch as they had been in camp for a couple of weeks before making the trip west.

Louis Down to Weight; Takes Day's Layoff

Joe Louis will take a recess today, his first since he opened training at the Savoy outdoor arena more than a week ago for a ten round bout with King Levinsky at Comiskey park Aug. 7. Trainer Jack Blackburn ordered the respite after the 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves champion stepped on the scales after yesterday's drill and balanced 196½ pounds.

"That's fine," Blackburn beamed. "Overnight he'll jump back to 198, the weight at which we want him to face Levinsky."

Nevertheless, today will not be all play for Louis. He'll arise as usual at 5 a. m. to do four or five miles of roadwork in Washington park. In the afternoon Louis, Blackburn, Co-Managers Julian Black and John Roxborough, and Dr. Nicholas A. Diggs will play a round of golf in Jackson park.

Stops Two Partners.

Louis boxed against five sparring partners yesterday, after engaging in several rounds of shadow boxing, bag punching, and rope skipping. He stopped Jack Payne of Canada in 2 minutes, went a round each with James Clanton, Arthur Oliver, and Tom Jones, then knocked out James Scarbough in 1 minute. About 700 watched the drill.

Louis will resume drills at Savoy arena tomorrow and they will be continued daily until the day before the bout unless an additional layoff becomes necessary.

KING RESTS, TOO

King Levinsky, spurred by a large audience yesterday, turned in his most impressive performance since he went into training at his Round Lake camp for his bout with Joe Louis at Comiskey park Aug. 7.

Consummate showman that he is, the King was apparently bent on impressing his audience. He boxed five fast rounds with his three sparring partners, climaxing the performance by knocking Jack Redmond, husky Negro heavyweight, to his knees with a right to the heart.

King Down to Weight.

On the strength of yesterday's showing the King's handlers plan to give him a rest today. King has worked diligently during his week at the Round Lake camp and Trainer Izzy Klein feels that the young man deserves a rest.

King will probably return to Chicago to see the Cubs play and take in a movie, returning later to his cottage hideout at Round Lake, where he will remain until the day of the fight.

194 BEGIN PLAY IN PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY TODAY

Indianapolis, Ind., July 28.—(AP)—A field of 194 golfers will open a week's play tomorrow in the national public links tournament.

The entry list, while not a numerical record breaker, is the most representative in 14 years of the tourney's history. Twenty states, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii are represented. Dave Mitchell, Indianapolis salesman, is the individual champion, while the Los Angeles team consisting of Bruce McCormick, Don Erickson, Johnny Ross, and George Lance holds the team title. The champions are defending their titles, the Los Angeles quartet seeking its third straight victory.

gave the visitors a run. With two out, Goodman was hit by a pitched ball, Babe Herman grounded to Jurges near second and all Jurges had to do was step on second to force Goodman. Bill, however, figured that this would be too commonplace for his public, so he cut loose a bullet throw toward first. The ball sailed high over Cavarretta's head into the dugout, Goodman reaching third and Babe Herman second. A wild pitch enabled Goodman to score and Babe Herman to take third. The inning ended when Demaree made a nice running catch of Bottomley's drive.

The Cubs batted around in their third, netting themselves four runs on an error by Kampouris, singles by Klein and Hack, an error by Riggs, which loaded the bases, and singles by Galan and Bill Herman.

Reds Become Impudent.

The Reds became impudent in the fourth, scoring three runs. Riggs singled to left and, after Campbell had flied to Klein, Myers grounded to Root, who made a high throw to second in an effort to force Riggs. Kampouris fanned for the second time. Sullivan batted for Derringer and doubled to right, scoring Riggs and Myers. Byrd singled to center, scoring Sullivan, but Goodman grounded out to Cavarretta.

A single by Jurges and Bill Herman's No. 33 double, both off Johnson, netted the Cubs a run in the fifth, and a walk to Hack, a stolen base by Hack and Jurges' third hit, a double to right, were good for another marker in the sixth.

Campbell singled to right with one out in the eighth and stopped at third when W. Herman dropped Myers' pop fly in short right. Kampouris singled off Hack's glove, Campbell scoring. Lombardi batted for Frey and singled to center, scoring Myers and putting Kampouris on third. Hollingsworth ran for Lombardi, but Byrd struck out.

Cubs Rest Up Today to Open in Pittsburgh

The pennant hungry Cubs will have a day off today, and tonight at 11:15 o'clock they will leave the Union station for their third visit to Pittsburgh. Larry French will go after his 11th victory of the season tomorrow and victory No. 10 in the Cubs' current winning streak.

When Galan reached first in the third inning yesterday it was the fifteenth time in sixteen trips to the plate that he had arrived there.

The Cubs not only advertised the coming Sox-Cleveland series on the score board but anounced it over the public address system.

Nine names were entered in the pitchers' spot in the Reds' batting order—five pitchers, three pinch batters and one pinch runner.

Assure Open Duck Season for This Year

BY BOB BECKER.

There will be an open season on ducks in 1935. So says J. N. [Ding] Darling, chief of the United States biological survey, in a copyrighted article appearing in the Sportsman magazine published today.

This statement confirms the announcement first published in this department about four weeks ago that American sportsmen would be permitted to shoot ducks during the coming season. Darling, who was in Chicago at the time, told us during the course of a 30 minutes interview that 1935 would not be a closed season.

Plan Special Restrictions.

In the pronouncement regarding a short open season, Darling mentions restricted bag limits and "special shooting restrictions" for the prairie states to protect locally reared ducks. What these special restrictions will be has not been specified.

In his article, Darling does not say how long the season will be open but we will make the guess that middle western duck shooters will get about 30 days of shooting, either straight, "diluted," or otherwise. In discussing the forthcoming season, Darling says: "Locally bred ducks are always easy picking for even the poorest of marksmen. This has added a material problem to the shooting regulations this season. The first day of the season on locally reared ducks is always more or less a slaughter. Few of the young local ducks survive the opening week. That must be avoided at all costs this year and until our nesting surplus has come back to normal. There is going to be a lot of grumbling in the prairie states over the restrictions necessary to protect the locally bred ducks until they have moved out.

Must Prevent Extinction.

"We are getting after the unregulated market shooter. Those who kill for food in remote regions will probably always remain beyond the control of any regulatory agency. They are least subject to criticism. Trapping and shooting ducks for market is another thing entirely. Ducks and migratory birds can no longer stand the strain of commercialism."

Ed Linke Quits Hospital; Goes Home with Senators

Tietje to Face Coffman, Browns in Final Today

St. Louis, Mo., July 28.—Les Tietje will oppose the Browns tomorrow in the final of the White Sox road tour. Manager Dykes had thought of starting Johnny Salveson in this game but has decided to delay that experiment. Tietje's opponent probably will be Dick Coffman, whom the Sox knocked out in one-third of an inning yesterday.

The heat was too much for Umpire Red Ormsby. He completed his work behind the plate in the first game, but couldn't come up for the second battle. Ormsby's place was filled by Conlan of the Sox and Bejma of the Browns.

Al Simmons, who suffered an injury to his left groin last Wednesday at Philadelphia, was sent home tonight for examination by the club physician.

For a few minutes in the third inning of the first game it looked as if the Sox might add another cripple to the list. In chasing a wild pitch, Sewell slipped on the wooden cover of a field drain. He twisted his right leg, but was able to continue play.

This two run lead became a 2 to 2 tie after the Browns had their first glimpse of Lyons. For a starter Dykes fumbled Lary's grounder, and Burns walked. They advanced on Solter's infield out and scored when Pepper popped a single into center.

Appling Starts Parade.

The second inning circus in which ten Chicagoans paraded across the plate began with a single by Appling. Dykes also singled, Sewell doubled, and Lyons doubled. That much accounted for three runs and dispatched Andrews to the showers. Van Atta stepped in, but not for long. Radcliff singled and Piet walked to fill the bases. Haas singled to drive Lyons home, leaving the bases loaded for Walkup, who succeeded Van Atta.

Walkup got Bonura and Washington out of the way on pop ups and then the firing broke loose again. Appling walked, forcing Radcliff to score. Dykes singled for the second time, Piet and Haas scoring. Sewell singled and Appling scored. Lyons doubled again, scoring Dykes and Sewell, the same two fellows who registered on Ted's first two bagger. There was a sigh of relief when Radcliff fouled to Hemsley for the third out.

Lyons Coasts Along.

Lyons gave up two hits and two passes in the third, but the Browns could get only one run from this assortment. They picked up one more in the fourth on singles by Walkup and Solters. A single by Bonura and double by Hopkins, who relieved Dykes at third, scored one for the Sox in the sixth, making the score 13 to 4. In their half of the sixth the Browns countered with one run on a triple by Lary and single by Burns. Another was added when West hit a homer in the seventh, but Lyons was still ahead by 13 to 6, so there was no reason to worry.

The Sox were at it again in the eighth. They scored their 14th run on a two bagger by Washington and single by Hopkins.

SECOND GAME

The Sox had a run off Knott in the second game before he had made a half dozen pitches. Radcliff opened with a two bagger to center and scored a moment later on Piet's single over second. Haas sacrificed Piet to second, but the latter was out trying to steal third and Bonura fouled to Lary.

Two more hits popped off the Sox bats in the second and one run scored, making it 2 to 0. Washington led off with a two base liner into left, went to third while Carey was throwing out Appling, and scored on Hopkins' single to center.

The Browns finally broke in with a run in the sixth, but through no particular skill on their part. Carey doubled to right after Clift had been tossed out. Knott fouled to Shea. Lary sailed a long fly into left, but Radcliff misjudged it and what should have been an out drifted over his head for a triple, Carey scoring.

Sox Step Out Again.

The Sox returned the two run lead to Whitehead in the seventh. Bonura doubled against the right field wall and moved to third when Washington singled off Burns' glove. Zeke dashed home on Appling's fly to Coleman.

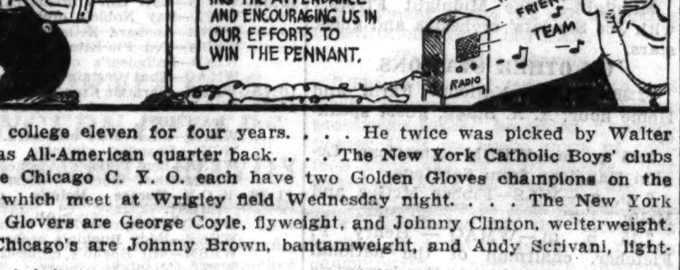

Happily for Whitehead a double play was perpetrated by his teammates in the eighth. Because of this the enemy scored only once despite three hits, the last of which was a phony triple. Clift opened with a single over short and took third on Carey's single to right center. Pepper was ushered forth to swing for Knott and bounced to Piet for the double play, Clift scoring. Then Lary singled to right, but it became a triple when Washington, while pursuing the ball, skidded on the seat of his pants. It proved harmless when Burns grounded to Piet. But the ninth was different.

Talking It Over

THE Cubs have not wavered on their attitude toward radio broadcasts of games at Wrigley field, despite the stand of New York clubs, which ban them. . . . During the years Mr. Wrigley's Los Angeles team led the Pacific Coast league in attendance its games were broadcast. . . . There have been no radio reports on Los Angeles games this season and the club is trailing the league in attendance. . . . Seattle, which is broadcasting this year for the first time, tops the league in paid customers. . . . Many Los Angeles fans resent the decision of the club to play no more spring games with major league teams and the decline in attendance may be traceable in part to this. . . . Roy Henshaw of the Cubs recently received a letter from an inmate of the Iowa state prison demanding that the great injustice recently done him be righted at once. . . . GIANTS CAPTURE DOUBLE-HEADER FROM DODGERS

Hubbell and Castleman Score 6-0, 1-0 Victories.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 28.—(AP)—Two brilliant pitching exhibitions, each helped by a home run, enabled the New York Giants to increase their hold on first place today as they defeated Brooklyn's Dodgers twice before a crowd of more than 27,000. The scores were 6 to 0 and 1 to 0.

Joe Moore's home run with two on in the first game encouraged Carl Hubbell in his five hit exhibition, while Mel Ott's 23d home run of the season provided the only run of the second game, in which Clydell Castleman held the Dodgers to four hits. Castleman had been inactive since July 6 because of a cracked bone in his throwing hand. Score:

BODIES OF 4 AIR VICTIMS BROUGHT BACK FOR BURIAL

Hold Inquest on Crash in Milwaukee Today.

The bodies of four Chicagoans who were killed when the plane in which they were riding crashed Saturday near Milwaukee were returned here yesterday for funeral services. An inquest to determine the cause of the accident has been set for tomorrow at Milwaukee by Coroner Frank J. Schultz.

The wrecked airplane, which did not catch fire when it struck the ground, was removed to a hangar in the Curtiss Wright airport, 10 miles northwest of Milwaukee, near the scene of the accident. An examination of it is to be made by federal inspectors of the department of commerce. Aviators attached to the airport and farmers who witnessed the fatal plunge have been summoned to appear at the inquest.

Plunges 400 Feet to Earth.

According to witnesses, the pilot of the plane, a Stinson four seater cabin, which had taken off from the Curtiss-Reynolds airport at Glen View an hour before the tragedy, was preparing to land at the airport when about 400 feet above the ground it nosed down and crashed, propeller first, into the ground. The occupants were instantly killed.

The victims were Robert M. Henschen, 30 years old, 725 Walden avenue, Winnetka, the pilot; William H. Services for Tengberg will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Chrysostom's church, 1424 North Dearborn street. He will be buried in the Irving Park cemetery. Services for Henschen will be held at the Graceland cemetery chapel at 4:15 p. m. tomorrow.

Arrangements for Ennis' funeral have not been completed.

Opposes Peek View on World Finance.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—(AP)—New figures to show that the United States owes less money to foreigners than it is owed were offered today by Secretary Roper.

DANIEL C. ROPER.

In contrast to the views of George N. Peek of the Export-Import bank, who recently questioned the nation's creditor position, the commerce secretary said in a foreword to his department's report on the balance of international payments in 1934:

"Despite substantial repatriations of foreign dollar bonds in recent years, and numerous defaults, the long term international creditor position of the United States is emphatically demonstrated by the fact that our annual receipts on investment account were approximately three and one-half times the estimated interest and dividend payments by this country to residents of foreign countries on their investments in the United States."

Value of Debts.

On May 5 Peek reported to President Roosevelt that the nation's creditor position "appears to depend" on the true value of defaulted war debts and out of date estimates of direct capital investments in foreign countries. The department's report foretold a "wide scale survey."

Roper conceded that the "abnormal character" of many international transactions in 1934, due to dollar devaluation and political unsettlement in several European "gold bloc" countries, made it "exceedingly difficult to identify or appraise the various movements involved."

He said, however, that American funds which were expatriated in 1933 returned after the dollar was revalued, and that European unsettlement periodically influenced the expatriation of foreign capital to the United States.

Due to Special Influences.

Roper said he viewed these movements as "due to special influences which will tend to correct themselves and not as indicators of a permanent trend in our international creditor-debtor position." His gauge—interest and dividends—showed that the country received $453,000,000 from abroad while paying out only $126,000,000.

The commerce secretary stressed that "while it is impossible to measure accurately the effect of the devaluation of the dollar upon our foreign trade, it is significant that the merchandise export balance of $478,000,000 was the largest since 1930.

"In actual value the year's exports of $2,133,000,000 exceeded those of 1933 by 27 per cent, while on a quantity basis they were 8 per cent larger. Total imports valued at $1,655,000,000 were approximately the same on a quantity basis but were 14 per cent higher in value."

Balance Is Offset.

But Roper added that the net cash claims resulting from the export-import balance were "substantially offset" by $340,000,000 which accrued to foreign credit in tourist expenditures, shipping, insurance, governmental transactions, and immigrant and other remittances.

The nation imported a net total of $1,351,000,000 in gold, silver, and foreign currency in the year, which Roper held was in part influenced by the merchandise export balance, which was more than twice as large as in 1933.

After four consecutive years of heavy withdrawals of short term banking funds, Roper reported a net inflow of $192,000,000 in 1934, while he said available data indicate that on long terms capital transactions the United States received $1,160,000,000 and made payments of $933,000,000.

Flow Is Reversed.

The department's report said the year's net inflow of $192,000,000 short term banking funds represented a "sharp reversal" of an outflow which had persisted since 1929 and assumed "substantial proportions" from 1930 to 1933.

"The balances and other short term banking assets carried in the United States by foreigners," the report explained, "had steadily declined from approximately $3,000,000,000 at the end of 1929 to $487,000,000 at the end of 1933."

At the end of 1934 our short term banking assets abroad exceeded liabilities on like account by approximately $400,000,000, the report continued, attributing the reversal in large part to stabilization of the dollar on a new gold basis.

Spring Wheat States Facing Cut in Harvest

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Developments last week leave little doubt that the four big wheat producing states of the northwest are facing another deficient wheat harvest. The Canadian crop as well is in peril. The combination of an excessively wet spring, followed by hot, muggy weather and a late harvest, has provided an ideal setting for black rust, with the result that the crop has experienced the worst damage from this blight in nearly 20 years.

At the beginning of July the United States gave promise of reentering the wheat export market. It appeared this country would raise 100 to 150 million bushels of wheat in excess of domestic needs. Today grain men believe the country will be lucky if this year's production is enough to cover requirements for the next twelve months. The advance in prices in the Chicago market tells the story as well as anything. On July 13 September wheat closed in Chicago at 80¼ cents a bushel. The same contract closed Saturday at 93 cents a bushel.

Damage Less in Canada.

Black rust has not reached the same stage of development in Canada as it has in this country. The later harvest in the dominion, however, leaves additional time in which this plague may develop. Estimates on the damage in this country are still indefinite but it is generally believed that the spring crop will fall well below 200 million bushels and much of the grain will be of a low grade variety.

It is even more difficult to reckon the probable Canadian depreciation. Before rust set in the Canadian crop gave promise of reaching 400 million bushels. That this figure will be substantially reduced is now generally agreed. For this reason the problem of disposing of the Canadian surplus which the government has set out to do may be greatly simplified.

Prices Up 7 Cents in Week.

The upturn last week in September wheat was slightly more than 7 cents a bushel, all of which came in the last two days of trading. The following table shows the range of prices for the week:

PACIFIC LIGHTING PROFITS SHOW SHARP INCREASE

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—The Pacific Lighting corporation and subsidiaries report for the twelve months ended on June 30 a consolidated net income of $7,688,285 after all deductions, equal to $4.05 a share on the outstanding common stock after preferred dividends. This compares with $2.27 a share earned in the preceding year.

Gross revenues were $47,317,101, an increase of $4,700,863, or 11 per cent, reflecting higher sales of domestic and commercial gas owing to greater than normal rainfall and extended cold weather in the first half of 1935 and a sharp increase in industrial gas revenues. Electric light and power returns also advanced.

An increase of 28,601 active domestic and commercial gas meters was reported, the total at the end of the twelve months reaching 763,238. Electric meters on the same date amounted to 160,382, a rise of 4,702, or 3 per cent.

The consolidated balance sheet at June 30 showed current assets of $17,618,238, against $11,422,411 a year earlier, and current liabilities of $9,336,136, against $9,111,184. Funded debt was $96,219,000, a reduction of $2,076,000.

FOREIGN OWNERS OF FRENCH BONDS MUST REGISTER

PARIS, July 28.—(AP)—Foreign owners of French bonds floated in the United States and Great Britain must register the certificates in Europe and the interest which they will receive has been cut 10 per cent under the provisions of Premier Laval's decree laws, the minister of finance announced today.

The bonds floated in the United States include 5½ per cent maturities in 1937 and 7½ per cent in 1941.

The bonds must be presented at the private bank of J. P. Morgan in New York or in Paris before Oct. 1, 1935, with proof of non-French ownership on July 17 when the laws became effective.

STOCK ACTIVITY IS MOSTLY DUE TO INVESTORS

Purchases for Long Pull Continue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 28.—It is gradually dawning on the Wall street stock jobbing fraternity that the prolonged buying movement which has been edging the market further and further ahead since the latter part of March has been for what the trade calls the long term pull—for investment rather than for speculative quick turn profit account.

There have been professional operations, to be sure, the brokers agree, and some of them probably could be classified as pool activity, but opinion seems pretty unanimous that such manipulation as has been attempted in isolated cases has not been of sufficient scope and aggressiveness to weigh heavily as a general market influence.

Margin Trading Light.

Margin trading has been comparatively light ever since the "anti-shoestring" requirements went into effect, and brokers agree that the long advance has resulted in no appreciable increase in speculation of this character.

This means, it is pointed out, that a big proportion of the buying has been of an outright purchase nature by investors able to pay in full and therefore immune to temporary market setbacks. This is considered a "healthy sign," and brokerage house letter writers and other commentators are making more and more of it as the days go by without bringing the serious reaction so long anticipated by professional Jeremiahs of the street.

Source of Funds.

The funds thus finding their way into the market are coming mainly, it is thought, from non-interest bearing bank deposits, but partly from called bonds or bonds selling at their callable prices. "Easy money awaiting investment" has been a stock phrase of the so-called stock expert ever since the New Deal began its wholesale spending in an effort to restore prosperity.

The confidence back of it all is based on the gradually improving tone of the current business news, the good reading corporation earnings accounts now coming to hand, the prospects that more and more of them will pay dividends in the nearby months to come, and a growing faith in the trade outlook for the early fall. Also the news from Washington grows a little more hopeful as the days go by and congress shows itself less and less inclined to accept radical legislation.

Business News Better.

Constructive forces continued in control of the situation last week, although enough profit taking developed to slow up the advance somewhat. Under the leadership of the steel and motor groups the list curved upward anew in the late trading yesterday, however, sixty-three of the 1,200-odd issues listed going to new high prices for the year or longer. The averages held above the 100 mark on four of the six trading sessions, finishing at 100.52.

Utility shares made a somewhat better showing for the week than usual and were particularly active on one or two days on the supposedly improved outlook on utility holding company legislation at Washington. The motors were led by Chrysler and General Motors, both of which corporations had good earnings to report for the first half of the year. Chrysler rose more than 5 points on the week. United States Steel gained 3 points, and Otis Steel nearly as much.

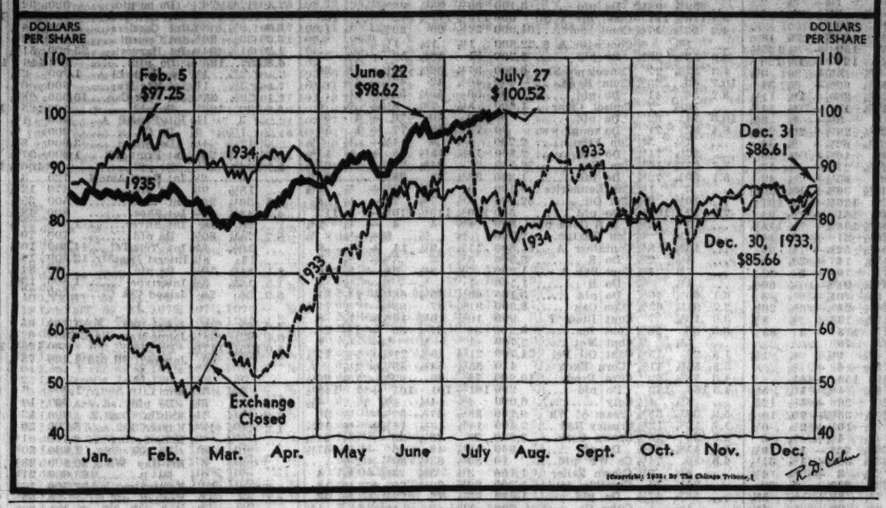

Others to Have Gains.

Other important corporations to help the list with better earnings reports for the second quarter included: Packard Motors, Borg-Warner, in auto accessories; Warner Brothers and Radio-Keith-Orpheum, in motion pictures; Illinois Bell Telephone; National Lead; Ward Baking; National Distillers; U. S. Gypsum, in building supplies; General Railway Signal and Allis-Chalmers, in the heavy industries; General Asphalt, and International Cement.

Transit Revenues Again Increase Over Last Year

Transit revenues for the week ended July 20 as reported by a representative group of companies continued to record improvement over last year, as shown by the Transit Journal indicator, which stands at 102.31 as compared with the corresponding week in 1934.

Rail Fare Cuts in East Seen as Inevitable

New York, July 28.—[Special.]—A reduction in the eastern passenger basic rate from the level at which it has stood since the post-war days is inevitable, eastern railway passenger traffic officials concede in discussing the recent finding of an interstate commerce commission examiner in favor of such a move. The railway men do not agree with the method of reduction proposed by the examiner, substituting instead a formula of their own.

In one respect the railway officials and the examiner are in complete agreement—that the Pullman surcharge must go. Another post-war phenomenon, it is said to have caused more bad feeling toward the railroads than any other tariff policy.

Recommends Rate Cuts.

In a report issued on July 16 Irving L. Koch, examiner for the commission, recommended that the present basic fare of 3.6 cents a mile be replaced by a coach fare of 2 cents and a Pullman fare of 3 cents, without surcharge. This was in accord with recommendations made by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator, as to means for the railways to regain lost passenger trafic.

Among eastern trunk line officials opinion holds for a cut to 3 cents for both classes of service, one way, but with a return rate of 2.5 cents for Pullmans and 2 cents for coaches, with, of course, the Pullman surcharge abolished.

Although they are not disclosing their hands in advance of the hearings on fares to be held by the commission, New York Central and Pennsylvania officials appear to be in agreement on the desirability of such a rate. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, is publicly on record as favoring a revision of this kind.

Object to Spread.

The objection raised by the trunk line officials to Mr. Koch's recommendation is that it would differentiate too greatly between coach and Pullman costs. Although Mr. Koch's proposal would reduce both kinds of fares radically, it would increase the difference or "spread" between the costs of the two classes of travel. How Mr. Koch's recommendation would affect the cost of travel between here and Chicago is shown in the following table:

	Coach.	Pullman.
Proposed rate	18.20	† 33.25

*Coach fare plus $6 lower berth cost and $3 surcharge. †Coach fare plus $6 lower berth cost; no surcharge.

To increase the difference between coach and Pullman travel between here and Chicago from $9 to $15 would affect Pullman travel seriously between those points, in the view of trunk line officials. The effect would be even more drastic on travel between points like New York and Buffalo.

The issue will be dated March 15, 1935, and will mature March 15, 1960. They are callable five years before maturity.

Bids for less than par and accrued interest will not be considered.

MERCHANTS' MEETING TO EXPAND CHICAGO WHOLESALE BUSINESS

A busy two weeks for the Chicago wholesale market was forecast yesterday by observers of the Association of Commerce, who reported that early arrivals for the Interstate Merchants' council convention and style show are making sizable purchases.

The show, sponsored by the Association of Commerce, is being held for two weeks instead of one, as previously, and the possibility is seen that buying may reach new proportions. Advance registrations indicate attendance of more than 15,000 buyers from various parts of the country. Principal interest revolves about women's wear, millinery, textiles, and commodities for the holiday season.

An increase in the number of vacationists buying in Chicago was noted as seasonal purchases ran at a good pace in the retail market during warm weather. The usual summer lull in manufacturing continues, with wages and production showing no change.

CALIFORNIA GAS CONCERN OFFERS $15,000,000 BONDS

An issue of $15,000,000 Southern California Gas company 4 per cent first mortgage and refunding bonds, due 1965, will be placed on the market today at 101½ by a group headed by Blyth & Co., Inc. Others in the group are Dean Witter & Co.; Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc.; the First Boston corporation; Edward D. Smith & Co., Inc., and Hayden, Stone & Co.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used, together with other funds, to redeem $14,816,000 of bonds now outstanding, including $6,170,000 5½ per cent first and refunding mortgage gold bonds, due 1952, and $8,646,000 5 per cent first mortgage and refunding gold bonds, due 1957.

Southern California Gas is a subsidiary of the Pacific Lighting corporation of San Francisco. Upon completion of the present financing the company will have a funded debt of $27,500,000. It is expected that Pacific Lighting and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation, another subsidiary, will do some financing later this year.

General Mills Reports Sharp Rise in Profits

General Mills, Inc., last night reported substantially increased earnings for its seventh fiscal year which ended May 31. Net income was $4,075,251, equal to $4.12 a share on the 665,054 common shares outstanding. This was more than three times requirements on the 223,057 shares of 6 per cent preferred stock. Earnings in the preceding year were $3,710,383, or $3.56, on the common.

"Processing taxes on raw materials during the year amounted to approximately one and two-thirds times the total amount paid out in wages and salaries," President Donald D. Davis told stockholders. The company and its subsidiaries now have a number of actions pending in various United States District courts protesting payment of the tax and attacking constitutionality of the AAA.

Taxes Rise Sharply.

"The amount of federal, state, and local government taxes excluding processing taxes," he added, "approximates $2.58 on every share of common stock held by stockholders." The figure was $2.12 the previous year.

"The increase in cost of our products necessitated by the increasing burden of taxation tends to reduce consumption. Increasingly intensive effort is required to offset such uneconomic and adverse influences." Davis said the present annual cost of preparing tax statements and other reports required by the government is approximately $100,000 and that additional burdens are indicated.

"The policy," he said in relation to employés, "has been and will continue to be one of endeavoring to preserve in each area schedules of hours and wages more favorable to our employés than the hours and wages prevailing for like service in that area.

No Reductions Made.

"No downward adjustments have been made, or are at the present time anticipated, because of elimination of NRA."

Net sales in the last fiscal year amounted to $143,074,459, compared with $118,092,058 the preceding year. Cost of sales rose to $133,229,945 from $113,904,605. Miscellaneous income was $113,658, against $207,512. Provision for federal income tax was $878,530, against $666,793 the previous year.

Continental Oil Earns at Rate of 47c a Share

Continental Oil company and subsidiaries report for the quarter ended June 30 net income of $2,192,888, equivalent to 47 cents a share on the capital stock. This compares with $940,807, or 20 cents a share, in the preceding quarter.

Assail Share Wealth Plan as Recovery Bar

The President's "share the wealth" tax program, on which the senate finance committee will open hearings today, is attacked by the Guaranty Trust company in the current issue of the Guaranty Survey as a hindrance to recovery and based on a misconception of what wealth really is.

"High estate and inheritance taxes tend to dissipate the aggregations of wealth on which industry depends for its capital and on which the government depends for a substantial part of its revenue under the present income tax rates," states the Survey.

To the extent that this dissipation takes place, the effect is to dry up a source of revenue and shift the tax burden to the lower income brackets, where it must inevitably fall in the end in any case.

A heavy tax on wealth may force a liquidation of assets resulting in a change of ownership of physical properties for productive purposes. Such forced changes of ownership may interfere very seriously with the orderly functioning of productive equipment; and in some cases they may even compel a cessation of operations, resulting in unemployment and in a waste of valuable industrial facilities.

Program "Threatens System."

Enactment of the tax program would "threaten the orderly and efficient operation of our present industrialtrial system," the Survey continues. "Quest for profit, the mainspring of enterprise and material progress, would be cut down or destroyed to the extent that the scurity of private property is affected or wiped out.

"Income and estate taxes on very large aggregations of wealth already approach the point of complete confiscation, and a former secretary of the treasury has pointed out that the income tax rates existing in the past have been sufficient to drive capital from productive investments into tax exempt securities and to reduce, rather than increase, the revenues received by the government. How much further the process can go without disastrously weakening the incentive to the profitable investments of capital cannot be conclusively known except by experience. If the attempt is carried too far, the experience will have been gained at a very great cost.

Calls "Share in Wealth" Misnomer.

"The proposal for a graduated income tax on corporations cannot be considered a 'share the wealth' project, inasmuch as the size of a corporation's net income obviously bears no necessary relation to the wealth of its individual shareholders.

"The clear inference seems to be that the intent of the proposal is to place large corporations at a disadvantage in competition with smaller enterprises. If this is the case we regard the recommendation as the least defensible in the entire program. Its adoption would mark a very definite step in economic retrogression.

"If 'size begets monoply,' it is equally true that size usually begets efficiency. When size is found to beget monoply, the monoply can be restrained or regulated. But to abolish or cripple large business units because of this tendency would be not only to sacrifice an important part of the benefits resulting from technical advances made in the past, but seriously to retard further progress."

STEEL OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE LATE IN APRIL

Production Rises 2 Points to 45%.

With another rise of 2 points in steel mill operations last week to 45 per cent of capacity, the highest since the last week of April, producers now look for operations to surpass soon the rate of 54½ per cent, which was the level for early February, says the magazine Steel.

A general expansion in demand now appears to be under way with few consuming industries failing to show some measure of improvement, the journal says. Users are anticipating requirements and are taking larger tonnages. Producers themselves are increasing their stocks of raw steel.

Regional Rates Mixed.

Operations during the week advanced 3 points to 41 per cent at Pittsburgh, 7 to 48 in Cleveland, and 3 to 49 at Youngstown. The rate was off 4 points to 32 per cent in New England and other centers were unchanged.

During the week, tin plate output advanced 10 points to 90 per cent. Galvanized sheet production, on farm and construction requirements, rose to 60 per cent, but full finished sheets, used largely by the automobile industry, declined 5 points to 40 per cent, the review states.

Industrial and commercial building construction is increasing, the journal says. The 21,000 tons of structural shape awards for this purpose in July represent 35 per cent of the total, whereas the proportion in prior months this year was 22 per cent. Total awards last week declined to 5,600 tons. The works relief program has not yet developed any important inquiries.

Fabricated Prices Firming.

Fabricated structural steel prices are firming up, now that fabricators are filing all bids with the American Institute of Steel Construction. On the other hand, since reinforcing bar fabricators relinquished their code prices, $1.50 to $2.50 under the market has been reported bid on government work.

Scrap prices reflected the buoyant feeling in the market by rising another 50 cents to $1 a ton last week. The magazine's scrap composite advanced 62 cents to $11.25 a ton, the sharpest rise this year. Due to the advance in scrap, the iron and steel price composite increased 12 cents to $32.55 a ton, while the finished steel index remains at $54 a ton.

Car Builders Buying.

Last week car builders closed on practically all the 50,000 tons of steel for 5,125 Chesapeake and Ohio freight cars, says the review, and for more than 6,000 tons to be used on 500 New York subway cars. The Norfolk Southern awarded 500 all-steel box cars, and Argentine state railways are inquiring for 1,000 box cars, requiring 12,000 tons of steel. The Missouri-Pacific has purchased 10,000 tons of rails.

Shell Union Oil Reports Profit; Had Loss in 1934

Shell Union Oil corporation and subsidiaries report for the quarter ended June 30 net profit of $1,649,775, against net loss of $897,591 in the June quarter last year.

PACKERS' STAND ON PROCESSING TAX IS AWAITED

Aug. 1 Remittance Date May Bring Action.

Approach of the Aug. 1 remittance date for the next instalment of processing taxes is causing conjecture as to the stand that the big Chicago packing companies are likely to take. So far the big Chicago packing companies have let the little concerns in the industry carry on the legal fight against the processing levy which amounts to between $2[illegible] and $300,000 weekly on the hogs slaughtered in Chicago. A score or more companies outside of Chicago have brought suits attacking the tax and in a number of cases have won injunctions holding up collections.

Explanation of the reluctance of the Chicago packers to bring action against the government rests on several factors. The department of internal revenue has given the packers a good deal of leeway in making payments and so far there has been little to gain by taking the question to the courts.

Behind in Payments.

All the Chicago packing companies are understood to be behind in their payments. As long as the government has not pressed for full and immediate payment of the tax the packers have felt that they could afford to avoid a legal attack on the levy. In effect there appears to be an armistice between government and the packers.

The AAA on the one hand does not want to invite any more suits than have already been started and the packers are willing to keep free of legal complications as long as they can do so without sacrifice. If they were successful in obtaining an injunction against collection of the tax, it would probably mean that they would hav to put the money in escrow pending final settlement of the issue. This would mean paying out more money than they are now doing, it is said.

May Go to Courts.

If the government should decline to grant packers further extensions Aug. 1 on the amounts due, it is likely that some of the Chicago companies will take the matter to the courts. So far there has been no intimation as to what course the government will take. It is argued by some that extensions will be granted in order to stave off further attacks on the AAA.

Up to the end of last April the internal revenue office reported total collections in hog processing taxes of 244 millions. This represents a tax on approximately 50 million hogs. It is estimated, however, that another 70 million hogs were slaughtered after the tax went into effect on which no tax was paid. This figure does not include hogs slaughtered on farms which are exempt from the levy.

Jefferson Electric.

Investors' Guide: I shall appreciate a statement and your rating of Jefferson Electric.—P. V. A.

Answer: Jefferson Electric company manufactures fuses, conduit and outlet boxes, transformers and electrical protective devices in a modern plant at Bellwood, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

The company operated profitably for the four years through 1931. A loss was sustained in 1932, but the company for the following two years was again in the black. Profit for 1934 was the best since 1929.

Net income in 1934 was $304,000, or $2.54 a share, against $120,000, or $1 a share, for 1933. Net loss in 1932 was $226,000, in comparison with profits of $239,000 for 1931 and $250,000 for 1930.

At the close of 1934 cash assets of about $400,000 compared with current liabilities of $172,000. Working capital was $981.00, against $810,000 the year before.

Capitalization consists of 119,800 shares of no par capital stock. The stock is not on a regular dividend basis. A distribution of 50 cents a share was made on April 1, 1935. Payments in 1934 totaled $1.50 a share. Nothing was paid in 1933 or 1932.

The stock is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

London Concern Drives for Illinois Business.

American insurance companies in Illinois are feeling the increasing competition of Lloyd's of London as much as they are in New York and other parts of the east, according to Chicago insurance men. This increased competition is attributed to the fact that there are now about twice as many underwriters connected with Lloyd's in England as there were before the war, and this group, hungry for business, is making an aggressive campaign to capture it.

Had the Illinois insurance code, sponsored by Ernest Palmer, state insurance superintendent, been passed at the last session of the legislature it is said the activities of Lloyd's would have been curbed considerably.

Code to Be Considered Again.

The code is to be taken up again at a special session of the legislature which is expected to be held in September.

London Lloyd's in the past has written a large proportion of bankers' and brokers' blanket bonds in this state. These bonds provide protection for a variety of contingencies, including dishonesty, fidelity, burglary, etc., and provide a very desirable business from the point of view of the surety companies.

In many of the states because of laws Lloyd's has been unable to get this business and so has branched out into other lines in order to secure a foothold.

Lloyd's Seeks Other Business.

Recently, it is stated, Lloyd's has been increasing its efforts in this state to capture burglary insurance and workmen's compensation business. Further, it has been endeavoring to provide surety for public officials and is recently reported to have placed such coverage on the treasurer of a downstate county.

A number of American agents has taken on the Lloyd's line in recent years, supplementing the long established agents handling the English group's business.

STUDEBAKER CO. HAS LOSS SINCE REORGANIZATION

The reorganized Studebaker corporation, which took over the business of the predecessor concern last March, yesterday issued its first earnings report. For the period from March 9 to June 30 the company reported a net loss of $87,837 after provision for depreciation, interest, and other charges of $411,364.

The company's June 30 balance sheet indicates a net worth of $18,151,441. Current assets are carried at $18,151,441, including cash of $6,746,298, as compared with current liabilities of $4,926,070, a ratio of 2.9 to 1. The balance sheet carried property, plant and equipment, less depreciation, at $14,121,388.

The corporation has only one class of stock of which there are 2,136,735 shares outstanding.

FOUR OF 10 BANKS MAKE PAYMENTS TO DEPOSITORS

Closed Institutions Report on Condition.

Further repayments to depositors were made during the last quarter by four of the ten banks for which State Auditor Edward J. Barrett last night issued statements of condition as of June 30. These are First Englewood State, First Italian State, Forest Park Trust and Savings and Glencoe State.

Three others are almost ready to make further returns, it was learned. The First State of Barrington is expected to pay another 10 to 20 per cent and the First State of Steger 5 to 10 per cent before Sept. 30. The Fuller-ton State expects to pay 5 per cent soon thereafter. Repayments to date range from 5 to 50 per cent in this group of banks.

Detail Individual Status.

The following individual reports contain latest information on progress of liquidation and best estimates of prospects for future returns. Figures used cover the entire period of receivership unless otherwise stated.

EXCHANGE STATE—Receipts, $372,000—almost nothing in last six months. Paid $72,000 prior claims and $159,000 or 35 per cent to depositors. Not more than another 5 or possibly 10 per cent dividend can be expected, since most remaining assets are considered practically worthless. Costs include $34,000 to protect assets. $330,000 clerical, $39,000 attorneys, $11,000 receivers.

FIRST ENGLEWOOD STATE—Receipts, $857,000—$62,500 last quarter. Paid $369,000 prior claims and $287,600 or 50 per cent on deposits [10 per cent last quarter]. After $140,000 balance is paid on RFC loan still further substantial repayments are seen; have repaid RFC $38,600 [$12,500 last quarter]. Costs include $62,000 to protect assets [$15,500 last quarter], $9,400 interest, $34,400 clerical, $22,000 legal, $4,500 receivers.

FIRST ITALIAN STATE—Receipts, $723,000—$5,000 last quarter. Paid $378,300 prior claims and $212,200 or 25 per cent of deposits [10 per cent last quarter through help of RFC loan]. Possibly another 25 per cent eventually, depending on paying $30,400 due RFC. Losses low to date. Costs include $36,000 to protect assets, $42,000 clerical, $35,400 legal, $7,600 receivers. Cash, $9,000.

First State of Barrington.

FIRST STATE OF BARRINGTON—Receipts $238,000—$17,000 last quarter. Paid $128,600 prior claims and $28,000 or 10 per cent to depositors [5 per cent last quarter]. RFC has approved loan which is expected to yield 10 to 20 per cent more before Sept. 30. Still more indicated later, after RFC is repaid. Costs include $38,000 to protect assets, $18,000 clerical, $8,800 legal, $3,200 receivers, $3,100 interest. Cash, $9,900.

FIRST STATE OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS—Receipts $541,000—$8,000 last quarter. Paid $270,000 prior claims and $117,000 or 15 per cent to depositors. Liquidation slow and no immediate prospect for returns, but another 15 per cent or more is seen eventually. Cash now $10,400. Costs include $62,000 to protect assets, $35,000 clerical, $16,800 legal.

FIRST STATE OF STEGER—Receipts $45,200. Paid $17,250 prior claims and $4,800 or 5 per cent on deposits. Nearly enough cash for another 5 per cent dividend now and hope to pay 5 to 10 per cent this quarter. Only further small final payout indicated, depending on real estate and costs, which include $9,300 clerical expense.

See Final Return of 50%.

FOREST PARK TRUST AND SAVINGS—Receipts, $635,000—$23,000 last quarter. Paid $290,000 prior claims [$28,000 last quarter] and $190,000 or 15 per cent to depositors [5 per cent last quarter]. Cash now $19,000. While no further payment is seen for a while, indications point to a final return of up to 50 per cent. Costs include $68,000 to protect assets, $42,000 clerical, and $17,000 legal.

FULLERTON STATE—Receipts $744,500—$23,000 last quarter. Paid $220,400 prior claims [$8,000 last quarter] and $276,000 or 20 per cent of deposits. Has $46,000 free cash and hope to have $70,000 for 5 per cent this fall. Still some live assets, with 40 or 50 per cent final payout likely in end. Costs include $69,000 to protect assets [$4,000 last quarter], $41,000 clerical, $70,600 attorneys, $9,300 receivers.

GARFIELD STATE—Receipts $3,428,500—$39,000 last quarter. Paid $1,015,600 prior claims and $1,641,700 or 40 per cent to depositors. Before more gone to depositors $208,000 must be paid on RFC loan; have paid $79,000 [$14,500 last quarter, plus $3,000 interest]. Fairly substantial returns indicated eventually. Advanced $359,500 [$3,500 last quarter] to protect assets with $249,000 returned. Costs include $161,700 clerical [$8,000 last quarter], $115,400 attorneys, and $29,000 receiver.

Glencoe State Reports.

GLENCOE STATE—Receipts $467,000—$25,000 last quarter. Paid $62,000 prior claims and $292,600 or 45 per cent of deposits [5 per cent last quarter]. Some fair further payments expected, though $138,600 loss to date in liquidation is heavy. Costs $44,300 to protect assets, $25,300 clerical, $19,700 attorneys, and $10,000 receiver.

William L. O'Connell now is in charge of all by the Garfield and Glencoe banks, where the respective receivers are John E. Sullivan and Chicago Title and Trust company.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS } ss.
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES for the Northern District of Illinois Eastern Division
In the Matter of LA SALLE-MAPLE TRUST, a corporation under the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act, Debtor. } No. 60604

NOTICE

To Creditors and Holders of Certificates of Beneficial Interest of LA SALLE-MAPLE TRUST:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on motion and petition of La Salle-Maple Trust, for the entry of an order providing for the submission of its plan of reorganization to its creditors and holders of certificates of beneficial interest, and for the entry of appropriate orders for the classification of creditors and holders of certificates of beneficial interest, the giving of notice, the time and manner of filing claims and the holding of a hearing for the confirmation of said plan of reorganization, and for other relief, the court on July 12, 1935, entered an order in the above cause finding, among other things, that the plan of reorganization submitted by the debtor is fair and equitable on its face, and does not discriminate unfairly in favor of any class of creditors or holders of certificates of beneficial interest; that it is feasible and complies with the provisions of Section 77B of the act entitled "An Act to Establish a Uniform System of Bankruptcy throughout the United States" approved July 1, 1898, and acts amendatory thereof; the court, however, reserving final judgment thereon until the hearing of any objections which may hereafter be filed to said plan of reorganization.

By its said order the court further decreed:

[1] That for the purpose of any plan of reorganization that may be presented in this proceeding and acceptance thereof, the creditors and holders of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor are hereby divided into the following classes, according to the nature of their respective claims and interests:

CLASS A:
Claims which under the law are preferred and are entitled to priority in payment over the existing mortgage and over other claims against the debtor; said claims are not affected by the plan of reorganization.

CLASS B:
Holders of unsubordinated first mortgage 6% bonds secured by the first mortgage trust deed from the debtor to the First National Bank of Chicago, as successor trustee, dated June 1, 1929; there being unsubordinated bonds aggregating the principal amount of $644,000.00 presently outstanding secured by said trust deed.

CLASS C:
Holders of subordinated first mortgage 6% bonds secured by the first mortgage trust deed from the debtor to the First National Bank of Chicago, as successor trustee, dated June 1, 1929; there being subordinated bonds aggregating the principal amount of $60,000.00 present outstanding secured by said trust deed.

CLASS D:

CLASS E:
Unsecured creditors of the debtor whose claims have arisen from current operation of the property of the debtor. Said claims are not affected by this plan of reorganization. The order of the District Court confirming this plan of reorganization shall determine that claims of Class E creditors are not affected by this plan of reorganization; that said claims shall be paid in the usual course of business; that it shall not be necessary to obtain consents of Class E creditors.

The claims of all other creditors of the Debtor, including the claims of the Class E creditors as above described are not in any way affected by said Plan of reorganization, and the consent to or acceptance of said Plan of Reorganization by all such other creditors is not required for the confirmation of the plan.

[2] That all claims of persons classified above under Classes A, B, and C, and the claims of holders of certificates of beneficial interest shall be evidenced in the manner hereinafter provided on or before August 8, 1935, and unless so filed or evidenced on or before said date no such claim may participate in any plan of reorganization of the debtor except as may be hereafter provided by the court.

[3] That the claims of creditors above classified as Classes A, B, and C, and the claims of holders of certificates of beneficial interest shall be evidenced within the time hereinabove provided in the following manner:

[a] The claims of Classes A, B, and C creditors shall be evidenced by filing with Charles A. McDonald, Special Master of this Court at 100 N. La Salle St., Chicago, Illinois, to whom this cause was specially referred, a written proof of claim duly verified by such claimant [or by his, her or its duly authorized agent] on the form prepared by the debtor and heretofore approved by the court for each such class respectively. Bonds and interest coupons evidencing the claims of Class B and Class C creditors, unless lost or destroyed, shall accompany such proof of claim and shall be deposited with the Special Master above named who was designated to act as depositary of the court. If the bonds or interest coupons are lost or destroyed a statement of such fact and the circumstances of such loss or destruction shall be filed under oath with the proof of claim.

[b] The interests of each holder of certificates of beneficial interest shall be evidenced by a certificate of an officer of the corporation indicating the names of the holders of certificates of beneficial interest and the number of units held by each respective holder of certificates of beneficial interest. Each holder of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor may file an individual claim should he so desire, said claim to be filed with the Special Master above named.

[4] That all claims and interests of creditors and holders of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor, duly filed or evidenced within the time and in the manner hereinabove specified, shall in due course be allowed by the court or by the Special Master to whom this cause was specially referred, without taking further proofs thereof, unless the court shall otherwise determine, or unless the debtor or other parties in interest shall file with said Special Master to whom this cause was specially referred, within the time and in the manner fixed by the court, written objections to such allowance, in which event the claims or interests to which objections shall be made, shall be proved before the court or before the Special Master, as the court may from time to time hereafter order or direct.

[5] That the creditors or holders of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor may approve and accept the plan of reorganization by filing written acceptances with the Special Master to whom this cause was referred, executed in person or by a duly authorized agent or attorney, on or before August 8, 1935.

[6] That the creditors or holders of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor desirous of objecting to the plan of reorganization must file written objections thereto with the Special Master on or before August 8, 1935.

[7] That any creditor or holder of certificates of beneficial interest of the debtor may apply to the court at any time prior to July 30th, 1935, upon notice to counsel of record in this proceeding, for a modification of the determination of the classification of creditors and holders of certificates of beneficial interest and of the time within which and the manner in which their respective claims may be filed.

[8] That this proceeding stand continued until August 12, 1935, at 10:00 o'clock, A. M., Daylight Saving Time, before the Honorable Philip L. Sullivan, at which time [or any adjournment thereof] the court, or any other judge sitting in his place and stead, shall consider the petition of the debtor to make permanent the order permitting it to remain in possession of its properties and also any petition for confirmation and aproval of the plan of reorganization [including the payment of the fees and expenses of this proceeding and the allowance of fees herein] and any objections filed to said plan.

NOTICE.

TO ALL CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS OF CENTRAL WEST PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY:

NOTICE is hereby given that the District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware, on the Third day of July, A. D. 1935, entered an order in the above-captioned cause, directing all creditors of Central West Public Service Company to file proofs of claim and all stockholders of Central West Public Service Company to file proofs of interest, on or before the First day of September, A. D. 1935, with the undersigned, as Special Master, at his office at 310-312 Citizens Bank Building, in the City of Wilmington, State of Delaware.

The aforesaid order authorizes and permits The First National Bank of Chicago (successor by consolidation to First Trust and Savings Bank) and John C. Mechem, as Trustees under the First Lien Collateral Indenture of the Debtor dated November 1, 1926, and each and every supplemental or confirmatory deed of trust or indenture given or executed by the Debtor as security for its First Lien Collateral 5½% Gold Bonds, Series A and B, due November 1, 1956, and the First Lien Collateral 5% Gold Bonds, Series C, due December 15, 1933, and under which said bonds were issued; Central Republic Trust Company (successor to Central Trust Company of Illinois) as Trustee under the Trust Indenture of the Debtor dated November 1, 1926, under which the Ten-Year Convertible 6% Debentures due November 1, 1936, of the Debtor were issued, and Central Republic Trust Company (successor to Central Republic Bank and Trust Company) as Trustee under the Trust Indenture of the Debtor dated August 1, 1932, under which the Three-Year 7% Gold Notes due August 1, 1935, of the Debtor were issued; or each respectively, to file with the undersigned proofs of claim on behalf of all holders of the aforementioned bonds, debentures, notes and interest coupons appertaining thereto.

Under said order Peirce C. Ward, W. C. Freeman, J. B. Gallagher, Max McGraw and Edwin M. Stark, as the Reorganization Committee of the Debtor, and individual holders of bonds, notes, debentures or coupons are permitted to file proofs of claim. In the event that The First National Bank of Chicago and John C. Mechem, and Central Republic Trust Company, as Trustees as above mentioned, file proofs of claim on behalf of all bondholders, debentureholders and noteholders, as the order authorizes them to do, the claims represented by bonds, debentures, notes, and interest coupons appertaining thereto held by individual holders thereof will be protected without the Reorganization Committee or the individual holders filing proofs of claim therefor.

The aforesaid order directs E. Ennalls Berl and Arthur B. Darling, as Trustees of Central West Public Service Company, to file a proof of interest on behalf of all the stockholders of said company. It also permits the Reorganization Committee and individual stockholders to file proofs of interest. When and as said E. Ennalls Berl and Arthur B. Darling, as Trustees, shall file a proof of interest on behalf of all stockholders, the interests represented by the stock held by individual stockholders will be protected without the Reorganization Committee or the individual holders filing proofs of interest therefor.

All proofs of claim of creditors and proofs of interest of stockholders filed individually shall be filed in substantially the form of the proof of claim prescribed by Section 57 of the Bankruptcy Act and the rules and orders applicable thereto, except that the proofs of claim or interest based on an instrument of writing may have attached thereto a duly certified copy of such instrument in lieu of the original.

Proofs of claim or interest not filed with the undersigned on or before the First day of September, A. D. 1935, shall not be allowed to participate in any Plan of Reorganization, except on order of the Court for cause shown.

Exceptions to any proofs of claim of creditors or proofs of interest of stockholders may be filed by E. Ennalls Berl and Arthur B. Darling, as Trustees of Central West Public Service Company, by Central West Public Service Company, or by any creditor or stockholder thereof, with the undersigned, on or before the First day of October, A. D. 1935. Any exception so filed shall be in writing.

All claims of creditors and interests of stockholders of the Debtor which are filed with the undersigned in accordance with the provisions of said order, unless excepted to by the Trustee of the Debtor, the Debtor, or by a creditor or stockholder thereof, shall be deemed to have been duly proved and shall be allowed by the undersigned without further proof.

The aforesaid order directs the undersigned, as Special Master, to take testimony and report his findings, conclusions and recommendations to the Court upon:

(a) The claims of creditors and interests of stockholders of the Debtor to be allowed. Said order divides the creditors and stockholders of Central West Public Service Company into classes as provided by Sec. 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, and directs the undersigned to list the creditors and stockholders in the various classes and recommend to the Court any additional classification necessary.

(b) The value, if any, of the interests of the holders of the Class A no par value stock; and

(c) The value, if any, of the interests of the holders of the Class B no par value stock.

The undersigned has fixed the Twenty-first day of October, A. D. 1935, at 11 o'clock A. M., Eastern Standard Time, at his office, 310-12 Citizens Bank Building, City of Wilmington, State of Delaware, for the commencement of hearings upon the matters so referred to him, said hearings to be continued and adjourned from time to time.

NOTICE.

TO THE PRESENT HOLDERS OF BONDS AND/OR COUPONS HERETOFORE SOLD OR UNDERWRITTEN BY THE STRAUS BROTHERS COMPANY AND/OR STRAUS BROTHERS INVESTMENT COMPANY AND TO THE PERSONS, FIRMS AND CORPORATIONS WHOSE DEPOSITS, HERETOFORE MADE BY THEM WITH SAID THE STRAUS BROTHERS COMPANY AND/OR STRAUS BROTHERS INVESTMENT COMPANY AS DEPOSITARY IN THEIR SO-CALLED INTEREST AND AMORTIZATION TRUST FUNDS ACCOUNTS, STILL REMAIN UNEXPENDED, AND TO ALL OTHERS WHO MAY BE INTERESTED THEREIN:

You and each of you are hereby notified that on July 16, 1935, a petition was filed by Herman S. Strauss, as Trustee, in the above entitled cause, praying among other things for the Court's approval of a compromise with the undersigned Receiver appointed in said cause, of the controversy therein pending over the so-called interest and amortization trust fund deposits, moneys and securities held by Straus Brothers Investment Company at the time of the appointment of said Receiver on June 6, 1931, and since that time held and administered by said Receiver, which are claimed by said Herman S. Strauss, Trustee, and by other trustees in their amended intervening petition filed in said cause on or about June 16, 1933, which compromise, in substance, provides as follows:

[a] That from the cash in the possession of said Chicago Title and Trust Company, as Receiver, and in said Interest and Amortization Accounts, there shall be deducted a sum sufficient wherewith to pay: [1] 5% of all general claims heretofore filed and allowed in this cause, except the claim of the owners and holders of Straus Brothers Investment Company junior mortgage certificates; [2] 1% of the $442,000.00 claim filed by the Old First National Bank and Trust Company, as Trustee, for and in behalf of the said owners and holders of Straus Brothers Investment Company junior mortgage certificates; [3] The sum of $30,000.00 as the balance of fees to the Receiver and its attorneys herein for their respective services rendered the receivership estate herein, and [4] the total of miscellaneous charges and expenses of the Receiver in the administration of the estate herein, less the amount of cash in said general receivership estate.

[b] That the amount of cash remaining in said interest and amortization account after the deductions aforementioned, and the interest and amortization securities and the undisposed of securities in the possession of said Receiver as a part of the general estate in this cause shall be turned over and delivered to Robert L. Pearce, Dwight H. Green and Jacob Levin, as liquidating trustees under and pursuant to the terms and provisions of the liquidating trust agreement, a copy of which is attached to said Herman S. Strauss' petition marked Exhibit "A" and made a part thereof.

Said trust agreement further provides that said liquidating trustees shall liquidate said securities and distribute the cash from time to time in possession of said liquidating trustees to the owners and holders of bonds and coupons of bond issues underwritten or sold by said Straus Brothers Investment Company and said The Straus Brothers Company, for whose benefit such deposits were originally made, that all unexpended deposits made for income tax liability, property taxes, property assessments and for other purposes, other than for interest coupons, shall be deemed and treated as money deposited on account of next maturing bond principal and that unless, by order of said Court on the hearing of said Herman S. Strauss petition, other provision be made by the Court as to the deposits made for any of said special purposes other than for bond and coupon principal and interest, and that the term of said trust agreement shall continue for a period of five years.

Said trust agreement further provides that said bonds and coupons entitled to receive any such distribution by the liquidating trustees shall be presented to the depositary, Metropolitan Trust Company, of Chicago, Illinois, making such distribution, before such payment is made, unless by order of said Court on the hearing of said Herman S. Strauss petition, the Court direct that each claimant shall file with said depositary, or with said Liquidating Trustees, a proof of his claim within a time to be limited by said Court order and to which proof of claim shall be attached the bond, coupon or other evidence of such claim.

Said order of Court provides that any and all objections to the prayers of said petition of Herman S. Strauss, as Trustee, must be filed in writing in the above entitled cause in said Court on or before September 23, 1935, and that said petition and any and all objections thereto will be heard, considered and determined by the Honorable Charles E. Woodward, Judge of said Court, in his Court Room in the Federal Building in Chicago, Illinois, on September 25, 1935, at ten o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as the Court may be able to do so.
